DRY UPROAR RENDS CONGRESS

Today

Happy Birthday.
To Have Thin Ankles.
No Drink in Boys' Schools.
Germany's New Boat.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE

TODAY is prohibition's tenth birthday. Congressman Beck (Republican), from Pennsylvania, formerly solicitor general, says the prohibition law can't be enforced "because it is contrary to human nature."

PROHIBITIONISTS reply that the same thing would have been said when the human race was trying to free itself from cannibalism; and when the attempt was first made to close up the wide-open red-light districts. Nevertheless, cannibalism went; and red-light districts have at least put out their red lights.

IN ACCORDANCE with President Hoover's views, Congressman Williamson seeks to shift the enforcement of prohibition from the Treasury to the Department of Justice.

That is common sense. When beer, whisky and gin meant a great revenue for the government, it was the business of the Treasury to collect the money and prevent moonshining.

NOW that beer and whisky have been pushed into the criminal code and become the foundation of the great crime wave, whisky crimes, like other crimes, should be handled by the Department of Justice.

DR. OLGA STASTNY, of Omaha, "official physician to America's organized business women," says working girls should learn to "loaf like a man." Women, to be successful, must learn to sit as men do, with their heels on a desk higher than their heads, and relax.

MANY men, including probably John D. Rockefeller and Herbert Hoover, have succeeded without putting their heels higher than their heads during business hours. And a considerable number of "heels-higher-than-heads" young gentlemen are far from success.

THE learned Dr. Stastny says that putting their heels on the desk will "change girls' thick ankles into thin ankles." Girls will pay attention to that.

THIS, however, is no "flat contradiction" of anything that Dr. Olga Stastny may say. She is an admirable woman, 6 feet tall, "remarkable in strength and intelligence, and did wonders just after the war taking care of 10,000 Armenian refugees."

She probably never put her heels on a desk in her life. She is too busy.

REFERRING to increase of drunkenness among young people, it was mentioned here that head masters of big preparatory schools, Groton, St. Marks, Lawrenceville, Choate and many others, could give information as to the youthful drinking.

In those preparatory schools well managed, in the hands of competent masters, there is, needless to say, no drinking by the boys. It would not be tolerated for a moment. Any boy found with liquor in his possession would be instantly dismissed. And the honor system among boys prevents drinking or any dealing with bootleggers, regardless of regulations.

But when those boys go home for vacation, they see what happens in the homes and at young people's parties. They know what the older brothers and sisters do. And they tell the headmasters.

GERMANY puts the new powerful cruiser Koeln in commission, a cruiser more powerful than any of those we are planning to build.

The Koeln, 6,000 tons, carries among other weapons, nine six-inch guns, and torpedo tubes. Electric welding takes the place of riveting, which will interest American steel engineers. Welding reduces weight.

The six-inch guns fire in groups of three, six to eight salvos a minute, effective at 20,000 yards. Germany does not intend to stay down.

MACDONALD advocates "ultimate complete abolition of battleships." Wise MacDonald.

Why pay fifty million dollars, as we do in this country, to build an expensive, entirely useless target for a bombing airplane?

WHEN the automobile came in, some foolishly bought, at low prices, second-hand, nice rubber-tired broughams, etc.

Our government, more foolish, buys brand new steel battleships, although their usefulness died long ago.

ANOTHER cut in the cost of travel by air. The Trans-Continental Air Transport, on its "air-rail-water" trip "around the Americas," cuts $100 off the price of a 16-day tour.

Air transportation is settling down to a business basis.

Miss Gray, the dancer whose divorce from Gil Boag, cabaret impresario, became a final decree today at Port Washington, Wis.

PARLEY SOUGHT IN TAXI STRIKE

Mediators were active today in an effort to bring about a second conference of striking taxicab drivers and their employers looking to a settlement of the strike, now in its fifth day.

Paul Toole, chairman of the committee representing the 1,400 striking drivers, said he would "not be surprised" if a meeting was arranged late today. The first conference Monday resulted in a deadlock.

TAXICABS IDLE

None of the 20 cabs which the Yellow Cab Company claimed to have in operation yesterday were to be seen in the streets today.

Both the national and state governments are represented in the peace moves. L. G. Hines and William Broad, of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor, were in Pittsburgh seeking to adjust the differences.

Miss Emmilline Pitt, conciliator for the United States Department of Labor, was hopeful of bringing together the two factions on the demands of the strikers for bigger salaries.

Strike sympathizers today continued to harass the new drivers. Two cab employes en route to

Warfield Recovering From an Operation

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—That David Warfield, the actor, was operated upon three weeks ago was disclosed today with announcement that he was out of danger. The nature of the operation was not divulged at his home in Central Park west. Mr. Warfield, rated as one of the wealthiest of actors, has been in retirement.

Navy Lets Contract For 36 Airplanes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Contracts for 36 airplanes to cost $856,812, were let today to the Chance Voight Corporation, of Long Island, by the Navy Department. The new planes are of the Corsair type, two-seated and capable of being converted from sea to land planes.

Blonde Becomes Hysterical, 'Faints' in Cell After She Balks Police in Grilling

The captor and jailer of Irene Schroeder, Benwood (W. Va.) blonde, and her two male companions accused of slaying Corp. Brady Paul, of the Highway patrol, by telephone to the Sun-telegraph, tells more of the strangest gang of bandits he ever rounded up. His first telephone interview appeared yesterday.

By CHARLES H. WRIGHT,
Sheriff of Maricopa Co., Arizona.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 16.—Irene Schroeder's mother instinct is beginning to show.

In apparently semi-conscious spells, reported by three other women in the cell in which she is still chained, she has repeatedly called for her son Donnie.

At another time, evidently under the hallucination that she was fleeing with her two male accomplices, she cried out: "I'll kill you both and return to my baby!"

She wept when a reporter showed her a newspaper photograph of her boy.

She has apparently fainted once or twice when

DONNIE DENIED ARREST NEWS

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 16.—Little Donnie Schroeder, 4-year-old son of Irene Schroeder, "trigger woman," who was captured in Arizona after a gun battle with an armed posse, still plays in his quarters here, unaware that his mother is being held in a Western jail.

Lawrence County officials are trying to keep the news from the lad, as they feel he is too young to be told his mother is a "trigger woman" and that she has reached the end of her hectic career. Police and friends of county officials who visited the boy here yesterday were told not to mention the mother's arrest.

The boy paid little attention to the questions when he was asked if he would be glad to see his mother. A coin bank he possesses is gradually being filled by the nickels and dimes given to him by those who are caring for him.

WORKS ON EXTRADITION

Prosecutor John S. Powers, today was busy with the work of arranging extradition of Mrs. Schroeder, Glenn Dague and possibly Joe Wells, said to be an Oklahoma desparato, who is thought to be Tom Crawford, brother of the Schroeder woman.

H. Martin Lee, a county detective was to go to Harrisburg today to obtain the signature of Gov. John S. Fisher on the extradition papers for Mrs. Schroeder and Dague. The charge against the pair is murder. It is likely that papers will be prepared for the return of the third prisoner, pro-

EIELSON, AID REPORTED IN SIBERIA

Search Organized by Soviet After Radio Declares Two American Fliers Sighted

MOSCOW, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—A report that Carl Ben Eielson and his mechanic, Earl Borland, were near the River Anguemy, Siberia, was received by the Soviet government today. Although it was not confirmed, the Soviet authorities ordered a dog sled expedition to the place.

Instructions also were given to the Soviet fliers Gladyshey and Slepney to join in the search by airplane. Another searching party will be dispatched from Cape Wellen.

The Soviet Arctic commission in Moscow, which has been in charge of the Russian efforts to find the fliers, was notified today that its radio station at Anadyr, Siberia, had received a report on January 14 that Eielson and Borland had landed near the River Anguemy. The radio operator said he had received a letter dated December 30 from Cape Wellen, reporting the missing airmen.

Eielson and Borland, who have been missing since November 9, in the Arctic, have been the center of a long search by American and Canadian airmen. Within recent wekes the Soviet government took up the search particularly in view of the possibility that the two fliers who were on an air trip to reach the fur trading ship Manuk, ice-bound at North Cape, Siberia, might have been forced down somewhere along the Siberian coast.

ACQUIT DRIVER OF DEATH CAR

Harry R. Bain, stationary engineer at the city water plant at Aspinwall, was freed today of a charge of involuntary manslaughter after trial in Criminal Court. Bain's car struck and fatally injured Eugene Slater, 47, of 246 North Dithridge street, when Slater alighted from a street car at Highland avenue and Hampton street August 20, it was testified. Testimony brought out that Slater alighted before the trolley had come to a stop, and that Bain was driving slowly.

Reppert Nominated By Road Builders

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 16.—Charles M. Reppert, chief engineer of the Pittsburgh Department of Public Works, was one of those nominated for vice-president of the American Road Builders Association here today. The officers of the organization will be installed at a conference to be held in Washington in May.

On This Tenth Anniversary of Prohibition the Results of the Policy Should Be Considered

Today is the tenth anniversary of our national prohibition policy and this is an opportune time for the American people to consider carefully—even prayerfully—what the effect of that policy has been upon the life of the nation.

There is no use discussing the prohibition question either with fanatical wets or fanatical drys. Extremists on either side are inaccessible to argument or to the logic of the situation.

But the vast majority of our people are not extremists of any kind. They are moderate, sensible, conservative people, not fanatically committed to any particular plan, but anxious to accomplish beneficial results in whatever appears to be the best and most effective manner.

Therefore, while extreme wets and extreme drys are in the heat of violent argument and still more violent action, it behooves the moderate majority of our people to consider the prohibition situation calmly and decide whether prohibition is operating for the benefit of our people and our country, and whether it is actually accomplishing the results which were desired and hoped for when it was put into operation.

The Hearst papers have been active crusaders for temperance for 40 years.

The sincerity and effectiveness of their sustained temperance campaign were amply established by the use made of their editorials and articles and cartoons by the various churches and temperance organizations throughout the country for many years.

To be sure, the policy of the Hearst papers was never prohibition, but rather education.

We believed that the American people could be persuaded into abandoning the excessive use of alcohol better than they could be forced into abandoning it.

Our policy was to eliminate the saloons and to substitute for hard liquors the certainly less injurious beverages, light wines and beers.

We thought we had scriptural authority for our attitude, in that Christ, on a festal occasion, had turned water into wine; but never, to the extent of our biblical knowledge, had he ever turned water into whisky or brandy or rum or gin.

Therefore, according to our belief and our interpretation of the Bible, Christ had thought wine a harmless beverage, but had never indicated any approval of strong liquors.

But there were other than biblical reasons for the Hearst papers advocating light wines and beers and opposing any stronger drink.

The Hearst papers believed that the abolition of the saloon and of hard liquor and the tolerance of light wines and beers was the best program for the promotion of temperance; because under this program comparatively harmless light wines and beers would be substituted for the hard liquor, which had been the curse of the country.

Furthermore, the Hearst papers feared, and repeatedly expressed the fear, that prohibition would have just the opposite effect, and would substitute highly injurious hard liquors for comparatively harmless light wines and beers.

The reason for this opinion on the part of the Hearst papers was, first, that this had been the effect in states where prohibition already prevailed; and second, because it was a perfectly obvious and natural result, due to the physical fact that hard liquors are easy to make illicitly, and easy to transport and deal in illicitly, on account of their concentrated character, while light wines and beers, on account of their highly diluted character and consequent bulk, were difficult to transport or illictily dispose of.

When the policy of prohibition was adopted, however, the Hearst papers deemed it their duty to see that the experiment had a fair trial.

But, after 10 years' trial, the Hearst papers deem it equally their duty to analyze the situation impartially, and to find out definitely whether prohibition has been a success from the temperance point of view of its sponsors, or whether it has actually operated—as the Hearst papers feared it might operate—as an obstacle, rather than an aid, to true temperance.

In studying the situation, we must necessarily consider, not only the experience of this country, but the experience of other countries which have tried prohibition.

And the first thing we find is that every country which has ever tried prohibition has finally abandoned it, because it did not accomplish its object.

The question, then, narrows down to whether or not this is the one country which has had a different experience from all other countries?

Statistics—that is to say, recorded facts—would seem to indicate that the experience of this country is not different from that of other countries.

Recorded facts seem clearly to indicate that there is more drunkenness and worse drunkenness after the 10-year experiment with prohibition than there was before prohibition.

And if the speakeasy may be considered a saloon, there exist today, in at least all the larger centers of population, more saloons and worse saloons than existed before prohibition went into effect.

The reason there are more speakeasies than there were saloons is because speakeasies acknowledge no legal limitations of numbers or locations, and the reason the speakeasies are worse than the saloons is because speakeasies are subject to no legal or moral supervision of any kind.

Young people could not go into saloons, no matter how sordid the saloons were; but young people can go into speakeasies; and some speakeasies subsist on the patronage of young people, and are placed as pitfalls near the schools and at special places, where young people are likely to patronize them.

Furthermore, if one of the legitimate objects of prohibition was the health of the community, certainly that object has not been attained; because mild wines and light beers, which were comparatively harmless and might even have been, in moderation, healthful, have been eliminated from consumption, and bad, and often poisonous bootleg liquor substituted in their places.

The death list from bad liquor is only a slight indication of the harm inflicted upon the health of the community by the very general consumption, not only of strong liquor, but poisonous liquor.

So that prohibition has not only failed as a temperance measure, but has utterly failed as a sanitary measure, and disastrously failed as a moral measure.

There is another aspect of prohibition to be considered, and a very vital aspect to a republic; and that is the civic aspect, the political aspect, the patriotic aspect.

Prohibition has led to widespread invasion of the rights and liberties of a free people.

It has substituted tyranny for liberty and despotism for democracy.

It has violated the sanctity of the home, and made every man and every man's house and every man's family subject to a system of espionage that is only equaled by that of Russia.

Prohibition has made our President a dictator, executing an unpopular law by force of arms.

It has made our Congressmen cowards and

Blaine Demands Repeal of Prohibition; La Guardia Would Nullify Statute

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The halls of Congress reverberated today with cheers and jeers as the tenth anniversary of prohibition produced new fury in the debate on whether or not America shall continue to remain legally dry.

In the Senate, Senator Blaine (Rep.), of Wisconsin, introduced a resolution to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

The House, meanwhile, in an unprecedented action, was cheering and applauding Speaker Nicholas Longworth for having rejected President Hoover's proposal to create a joint congressional committee to consider prohibition reform legislation.

LA GUARDIA'S MOTION

Representative LaGuardia (Rep Representative La Guardia (Rep.), of New York, promptly introduced his resolution to declare the Eighteenth amendment inoperative on the ground that it has been ratified by only 10 states.

The New Yorker in his measure reiterated the charge he made in the House yesterday that the states had ratified only a joint resolution of Congress to prohibit manufacture, sale and transportation of intoxicating liquirs and that the Eighteenth amendment itself never had been ratified by the requisite number of states.

In the Senate, rising in defense of the dry act, Senator Morris Sheppard, (Dem.), of Texas, father of the eighteenth amendment, delivered a carefully prepared address, in which he declared that "prohibition has come to America to remain forever."

Debate ran the gamut of the emotions, with arguments over the attitude of the Bible on prohibi-

B. & O. REFUSED W. MD. STOCK

The dream of P. E. Taplin, chairman of the board of directors of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railway Company, to build a new trunk line system around his road was brought a step nearer to completion today when the Interstate Commerce Commission ruled that the Baltimore and Ohio would have to sell its Western Maryland stock.

The Baltimore and Ohio was charged with having violated the Clayton anti-trust act in purchasing an interest in a competing line.

The order will give Taplin a chance to secure control of the Western Maryland, which is to be the connecting link of the new system to the Atlantic seaboard. Such a purchase would be in conformity with the railroad merger plan of the commission which proposed the linking of the Western Maryland with the Pittsburgh and West Virginia and the Wheeling and Lake Erie and the inclusion of the new trunk line in the Wabash system.

The ruling was the first definite move on the part of the Interstate Commerce Commission to bring about the completion of its merger plan. The Baltimore and Ohio must dispose of its $18,673,049 investment in Western Maryland stock within six months. None of the stock may be transferred to any stockholder, officer or director connected with the road.

Prisoner Companions Say She Collapsed, Crying for Boy; Mother Instinct Shows confronted by photographers, but I think these spells are feigned and that she is tired of having her picture taken and of talking to reporters.

DRUG EFFECT HINTED

The jail physician says he is unable to find anything wrong with her physically. Her peculiar actions may be due to effects of drugs, he says—or to lack of them. The only thing she has complained to me about is being fatigued from her 14-mile tramp across the desert when she was trying to escape.

She still is held by a 5-foot chain leash, one end attached to a ring around her wrist, and the other end to the bars of her cell.

At times she appears willing to talk, provided she is not crowded with questions concerning her past. Again, she is defiant.

"I'm not a woman, I'm animal. There's nothing in me but animal instinct—and self-preservation," she says, then gets sullen.

TO FIGHT EXTRADITION

She admits she is the mother of Donnie Schroeder, 4. Then she denies it. Personally, I believe from the way in which she mentions his name that she is his mother.

TO FIGHT EXTRADITION

Her hair is slowly losing its bleach and is turning from bronze to dark brown.

"I'll fight extradition," she told me as she ate her dinner last night.

Her voice was firm, no trace of fear. Her appetite is amazing.

For hours yesterday Irene bore up under a grilling. She denies all charges of crimes laid to her and her companions.

When questioned as to the death of Brady Paul, Pennsylvania state highway patrolman, she becomes evasive. She declines to talk of the holdup of a gasoline station at El Paso, Tex., and the holdup of a bank at Coleman, Tex.

"DOESN'T CARE" NOW

She said several times: "I don't care what becomes of me."

We are guarding against a possible attempt at suicide, although we do not anticipate it.

Women in the same cell for minor offenses aid the matron in keeping watch on her.

"What of Glenn Dague and Joe Wells?" I asked her.

"Dague and I have lived together for a year. We are not married," she answered.

"And Wells?"

"Only a friend. We met several weeks ago."

"Isn't he your brother?"

"Who said so?"

The identity of Dague was established last night through finger print numbers telegraphed from Harrisburg, Pa. These numbers enable a fingerprint expert to check just as closely as though fingerprints were available.

No fingerprints have been received of Irene. She said her fingerprints never had been taken. We still are in doubt as to the identity of the second man. We believe he is Joe Wells, also known as Vernon Ackerman, former Oklahoma penitentiary convict.

HARD TO ESCAPE

The theory that he may be Tom Crawford, brother of Irene, is being considered. A box bearing the name "Crawford" was found in the automobile which Irene and her men companions abandoned. It contained punchboards and dolls, which Irene evidently intended to sell.

We have been on the alert here at the jail since a jail break three weeks ago. Seven men, some of them tough characters, escaped, but we recaptured all of them. It is hard to get away in this country.

We have two guards on the walls at all times and two guards in the jail. Extra men are available if needed.

Thousands of people came in from the surrounding country last night to view the automobile Irene and her companions abandoned. It has a number of bullet holes and was an object of great interest. There was no demonstration and no threats.

We are ready to turn over the prisoners to the Pennsylvania authorities as soon as they arrive with the necessary papers.

I know Gov. John T. Phillips, of Arizona, very well and feel certain there will be no trouble on that score. He is here in Phoenix, the capital of the state. Our prosecuting attorney has assured me that inasmuch as Irene and at least one of her companions are wanted in Lawrence county, Pennsylvania, in connection with the murder of a state policeman that state should have first claim.

Already Canal county, Arizona, has filed charges of kidnaping against the three, the charge growing out of the kidnaping of a deputy sheriff Monday. But it is unlikely that officials of that county will attempt to get possession of the three in the event Pennsylvania asks for them. Texas officials also are expected to file charges against them as a result of the gasoline station robbery in El Paso.

hypocrites, passing more and more oppressive excise laws, while themselves carrying whisky flasks in their hip-pockets.

It has made our Federal enforcement officers ofttimes murderers and ofttimes drunken murderers, ofttimes themselves saturated with liquor, while taking human life in the enforcement of laws against liquor.

Prohibition has increased crime enormously, startlingly, dangerously; and has, moreover, supplied the money with which crime operates, not only in the liquor traffic, but in other departments of criminal activity.

Prohibition has filled our jails with young boys, and has associated them with hardened criminals, so that youths, who were committed merely for misdemeanors, may be graduated as expert criminals.

Prohibition has corrupted our police system, until in many cases the police are the active allies of the law-breaking elements of the community.

Prohibition has deprived our courts to a great degree of the respect of the community as instruments of even-handed justice and agencies for sympathetic correction and reform.

Prohibition has divided our people into factions almost as bitterly hostile to each other as the factions that existed before the Civil War.

And in the face of this shocking situation, so dangerous to our peace and safety, to our health and morals, to our rights and liberties, to our very existence as a Democratic state, our President stands all oblivious and calls for more enforcement, more jails and more injustice, more courts and more arrests, more incarceration of harmless youths to be transmuted into hardened criminals, more shotguns and more machine guns, more gunmen and more murders, more outrage of civic rights, more violation of constitutional liberties.

To what end and for what purpose?

Merely to aggravate and intensify the disastrous conditions which already exist?

Is it not about time that the calm, conservative, moderate majority of our people quietly and judiciously took stock of prohibition and determined whether this policy is worth all the trouble, and all the evil that it has caused?

If prohibition had actually accomplished a great moral reform, a great sanitary benefit, a great temperance improvement, then it might possibly be worth the death, disaffection, the civic disruption that it has caused.

It might possibly be worth the sacrifice of the political liberties, which our fathers won in blood and suffering, and bequeathed as a precious inheritance to their children.

It might possibly be worth the epidemic of cowardice and corruption in our public life.

It might possibly be worth the substition of the rule of force for the rule of reason.

It might possibly be worth any civic or patriotic sacrifice that we have made or could make.

But if prohibition has not accomplished moral reforms or sanitary benefits, and has not improved temperance conditions, in what does the sanctity of such a policy lie that we should sacrifice for its empty name our treasured American principles and institutions?

Must this nation, which went into the war "to make the world safe for Democracy," sacrifice its own Democracy in a fratricidal conflict at home?

We have heard enough from fools and fanatics!

Mill Strike Murder Trials Transferred

GASTONIA, N. C., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—The trial of five men charged with the murder of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins, cotton mill striker, was ordered removed to another county by Judge J. H. Clement this morning. The change of venue was asked by State Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt.

Judge Clement ordered the case tried in Mecklenburg county, of which Charlotte is the county seat, at the regular term of Mecklenburg Superior Court, beginning February 24.

viding he is positively identified as Crawford.

Last night Superintendent Wilson Price of the State Highway Patrol at Harrisburg received a telegram from Sheriff Charles H. Wright at Phoenix, in which the sheriff stated he had identified the prisoner as Crawford. However, Sergeant A. M. Long of the state police states that he is certain the man is not Crawford. It was reported that Crawford was seen alone in Wheeling the Monday following the slaying of Corporal Brady Paul near here. State police, believe Crawford left Dague and Mrs. Schroeder and that he now is somewhere near Wheeling.

ARIZONA WILL YIELD

Sheriff Wright in Phoenix talked with Prosecutor Powers over the telephone last night and assured Powers that Irene and her companions would be turned over to Pennsylvania officers. Powers today said the county commissioners would pay the reward to the Arizona officers, after authorities there had determined to whom payment should be made.

Among those who are expected to go to Arizona are Mrs. Minnie McKibben, police matron; Private Ernest Moore, wounded in the battle in which Paul was killed; County Detective Lee, A. S. Leslie, his assistant, and a state trooper. It is likely that a police officer from Wheeling or Benwood, W. Va., who knows Tom Crawford, will accompany the group. He will be able to positively state whether the third prisoner is Wells.

DRY TURMOIL RAGES IN CONGRESS

tion and the numerous enforcement killings featuring the spirited exchanges.

DORAN SEES PROGRESS

Dr. J. M. Doran, prohibition commissioner, took advantage of the occasion to issue a formal statement announcing that "substantial progress" toward drying up America had been made.

Doran said large scale liquor operators had virtually been driven out of business and the smaller groups of scattered bootleggers had become largely a local problem.

"Public drunkeness," he said, "is seldom observed these days."

Senator Blaine started the "tenth birthday pary" in the upper House with his resolution for repeal. He delivered a scorching attack on the wisdom of the dry law and charged that its advocates had failed to show it to be enforceable.

"Prohibition," he said, as he offered the resolution, "is bound to be a failure. Any law to regulate the purely personal habits and customs of the people always has been a failure. Nowhere and in no time has prohibition been enforced or enforceable."

Blaine said prohibition was "fundamentally wrong in principle," and added that the last three presidents have been "ardent advocates of enforcement," but "none has succeeded," and that the "time has come for the prohibitionists to make good in enforcement or yield to moderation of the prohibition laws."

CHEER LONGWORTH

Representative Howard (Dem.), of Nebraska, a dry, was responsible for the House's action in lustily cheering Speaker Longworth for his stand against the President's suggested joint committee. Taking on himself the role of speaker, Howard put to the House a resolution approving and applauding "the splendid spirit of pure Americanism which animated Nicholas Longworth when he declined to participate in a movement which must have detracted from the dignity of the House and the integrity of its every member."

Cheers and a loud chorus of "ayes" greeted the resolution.

Senator Sheppard, seeing the picture through dry eyes, declared:

"Prohibition in the United States continues its triumphant tread. Perhaps this is the most significant comment which may be offered in connection with the tenth anniversary of national prohibition in this country.

"LAW TO STAY"

"It is in the Federal Constitution and it is there to remain. It is in the enforcement statutes of the nation and it is there to stay. It is in the hearts and consciences and bank balances, the homes, the comforts, the living facilities, the moral, educational and economic advantages of the American people, and in all of these it is forever planted."

Over in the House, Rep. John Cooper, (Rep.), of Ohio, an outstanding dry, and Rep. Schafer, (Rep.), of Wisconsin, liberal leader, got into a wrangle over whether or not Christ favored prohibition, the argument revolving around the miracle of Canaan whereby the Saviour changed water into wine. Schafer took the position that the Bible countenanced the drinking of alcoholic beverages. This brought Cooper to his feet with the following comment:

"It seems incredible, even to those who have long marked the daring and unscrupulousness of the liquor interests, that any man should stand on the floor of the House and make a comparison between the Divine Christ, the rum runner and the bootlegger."

DRY METHODS FLAYED

Methods of enforcing prohibition—which has cost the federal government approximately $235,000,000 in the decade brought to a close today—were scored by Representative Frank Oliver (Dem.), of New York, who attacked the recommendations of the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission.

He assailed the plan to avoid jury trials for minor offenders, saying:

"Jails are to be enlarged and new ones are to be built. That will give employment and homes to those who went broke in the panic. Judges are to be increased and multiplied so that the new jails will always be full. Roads are to be closed—the very stones are guilty. Felonious ports are to be closed. More ships are to be added to the dry navy so that no swimmer can escape the sweet caress of a machine gun bullet.

"But, last of all, we must change the fundamentals of America. A horde of new commissioners must be appointed by the judges to try the little fellows quickly—the poor, the laborer, the alien—and slip ship them off by the carload to jail without a jury trial."

"LAUGHING REVOLUTION'

Oliver declared we "are dealing with a laughing, sporting, toasting revolution."

"Myriads of our best people in the homes, clubs, hotels, at great dinners, birthday parties, marriages and festivals, of public and private character, are engaged daily in laughing at battles of that revolution," he continued.

"We have tried by law to make a tenth rate heaven out of America but have discovered that our paradise is populated not by angels but by human beings.

"The government has succeeded in driving liquor all the way from the bar to the boudoir; from the saloon to the salon; from hops to hips; from the keg to the kitchen; from the loud speaker to the speakeasy."

DRYS IN FLURRY

La Guardia's move caused considerable consternation in the ranks of the drys. He bases his point on the assertion the Eighteenth Amendment passed out of existence some three years ago by virtue of its phraseology. He contends only 10 states actually ratified the amendment itself; that the remainder of the necessary 36 acted instead upon the Sheppard joint resolution, and pointed to section three of the Sheppard resolution, which later became section three of the amendment, which reads:

"This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the constitution within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the states by the Congress."

Glider to Take Off From Dirigible Los Angeles

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Preparations are being made at Lakehurst, N. J., for the first flight ever to be attempted in a motorless airplane from a dirigible.

Lieut. Ralph S. Barnaby told the Aero Club here last night that he will take off Friday in a glider from beneath the keel of the dirigible Los Angeles while the ship is flying 3,000 feet above Lakehurst.

He hopes the experiment will provide a practical means of getting a man to earth quickly and safely whenever it becomes necessary to have a member of the crew on the ground to supervise the landing of the dirigible away from its base.

QUIZ UPHOLDS DRY KILLINGS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—The Coast Guard crew which captured the rum runner Black Duck off the Rhode Island coast recently after gun fire resulting in the killing of three bootleggers was acting entirely within the law and was justified in firing, the special committee appointed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to investigate, reported today. The attempt of the boat to escape constituted grounds for the shooting, the committee stated.

Thomas Finnegan, deputy collector of customs at Boston; Owen P. McKenna, customs agent at Washington, and George Murphy, inspector of customs at Providence, constituted the committee.

DRYS FEAR LOSS OF YOUTHFUL

DETROIT, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—Fear that modern youth will discard prohibition when the government passes into its hand was expressed today by speakers of the Anti-Saloon League of America now in convention here.

This concern was apparent in addresses by Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, director of the league's educational department, and Dr. Johnathan Hawk, associate editor of its church and school publications.

"The major task of the league is to get the truth to the people," said Dr. Cherrington. "Peculiarly it is concerned with reaching those of the oncoming generations who never knew at first hand the beverage liquor traffic of pre-prohibition days."

He declared the organization had definitely set itself to the task of propagandizing youth.

Dr. Hawk said the grip the liquor traffic had on the nation's life in the days when it flourished should be made common knowledge to the younger generation.

"The children and young people of the today will shortly be casting votes, and occupying the executive, legislative and judicial positions," he said. "If we neglect to train them now we may expect indifference on the temperance question, if not open and aggressive opposition."

Both speakers urged that the league carry its propaganda into the public schools in the form of scientific temperance.

Episcopal Church Elects Vestrymen

Members of the vestry were elected at the annual parish meeting of All Saints Episcopal Church, California avenue, North Side, the Rev. W. J. Marshfield, rector. They include David B. Oliver, senior warden; C. S. Shoemaker, junior warden; J. C. Curtin, treasurer; H. L. Campbell, secretary; William McIntyre, E. N. Gilling, H. E. Becker, Walter Gorton. Miss Ellen Greaven is missionary treasurer. Reports were presented by various organizations of the church.

NAVY ENVOYS IN STORM AT SEA

Gale Delays U. S. Delegates' Arrival; MacDonald Stand Seen as Battleship Doom

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

ABOARD S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, AT SEA, Jan. 16.—Tremendous seas and a terrific gale rocked this ship from stem to stern today as she neared Europe with the American delegates to the London naval conference aboard.

Several portholes were smashed as the gigantic waves mounted upward, sometimes washing over the decks.

The lashing gale caused Capt. Randall to reduce the speed of the ship for safety's sake, but it is believed the delegates will reach Plymouth, England, by 7 o'clock tomorrow morning (2 a. m., Eastern Standard time).

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—The ultimate abolition of the battleship, indicated by Prime Minister MacDonald yesterday as the high point of the British policy at the five-power naval conference, was the subject of widespread comment in England today.

It was noted in many quarters that Mr. MacDonald only proposed the abolition of this type of warship if international agreement on it could be obtained, but the suggestion reveals a loss of confidence in the battleship as the backbone of Britain's naval defense. This is likewise borne out by the British alternative proposition that, failing an agreement on the abolition of battleships, the new ones be of smaller size and gun caliber.

work were attacked in Ross street but escaped injury.

"We are ready at any time to confer with company officials and mediators," an officer of the union said early today, "but we will not consider any proposal that does not embrace full recognition of the union."

'CLOSED SHOP' SNAG

Mr. Higgins reiterated his assertion that he did not feel that his company could operate a "closed shop."

Union leaders said that late yesterday a dormitory had been fitted up in the Yellow Cab Company garage at First and Ross streets for the accommodation of new drivers.

They still protested acts of violence, warning their men to refrain from destroying property and endangering safety of any passengers who might be riding in cabs operated by outside drivers. Especial emphasis were laid on the order not to molest cabs bearing readings, "Emergency," which are used in hospital and other emergency cases.

Both the cab companies' strikers operate such cabs.

EMERGENCY CITED

Officials of the Green Cab Company last night stated that it has come to a time when the public is as much to be considered as the 1,500 striking drivers and the cab companies. They point out to the mayor and city council that an emergency now exists and the public should be given some sort of transportation service.

The officials believe that the company has a right to rehabilitate its service and that it should receive from police and public officials, lawful and impartial assistance as may be necessary to end that the service may be restored promptly.

"Mayor Kline," the statement avers, "could do no greater service than to use the municipal agencies in assisting public utilities to the end that the public may be served. So far Mayor Kline has done nothing that will enable the taxicab companies to operate their vehicles."

'Mental Inferior' Divorces Pittsburgh Movie Star

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Mrs. Julia M. Powell was granted a divorce in Superior Court from William H. Powell, motion picture actor. She charged mental cruelty.

Mrs. Powell, who said she married Powell in April, 1915, and left him in June, 1925, testified the actor had a superiority complex.

"He told me I had the mentality of a child of twelve, that he was a dramatic genius and that he was being tied down and his career impeded by his marriage to a mental inferior," Mrs. Powell testified.

Mrs. Powell's complaint stated her husband had an annual income of $100,000 and a property division had been arranged satisfactorily. An arrangement was approved under which Mrs. Powell will have custody of her son, William David Powell, 4, until he is six years old, and thereafter the child shall be in the custody of each of his parents six months during each year.

Powell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Powell, of Pittsburgh. He spent his boyhood here and was graduated from old Central High School, leaving for New York to take up dramatic studies. He worked in stock for a while, entering the movies after a brief career on the stage.

SENATE BEATS SUGAR TARIFF BOOST

9 Republican Regulars Bolt To Vote Down Proposed $54,700,000 Increase

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Protesting against any increase in the cost of filling the American sugar bowl, the Senate this afternoon rejected all proposed increases in the sugar duties carried in the new tariff bill.

On motion of Senator Harrison (Dem.), of Mississippi, the Senate approved retention of the rate of $1.76 per 100 pounds on Cuban imports as carried in existing law. Its action specifically rejected the House Cuban rate of $2.40 and the Senate Finance Committee's recommendation for a Cuban rate of $2.20 per 100 pounds.

VOTE 48 TO 38

The vote was 48 to 38.

The Senate's action, Harrison said, would save the American people $54,700,000 a year in the cost of their sugar supply.

The result stunned administration leaders. They had expected the result to be close, only Senator Watson (Rep.), of Indiana, the majority leader, having predicted the Senate would reject all increases in sugar duties. The coalition leaders were never hopeful during the debate, both Harrison and Senator Norris (Rep.), of Nebraska, the insurgent leader, having forecast defeat of the former's amendment.

G. O. P. REGULARS BOLT

The wide margin against an increase in duties was the result of Republican disaffection. Eighteen Republicans, nine of them regulars, bolted against the Finance Committee's recommendation. They were: Allen, Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Capper, Gillett, Goff, Jones, Keyes, LaFollette, McMaster, Metcalf, Norbeck, Norris, Pine, Robinson (Indiana), Robsion (Kentucky) and Schall.

NO DAMAGE REPORTED IN CITIES

Tremors Most Intense in Mountain Districts; Few Persons Flee From Homes

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—The earthquake which shook a large section of Southern California late yesterday was found today to have registered more sharply in the inland mountain areas, although no appreciable damage was reported.

Two distinct quakes, at 4:25 and 4:35 p. m., were felt generally from the sea eastward to the Coachella Valley, and from San Diego to the Mojave Desert.

JOLTS IN MOUNTAINS

The epicenter of the quake, it was estimated, was approximately 197 miles from Pasadena.

Reports from mountain regions within the known quake area indicated the shocks there exhibited jolting characteristics, as contrasted with an undulating motion in most other sections. The tremors appeared to decrease in intensity toward the sea and to the south.

In Los Angeles the 4:25 p. m. shocks were felt distinctly. The first of the greatest intensity and longest duration. It swayed flagpoles in the business district and rocked buildings with a rolling movement. There was no sharp jolt.

PEOPLE FLEE HOMES

Pomona, 40 miles east and slightly south, experienced heavy shocks, with temporary disruption of telephone service. The quake there caused some exodus of residents into the streets, as it did also in San Bernardino, 60 miles east of Los Angeles. The intensity throughout the San Bernardino Valley, including Riverside and nearby towns, appeared greater than in the Los Angeles district.

FUGITIVE TAKEN IN BANK FRAUD

Charged with using the mails to defraud, Robert P. Cann, of Stoneboro, Pa., was arrested today by United States marshals. Cann has been a fugitive since late in 1926, according to local government officers, when he disappeared after, they charge, he defrauded the First National Bank of Hazelton, Pa., out of $160,000; the First National Bank of Shamokin, $60,000.

Cann is charged in an indictment with defrauding these two banks "and other banks which, by reason of their great number, are not capable of being listed in this indictment."

He operated "The Mercer Iron and Coal Company; the Anthracite Oil, Gas and Coal Company and the Corsica Coal Company," according to the indictment which charges that the companies were fictitious.

Checks on one company were deposited to the order of another and on the credit obtained by this process he obtained cash which was deposited in still another bank. The deposits were made by mail and finally when some of the checks were protested after a year of "kiting" Cann disappeared. He is said to have been in Mexico, but returned to his home in Stoneboro a few days ago.

MUNHALL BLAST QUIZ REOPENED

Contradiction of testimony today featured the renewed coroner's inquest into the deaths of six persons killed in the Munhall postoffice gas explosion December 5.

Adam Schultz, 35, employed in the Munhall street department, testified that he was asked to sign a statement which represented that the explosion occurred after he had lighted a piece of paper in a sewer drop a block from the postoffice.

Schultz told of his mustache being burned when he lighted the paper to determine whether the sewer were clean, but he said that no explosion followed, and his testimony was corroborated by his helper, John Smoko. Schultz told of asking Ackerman whether he, Schultz, would be paid for the statement.

George J. Reese, Whitaker plumber, also denied telling Ackerman that he had changed the pipe in the postoffice in 1927.

Bad Checks in U. S. $300,000,000 in 1929

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—The American business man's 1929 bill for bad check losses totaled $300,000,000, Secretary Guy H. Hulse, of the National Retail Credit Association, said today. The "good old charge account," he said, was the best preventive.

Ousted City Manager Blamed for 'Scandal'

CLEVELAND, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—A list of reasons for ousting City Manager W. R. Hopkins Monday night, prepared today at a special meeting of city council, charged the deposted city manager with being "morally responsible for recent city hall scandals," that "he usurped the authority of council and the mayor" and had "endowed himself with veto powers over council."

The scandals referred to were in connection with a swindle deal in the purchase of city playground property, which council held Hopkins should have prevented. Councilman Liston G. Schooley and his son, Liston, Jr., were sent to the penitentiary several months ago for their confessed part in the transaction.

Lindsey to Fight Disbarment Move

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—(INS)—Judge Ben Lindsey, noted Denver former Juvenile Court judge and lawyer, was here today en route to San Francisco where he will fight disbarment proceedings. He was recently disbarred in Colorado for alleged violation of a law prohibiting a judge of a court of record from practicing law. Judge Lindsey refused to comment on the California proceedings.

Senators Oppose Women on Tax Board

WASHINTON, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—The nomination of Miss Annabelle Matthews, of Georgia, to the Federal Board of Tax Appeals, ran into fresh opposition today at a meeting of the Senate Finance Committee. The appointment was debated for an hour and the committee for the second time adjourned without a vote.

2 New Directors Elected by Bank

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 16.—Two changes in bank directors were made at the annual elections yesterday. Alex B. Hood and D. H. Horton were elected to the board of the Second National Bank.

FEAR OF JAPAN, DOHENY PLEA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—Fear of Japanese hostility, real or fancied, on the part of American naval experts and observers, will be the defense of Edward L. Doheny, California oil magnate, when he goes to trial here March 10 on a charge of having bribed former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall in connection with the Elk Hill naval oil lease scandals during the Harding administration it appeared today. Justice William Hitz, sitting in the District Supreme Court, issued an order, directing the Navy Department to produce the famous "Gleaves report" at the trial.

The report, submitted in 1921 by Admiral Gleaves, is said to contain secret data in regard to the hostility of Japan to the United States. It has remained a diplomatic mystery despite legal attempts to have it introduced as evidence.

Doheny's attorneys, who defended Secretary Fall here last year, when he was found guilty of accepting the $100,000 bribe from Doheny, at that time injected the specter of the Japanese fear.

Two separate attempts have been made in the oil trials to bring the renowned report into the open, but Secretary of the Navy Wilbur refused to produce it when Fall and Doheny were tried jointly with conspiracy to defraud the government. Secretary Adams declined to bring forth the document last year during the Fall trial.

Investigate Death Of Unknown Man

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Jan. 16.—State police are investigating the manner in which an unidentified man found in the Allegheny River in Braeburn with his skull crushed and both legs mangled, came to his death.

KELLY FOR AIR MAIL REVISION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—Complete revision of the air mail map of the nation will be proposed to Congress in the form of bills for the consolidation and extension of air mail lines, Representative Clyde Kelly (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, father of every air mail bill passed by Congress, announced.

Twenty-five air mail lines now in operation over 14,368 miles will be involved in the proposed revision, together with proposals for extending new lines into many territories now demanding air mail service.

Confident Congress will back extension of the air mail, Kelly is planning to ask the House Postoffice Committee to review the whole question.

At the same time, Kelly announced his opposition to the plan of Postmaster-General Brown to revise the method of pay for air mail lines "to solve the financial difficulties of the air transport industry." He said:

"It is doubtful whether we can subsidize all passenger carrying lines, as suggested by the Postmaster-General, by contracting for space whether it is used for mail or not. Such a provision would mean a large cost and perhaps bring charges of unfairness and injustice on the part of air passenger lines who were not given the consideration they felt they deserve."

Grand Opera Stars To Sing in Talkies

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—Grace Moore and Lawrence Tibbet, opera stars, were scheduled to sign contracts here today with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to sing in movietones.

The sum to be paid the singers was not revealed, but was said to be a staggering amount and possibly may set a new record for salaries in screen production.

President Given As Reference in Store Charge

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—James D. Smith, of Corinth, Miss., wanted to open a charge account at a department store here.

"Yes, sir," said the polite clerk, "and what reference, please?"

"Reference?" said Mr. Smith. "Oh, certainly. Mr. Hoover will do. He is the President, you know."

"Oh," said the clerk, and came up for air. The firm investigated and learned the President recently had notified a Jackson (Miss.) firm that Mr. Smith was a "good risk."

The Mississippian was one of the contractors who built Mr. Hoover's Palo Alto, Cal., home.

The account was accepted.

JURY RUM SHOP VISIT CHARGED

(Copyright, 1930, International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—An amazing story that jurors in the murder trial of Samuel Howard Dorr were reveling unguarded in a "soft drink" parlor, where liquor was said to have been served, was told here today by a woman witness to Presiding Judge Harry B. Miller, in his chambers.

The story, if substantiated, was such that court followers felt the defense would demand and obtain a mistrial.

Dorr is on trial for the slaying of William O'Brien, because of his alleged love for the man's wife, Genevieve O'Brien, also indicted for the murder.

SPURNS FINE FOR JAIL

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—Declaring she would go to jail rather than pay a $300 fine imposed last April when she was convicted by a jury in Federal Court in Brooklyn of sending improper matter through the mail, Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett today awaited action in her move to appeal.

Mrs. Dennett appeared yesterday before the United States Court of Appeals and asked that the verdict and fine, imposed by Judge Warren B. Burrows, be set aside.

Morris L. Ernst, her attorney, argued the appeal, submitting a brief in which he pointed out that Judge Burrows, a visiting jurist from New London, Conn., had ruled out all testimony regarding the circulation and indorsement of "The Sex Side of Life," Mrs. Dennett's brochure, which was the subject of dispute.

As at the trial, attorneys for the government asked the court to disregard the fact that doctors, teachers and clergymen had indorsed Mrs. Dennett's book, which she wrote in 1918 for her two sons. The sons appeared in court yesterday with their mother.

COLD WEATHER HERE TO STAY

The cold snap here will continue for several days in the opinion of Local Forecaster W. S. Brotzman.

Snow flurries will accompany the sharp drop in temperature today and the thermometer will probably go down to 12 degrees tonight.

This weather is Pittsburgh's share of the colder weather prevailing everywhere east of the Rocky Mountains. In the northwestern border states adjacent to the Canadian border, temperatures have dropped to the near zero mark and it is this condition which has eliminated the balmy weather of the past few days here.

Sold Home Brew, Youth Fined 2 Cents

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Morris Halverson, 20, a recent arrival from Canada, was fined two cents in Federal Court yesterday for selling home brew. The fine was declared the smallest ever imposed in a liquor case here.

Halverson told the court he knew it was against the law to sell whisky in the United States but did not know that prohibition extended to home brew.

Father, Mother of Five Sentenced to Jail

Declaring that her five small children, the oldest only 8, would be better off in the care of Juvenile court than with their mother, Judge Harry H. Rowand, sent the woman to jail and the children's father to the workhouse for three years when the couple pleaded guilty to systematically buying furniture, washing machines and other articles from installment concerns and selling them for whatever they could get.

Orlando Gesto, 31, 1124 Madison avenue, a painter, said the articles were sold to get money to feed the children. He said he had married Bessie Gesto, 28, 12 years ago, but the woman said there had been no marriage ceremony although they had lived together since 1918. There were 22 indictments against the couple, brought by practically all the large installment houses of Pittsburgh. Officers stated the couple used fictitious names in making time purchases and removed the goods from their home to Washington County to sell them. It developed that a sixth child is expected and for this reason Judge Rowand, instead of having the woman accompany her mate to the workhouse, remanded her to jail that he may keep her under observation and said he would fix the length of her sentence later.

Hurt in Taxicab, Suit Asks $8,000

Mrs. Terres E. Dorman, 6823 Thomas boulevard, who alleges she was thrown against the front of a cab of the Pittsburgh Transportation Company and hurt when the taxicab stopped suddenly in response to a red light signal, has brought suits against the company for $8,000 damages. Her husband, J. F. Dorman, joined in the action, asking $3,000, since he has had to expend sums for doctor bills because of a shock to his wife's nerves and torn tissues.

Pitt's 'Rebel Yell' Scores School Administration

Darts at the administration, official newspaper, athletics council and other projects of the University of Pittsburgh were shot out of "The Rebel Yell," insurgent pamphlet issued by anonymous students at the Oakland school, in its Vol. II, No. 1, released today.

The employment bureau and athletic department were spotted for the more cutting barbs, the "Yell" containing a warning to students to "Play Fair! Don't Scab in the City Cab Drivers' Strike." The paper prefaced this with:

"Warning to Students—In view of the notorious strike-breaking record of the Pitt student employment bureau, students are warned to carefully inspect all employment offered them."

The football situation was reviewed, with acrid comments on the California trip.

"The earnest pleas," the paper says, "of the captain and some of the stars caused several F's to be changed by weak professors to D's for the 'honor of our university.' What has scholarship come to in a football team where an all-American insists that 'arbitrary' and 'arbitration' have the same meanings, and where the spelling of many would be a disgrace to sixth graders?

"Enough that they be football men and trek clear across the continent to earn $60,000 for the university and then weakly submit to a cut in the itinerary that another $200 may be used to provide the athletic heads with more Packards and the coaches with increased salaries."

The "Yell" quotes Sinclair Lewis, critical novelist, as saying:

"I disapprove of Rebel Yells, but a university without a Liberal club deserves Rebel Yells until it gets one."

SENTENCED DAY HE STOLE PASS

Leroy King, Negro, was sentenced in United States District Court yesterday for a crime committed in another state earlier in the day. No precedent could be recalled by court attaches for such swift administration of justice.

The testimony was that King stole a railroad pass at Alliance, O., shortly after midnight for a trip from Alliance to New York, and boarded a train for New York soon thereafter. He was arrested when the train reached Sewickley by Railroad Policeman J. E. Bixler. King expressed a wish to have the case disposed of as quickly as possible. As he said he was willing to plead guilty, he was arraigned before Judge Robert M. Gibson, who sentenced him to pay a fine of $100. In default of payment he was committed to the county jail, where he will have to serve 30 days unless the money is forthcoming.

The pass was made out to Norman Barr, a dining car employe, and was said to have been stolen from Barr's wife.

Within 14 hours of the theft in Alliance the alleged culprit had been sentenced and was in prison in Pittsburgh.

FARMER KILLED BY ROBBERS

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 17.—Two suspects were being held in Youngstown, O., today in connection with the murder last night of Clark Rea, 60, farmer, of Coletown, who was killed by robbers, according to the story told by his brother, E. H. Rea, 55. The robbers fired through the window, striking the elder Rea in the temple.

When the shot was fired, E. H. Rea dropped to the floor, he told officers, and when the robbers entered they forced him to his feet and took 54 cents from him. A search of the house yielded three gold watches.

He told police that he and his brother were alone at 8 o'clock when the shot crashed through the window.

After the robbers left Rea summoned neighbors. Police guarded all roads, but failed to find trace of the men.

Weather Conditions.

The weather continues cloudy east of the Mississippi River, and it is snowing over the Ohio Valley states and the lower lakes. The snow fall is in the nature of flurries. High pressure, centered over Montana and Southern Alberta, highest barometer reported, 30.98 inches, at Havre, Mont., extends southward over the plains and eastward to the Atlantic coast, and is spreading eastward at a rather rapid rate. It has caused a further drop in temperature everywhere east of the Rocky Mountains. Zero weather extends as far south as Oklahoma City and below freezing to Southern Texas. Over the Northwest Border states the temperatures range from 20 to 30 degrees below zero and over the adjacent Canadian provinces 30 to 40 degrees below. Cold weather will continue over this section several days.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Franklin is 9.7; Lock No. 7, 12.5; Pittsburgh, 18.0; Dam No. 4, 17.8; Dam No. 6, 20.6; Dam No. 9, 21.6, and Dam No. 12, 21.8. The dams are down.

Wooden Indian Gone, Students Blamed

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 16.—A search is being made by the Greene County Historical Society for a wooden Indian which had been placed on High street here to advertise the society's museum.

College students, desiring to furnish their rooms in the early American manner, or grade school youths desiring a realistic target for playing "cowboy and Indian," are believed responsible for the disappearance of the community's only red man.

Crafton to Drive Against Speeders

Speeding laws will be vigorously enforced in Crafton, it has been announced by the borough council. The borough has ordered 40 signs to be posted on the main streets, announcing that the speed limit at 20 miles per hour. The signs will be placed on Crafton boulevard, Dinsmore avenue and Steuben street.

Burgess John W. Spalter was instructed that the law must be enforced and to fine all violators.

COLLEGE TESTS HIT BY HOLT

Speaking at a luncheon of the Pittsburgh committee of Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., in the William Penn Hotel yesterday, Dr. Hamilton Holt, president, declared he was opposed to college examinations when they lead to "a bartering of a college diploma for a fixed number of marks."

Dr. Holt, regarded a revolutionist in the educational field, has inaugurated the "conference plan," which eliminated lectures, recitations and examinations at Rollins College.

He was to be a guest at a luncheon in the University Club at noon today.

Third Victim in Trolley Crash Dies

W. J. Stecht, Jr., 35, of 503 Mary street, Millvale, died today in West Penn Hospital, increasing to three the death list in the automobile-street car crash in East Ohio street, near the Thirtieth Street Bridge, Sunday. The others who died from their injuries were Frank Kerwyn, of R. F. D. No. 4, Millvale, and R. G. McCutcheon, of 15 Howard street, Millvale.

PRESBYTERIAN EDITOR QUITS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—The Presbyterian, the weekly journal published by the Presbyterian Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, in its issue dated today, contains an editorial announcement signed by Samuel G. Craig, editor, announcing his resignation. The announcement states:

"I regret to announce that my editorship of the Presbyterian is about to terminate. This finds its explanation in the fact that at a meeting of the board of directors of the Presbyterian Publishing Company held on Monday, January 13, action was taken requesting my resignation as editor to take effect as soon as it is possible for my successor to assume charge, but not later than February 1. The occasion of this action on the part of the board was its dissatisfaction with the editorial policy I have steadfastly pursued and which I was unwilling to alter, especially with reference to Princeton and Westminster Seminaries."

Police Seek Bandits Who Held Up Store

North Side police today were searching for three armed bandits who held up Harry Weller in his confectionery at 1339 Sheffield street, and rifled the cash register of $50 last night. The robbers escaped in an automobile.

Repeal of Prohibition Only Cure, Blaine Says; Harris Asks Stricter Enforcement

(Today ends the first 10 years of national prohibition under the Eighteenth Amendment. The anti-prohibitionists say it can never be enforced; the drys say it must be enforced. In the accompanying articles, Senator Blaine, an anti-prohibitionist, suggests repeal of the prohibition amendment, and Senator Harris, a dry, proposes stricter enforcement. Their interesting views follow:)

By SENATOR JOHN J. BLAINE
Written Exclusively for International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Today, January 16, is the tenth anniversary of the prohiibtion regime. We have had 10 years' trial of the "noble experiment" and it has failed to bring temperance to the American people.

I propose, on this anniversary of prohibition, a constitutional amendment providing for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Repeal of the amendment, in my opinion, is the best cure for the evils of prohibition.

To liberalize the Volstead Act would help re-establish moderation and temperance; but the ultimate solution of the curse of prohibition will be the abandonment of prohibition.

ABANDONED IN 12 PLACES

As I recall, in the last 20 years, 15 countries, including sovereign provinces, undertook prohibition. Of that number, the prohibition experiment prevails in only three namely, the United States, Finland and Prince Edward Island.

Each country and sovereign province that has abandoned prohibition, experimented about 10 years. After all the failures to regulate the personal customs and habits of the individual citizen, sober-thinking friends of orderly government undertook a solution of the evils that had grown up under prohibition in those countries. In all those countries that had prohibition it was found the evils of prohibition could be cured only by discarding prohibition.

America may well profit by their example. It was only last Monday when the President of the United States, in a message to Congress, asserted that more than one-half of the arrests under the federal criminal laws were for violations of the prohibition law. This exposition speaks volumes, and is conclusive proof that prohibition is a failure.

In the last nine years three presidents have been ardent advocates of prohibition enforcement. None of them succeeded in enforcement, though they had the entire enforcement machinery under their control, and they had a Congress that, by an overwhelming majority, responded to every request for more machinery of enforcement.

(Copyright, 1930, International News Service, Inc.)

By SENATOR WILLIAM J. HARRIS
Written Exclusively for International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—In these 10 years, the prohibition law has never been given a fair trial and Congress has never appropriated sufficient money to make it a success. Its enemies have claimed the law was a complete failure, and tried to make this and other laws unpopular. It is the height of folly to try to enforce this law with the meager appropriation in the past with the thousands of miles of boundary lines such as Mexico and Canada, as well as of our seacoast on the Pacific and Atlantic, to say nothing of the enforcement in 2,500 counties and several thousand towns in the United States. Congress certainly will appropriate any amount of money necessary to bring real enforcement.

The most important thing to be accomplished and which would give the greatest relief is to arrange for speedy trials and this could be accomplished by a bill which I introduced three years ago and again during the present session, which would allow anyone charged with violating the law with his consent to be taken immediately before a United States commissioner and have the case against him tried.

WANTS MORE MONEY

Nine out of ten times they would plead guilty when tried immediately, but if they are allowed to stay in jail for some time, at great expense to the government, or out on bond, some shrewd lawyer convinces him that if he will pay him a fee he could get him off without any fine or imprisonment. United States commissioners would handle these promptly and save great expense to the government by keeping the violators out of jail or the penitentiary.

I have tried for years to get an increased appropriation for the enforcement of the prohibition law, and if we had appropriated the amount needed and secured the number and class of men required for this work, the law would have had a fair trial. The people of the country have become accustomed to the federal government enforcing laws of this kind and the states will not do it except in co-operation with the government.

I was pleased with President Hoover's recommendations and sincerely hope they may be carried out and that Congress will appropriate sufficient sums of money to really make an honest effort to enforce the law.

SOUNDER TRADE PREDICTED

Business generally soon will be in a much sounder condition than it was prior to the stock market inflation, a speedy readjustment now being in process, S. L. Andrew, chief statistician of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, last night declared in an address at the annual meeting of the American Statistical Association in the University Club.

More than 200 members of the organization were present. James C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company, presided. G. A. Doyle, chairman of the Pittsburgh branch of the organization, introduced Chaplin, who in turn introduced Andrew.

Promotion depends on appearance as well as brains

MAYBE this sounds foolish at first glance, but is it? How many men do you know who need just a little grooming to give them a better place in the world? Two things will improve your appearance immensely. Well kept hands and a good smooth shave! And "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly makes it possible to have both.

Take the shave, for example. Tomorrow morning spread a light film of "Vaseline" Jelly on your face before you work in the lather. Then shave and see the difference. After you try this once you'll be a "Vaseline" Jelly fan for life.

As for the hands—when you come in from doing any form of manual work, apply "Vaseline" Jelly and rub it in briskly before you wash. It softens the cracks, loosens the dirt, soothes the irritation.

CATARRH

Home Treatment

If you want a really effective treatment for vile, stubborn catarrh go right to the leading druggist in your town or city and ask for a bottle of Opex.

Spray the nostrils two or three times a day—oftener if necessary, and see the cleansing steam like smoke come thru.

30 Days' Free Trial

You'll be surprised and delighted—not only will Opex soothe the raw, irritated membrane and correct the cause of nasal catarrh, but it will promptly stop the humiliating discharge. If it fails, get your money back.

The toughest old chronic cases of disgusting catarrh are speedily helped with Opex.

The price is but $1.00. One bottle lasts 2 months. Mail orders filled $1.00) by Opex Co., 11 W. 30th St., New York City.

The Changed Mode

Presented in a Great Showing Of New Tailor-Type Dresses

Here is an event which celebrates the return to sanity in frocks for street wear and business . . . promoting the latest dictates of fashion that dresses for such purposes shall be straight of hemline, devoid of trailing points and ends, sensible as to waistline position, and in length three to four inches below the knee.

. . . Naturally, Horne's Tailor-Type Dress Section, always noted for smart simplicity, would be among the leaders to sponsor this new mode!

This collection includes five models of the heavier crepes, and three of sheer crepe Elizabeth. . . . In dark and lighter navy blue, black, Corinthian green and summerleaf green.

Business women will appreciate the attention which has been given to small details. For example, lingerie touches and light, contrasting collars and cuffs are easily removable for laundering and cleaning. And the sheer dresses have linings extending all the way to the neckline.

JAIL ISOLATED FOR SMALLPOX

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 16.—Ninety-five prisoners and all attendants in the Erie County Jail were placed under quarantine yesterday when it was learned that Elmer Durst, 27, a prisoner released last night, had smallpox.

After the jail had been placed under quarantine Dr. Felix Shubert started vaccination of every inmate.

Dr. R. O. Miller, county health officer, reported that five cases of smallpox, four of them practically recovered, had been reported from the vicinity of Westminster. The victims were confined to two families.

WIRE PRODUCTS PRICES CUT

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 16.—Prices in wire nails and wire products have been definitely reduced, the trade learned this week. Manufacturers' wire is quoted at 2.30c per pound under the new schedule. This reduction is in line with weakness in other rolled steel products.

Valley melters have built up in recent months heavy stocks of scrap metal, taking advantage of low prices which have prevailed. Middle interests, likewise, have replenished stocks and are well fortified against consuming requirements.

New business is still coming to the mills in encouraging volume, though some decline from the current high operating rate may be expected.

Stamping works in this area in a number of instances received substantial orders this week, enabling them to improve production.

Are You Happy?

TO BE HAPPY you must be healthy and well—free from pain and misery. If you want bright eyes, cheerful, happy thoughts, animation and attractiveness you should take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to improve your health. Dr. Pierce used it in his Clinic at Buffalo, N. Y., years ago and found it so successful he put it up in ready to use form and placed it in the drug stores. You can procure it in either fluid or tablet form.

Write Dr. Pierce's Clinic if you want free medical advice.

One delighted woman said

"I became in a rundown, weakened and nervous state of health. I had backaches and pains in my side, felt all dragged out—no strength. I had read of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and decided to take it, and it relieved me of my inward trouble and all other distress, and restored me to health. I also have taken Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and find them a very mild laxative, and a splendid liver medicine."—Mrs. Chas. Herzog, 519 S. Beaver St., Lancaster, Pa.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c 30c and 60c. All druggists.

Tomorrow—Boggs & Buhl

REMNANT DAY

The Greatest Thing of

"Remnant Day"—magic words when they refer to a Boggs & Buhl Remnant Day. A day that brings people from three States—traveling hundreds of miles to be here bright and early and get their share of extraordinary values in every part of the store. Read the items and prices on these two pages—then remember they are only examples of hundreds of others at ridiculously low prices. Tomorrow should be one of the greatest Remnant Days in the store's history.

NT DAY

of Its Kind in America

Days and nights—and many of both—have been spent literally combing the entire store — basement to roof — "spotting" every single item in the establishment that should be cleared out—regardless of cause—age, color, or too large stock — odd, mussed, etc.—every item fixed with a red ink price (Red Ink Prices are used only on Remnant Days)—a price that positively assures the sale of that item. That explains why Remnant Days here are so famous.

STORE HOURS: 9 A. M. TO 5:30 P. M.

No Return or Exchanges on Remnant Goods

Hughes to Discuss League Court Over Radio

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES' address on "The Permanent Court of International Relations" over WCAE at 8 o'clock tonight will be appropriate at this time when the eyes of the world are turned to London for the pending naval parley.

Julius Tannen, the human chatterbox, who used to make 'em roar at the Davis Theater when Pittsburgh had Keith, will be guest of the Philco Hour through WJAS at 10 p. m. He will support Lois Bennett, soprano.

The United States Army band will be heard through WJAS at 8:30 during the WMAL anniversary program from Washington, D. C.

We Now Present

Ray Wood Hood, who was co-starred with Ethel Waters in "Miss Calico," will bring his Southernaires into the WJAS studios for a concert of Negro spirituals on Saturday night, January 25.

They can sing.

WTAM will broadcast a special program for the Oberlin Alumni this Saturday night from 10 until 11 o'clock.

The astrologer holding forth at WCAE received 96,000 letters in four months at KFI.

ENGINE 833:

When the Red Arrow Quartet sings over KayDee, a large brass bell is rung to indicate the arrival of a train. The bell was once a part of engine No. 833 of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

"Latest at the Earliest" is the slogan of Joe Hiller, the song composer who treats every Thursday night at 8 o'clock over KQV.

"Reproduce noises from the various Pittsburgh factories," is the suggestion of W. N. R. Copley, of Manorville, Pa., to some Pittsburgh broadcaster.

In this respect we recall how Julius Levin used to pick up the traffic cop's whistle at Sixth and Grant and relay it to all Pittsburgh by a WJAS microphone in the Gazette Building. It was a daily stunt that created much comment.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

A Millvale farmer presented Jim Hughes with a Himalaya rooster—big red comb, heavy spurs—following a program the other night. The presentation was made in the WJay reception room while H. J. Brennan, Robert M. Thompson and R. M., Jr., looked on in amazement. The rooster was added to the WJAS menagerie on the farm outside Sheraden, where "Red" McCoy, chief engineer, is doing a German police dog business.

Dr. Victor P. Fleming (M. D., M. B., Toronto) gastro-intestinal specialist,

Flaxolyn a complete success in rigid tests of celebrated health school. Its superintendent, Dr. Fleming, tells how Flaxolyn acts, bringing ruddy glow of health to cheeks and strength to internal organs.

On the Lincoln Highway, at York, Pa., is a health school where people come from all over, to learn the greatest thing in life—How to Live. The director of this remarkable institution says: "We have carefully tested all sorts of health preparations submitted to us—mineral, saline, vegetable, etc. All of these we have rejected. Only Flaxolyn have we accepted and fully endorsed."

Flaxolyn Counteracts Acid Blood

"It is because Flaxolyn safely changes acidity of the blood to a state of alkalinity", continues Dr. Fleming, "that we approve it so highly. We recommend Flaxolyn to health-seekers who require aid for constipation, and a body-building tonic of the highest herbal type."

Don't wait. Tear this out as a reminder to get a bottle of pleasant Flaxolyn today. You will feel the tonic change at once.

"What I know about nice women"

LISTEN to a doctor whose practice includes hundreds of the better class. "It is simply unbelievable," he says, "how many women—supposedly nice, fastidious women—are suffering from halitosis and utterly ignorant of the fact. No wonder their husbands hesitate to kiss them, or that women friends avoid them."

Don't fool yourself

Be the first to suspect yourself of having halitosis (bad breath). So many everyday conditions cause it that it is folly for any one to assume complete freedom from it. Defective teeth for example. Fermenting food particles. Pyorrhea. Germ infections of the mouth. Keep yourself on the popular side by gargling with full strength Listerine morning and night, and before meeting others. Listerine instantly ends halitosis.

Destroys odors—kills germs

Being a safe germicide so active it kills even Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in 15 seconds, it naturally combats germ conditions which cause odors. Then, being a powerful deodorant, it destroys the odors themselves.

Keep Cool, Men
Your face kept cool while shaving and afterward. LISTERINE SHAVING CREAM is a treat for all men.

RESULTS RADIO POLL

FAVORITE PITTSBURGH STATION:
KDKA, 524; WCAE, 396; WJAS, 390; KQV, 83; WMBJ, 47.
Change: WCAE replaced WJAS for second place.

FAVORITE OUTSIDE STATIONS:
WLW, WTAM, WHAS, WGY, WPG, WRVA, WBBM, WSM, WJR, WEAF.
Change: WBBM broke into first ten. WEAF replaced KWKH for tenth place.

WAVELENGTH SITUATION:
Satisfied 722
Dissatisfied 618

FAVORITE PITTSBURGH ANNOUNCER:
Louis Kaufman's lead cut by "Big Bill" Farren, Walter G. Myers and Fred Rodgers, who were strong in yesterday's balloting. Riggs and McGee fared well. Kaufman, 219; Farren, 183; Myers, 176; Rodgers, 172.

OUTSIDE PITTSBURGH ANNOUNCERS:
Lead of Milton J. Cross, further increased with Bill Hay of "Amos 'n' Andy" fame, his closest rival. Cross, 474; Hays, 266. McNamee reached an even 200.

FAVORITE LOCAL ARTISTS:
Don Bestor, 248; Fred Rodgers, 214; Virginia Harmon, 209; Dr. Charles Heinroth, 197; Patti Baldridge, 197; Will Rhodes, 193; Dick Powell, 192.
Change: Big gains by Fred Rodgers and Virginia Harmon while Don Bestor kept his pace as leader. Dick Powell registered heavily. Virginia Kendrick, Viola Byrgerson, Elsie Breese Mitchell, Gertrude Mohr scored. Race much in doubt.

FAVORITE NETWORK ARTISTS:
Amos 'n' Andy far ahead, followed by Jessica Dragonette, Harvey Hays, Interwoven Pair, Dutch Minstrels, Rudy Vallee, Jess Crawford.

PHILADELPHIA girl is Prize Winner . . .

"HAZEL MAY was delicate and nearly always fretful," says Mrs. M. Hopkins, 7050 Ruskin Lane, Philadelphia. "She was sallow and bilious; didn't want to eat and couldn't digest her food right.

"California Fig Syrup has changed all that; and made her a different girl. It regulated her bowels quickly, improved her appetite and digestion. She has had no trouble since; but has continued to gain until today friends say she's a 'regular prize winner for health.'"

Mothers by thousands are praising California Fig Syrup. Physicians endorse it. A pure vegetable product; it is safe for any child. The prompt relief it brings bilious, headachy, constipated children lasts; because it helps tone and strengthen bowels and stomach. Appetite increases; digestion improves with its use! A youngster's entire system benefits. Next time bad breath, coated tongue or feverishness warn of constipation, try it with your child and see how it helps!

When buying, look for the name California that marks the genuine product, famous for 50 years.

McCreery's Present....
Popular, New
FASHIONS OF THE HOUR
Chiffons, Crepes, Georgettes, Laces
To Answer Society's Daytime Demands
$25.

Popularity's no trick at all—for these Fashion-favored frocks are of fabrics that definitely fit into the day's order. Presented by McCreery's for smart women whose leadership sets the mode.

Serviceable crepe fashions that women just can't do without. Sheer chiffon dresses and dainty lace ones that are "dressy" enough to be worn into the dinner hour. Pleasing georgette frocks that play roles of utility and dignity.

And they have a way about them of fitting the figure as though made to order. In alluring colors to brighten and lighten Winter wardrobes. Sizes for women and misses.

On the left a woman's crepe dress.
On the right a miss' crepe model.

They Fit the Head With Sculptured Perfection
"GOTHAM" HATS
IN YOUR HEADSIZE
$7.50

If, perchance, your headsize measures 22 inches, a 7⅛ headsize Gotham is here for you. Or whatever your headsize, whether small or large, you'll find it in a new Spring Gotham hat that'll win your fancy. Of fine French felt—with Spring's smart scoopy brims and countenance-revealing creations. In colors that'll lend a spirited touch to your Winter costumes.

Also at this price perfect reproductions of Mado, Alphonsine and Agnes Sketched: Left, a Gotham fashion at $7.50. Right, a Mado reproduction at $7.50.

Money Back If One Bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

Why bother with slow actors when one tablespoonful of this splendid and pleasant liquid remedy will cause gas, bloating, heaviness, heartburn or any upset condition of the stomach to speedily vanish?

And why should any man or woman suffer another hour with indigestion or any stomach misery when the remedy that acts almost instantly can be easily procured?

Dare's Mentha Pepsin not only quickly relieves stomach distress, but it also conquers stubborn indigestion and dyspepsia, and puts an end to dizziness, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness and despondency, which distressing troubles are nearly always caused by chronic stomach disturbance.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin is pleasant to take, has a delightfully refreshing taste and after it has put your stomach in a clean and healthy condition, just notice how much better you look and feel, for besides correcting chronic stomach disorders this supremely good remedy that druggists everywhere guarantee, is a fine tonic that builds you up and makes you work with vim, eat with relish and sleep soundly.

NEW OFFICIALS AT BELLEVUE

Samuel B. Rheams, newly elected councilman of Bellevue borough, was the only member of the body sworn in at the reorganiz tion meeting held last night. He succeeds Charles Young. Burgess W. J. Longmore administered the oath.

The following officials were re-elected: James Simeral, secretary; C. E. Brady, clerk; Harry Thomas, solicitor; Daniel Rosemeier, chief of police; James Greenough, fire chief, and James A:lur, health officer. Councilman Charles Saints was elected president.

Other members of council are: John R. Longabaugh, John Bragdon, Ralph McKee, H. S. Parker, W. L. Cooley, J. R. Caughey and J. L. Delaplane.

SCHACHT HINTS RESIGNATION

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—The first direct intimation from Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, that he may resign as a consequence of his defeat at The Hague on matters of German policy was given today to the correspondent of Rheinischwestfaelische Zeitung.

After emphasizing that his attitude toward "adulteration" of the Young plan was absolutely unaltered, Dr. Schacht said the Reichsbank naturally will and must accommodate itself to the projected new statute making participation in the Young plan one of its functions.

He added, however, "on the other hand the Reichsbank president will have to decide for himself whether he can conform to every statute or not—whether he should stay or go."

E. Liberty 'Y' Will Hold Ladies' Night

A "ladies' night" program is being arranged for January 28 by the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. under the leadership of William Kalbach. The young men's division has been asked to co-operate with dormitories of East Liberty in the program, expected to be the most pretentious of the year. A dinner, preceded by popular vocal numbers and musical novelties, will feature the program.

STOMACH ILLS

A Medical Opinion

"The ideal corrective for 'sour stomach' is calcium carbonate—a potential anti-acid, incapable of disturbing the normal action of the bowels and bladder, impossible of overdosage and perfectly safe to use."

—Your own doctor will confirm this quotation from noted medical authority.

A Powerful Anti-acid—yet Safe

Old-fashioned folks, not abreast with medical science, still take burning soda. Occasional doses may do no harm.

But Calcium Carbonate, in proper form, is the modern anti-acid: 2½ times as effective as soda, and is safe in its action and positive in its relief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the ideal form of Calcium Carbonate combined with other valuable healing ingredients. Medical authorities commend Stuart's formula as the only kind for use with children and best for men and women.

OLD-TIME COLD REMEDY—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of this Hamburg tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacupful at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and relieve grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

Brookhart Asks New Farm Freight Rates

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—(INS.)—The Interstate Commerce Commission was called upon to equalize the freight rates on agricultural products in a resolution introduced today in the Senate by Senator Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa.

He charged the commission had discriminated against farm products in favor of industrial products in levying rates. He said the commission's own statistics proved the farmers were furnishing 11.49 per cent of the tonnage on all roads and paying 20.31 per cent of all freight rates.

Infidelity Basis Of Divorce Suit

Edward H. Livingston, 6504 Frankstown avenue, accuses his wife, Margaret L. Livingstone, of Gibsonia, of improper relations with William Humbert, in a bill of particulars to a divorce action filed by him in Common Pleas Court. The couple was married in 1901 and separated in September, 1928. Livingston avers that Mrs. Livingston told "the landlady" at 254 Parker street, that she was married to Humbert in October, 1928. It is also alleged that Mrs. Livingston and Humbert went on a trip to Baltimore in April, 1929.

MOTHER SAVES BABY IN FIRE

Mrs. Catherine Perrot rushed from her burning dwelling at 3235 Parkview avenue, Oakland, today with her son, Jimmie, aged 4, in her arms.

She then returned, aroused her husband, Charles Perrot, and he carried out their son, Charles Perrot, Jr., aged 3.

The fire started in the kitchen of the first floor, occupied by Mrs. Margaret Brennan, an employe of Morals Court, who was not at home when the fire started in the kitchen of her apartment.

The blaze was confined to the kitchen of the Brennan apartment and the Perrot's living room on the second floor. Battalion Chief Frank Harris estimated the damage at $300.

SLEEP WITHOUT DRUGS SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST

Former Battle Creek Sanitarium Physician States Amazing Flaxolyn Discovery Relieves Constipation Condition Naturally and Brings Sound, Restful Sleep by Perfecting Digestion.

Thousands of people here who formerly suffered nights of sleeplessness and days of agonizing stomach distress due to constipation, now feel fit, eat with keen appetites and sleep serenely since taking Nature's own formula, Dr. Lunt's Herbal Flaxolyn.

According to the statement issued by Dr. A. W. Herr, formerly physician at the Battle Creek Sanitarium, "Flaxolyn relieves in a natural way that dreaded condition called constipation. In many cases where auto-intoxication prevented sleep, the use of Flaxolyn has been the means of so cleansing the colon that natural sleep is now the usual thing and life has taken on a different meaning for these people."

Dr. Geo. Starr White, prominent Los Angeles health writer, and specialist, aroused kidney and stomach sufferers by taking an open stand in praise of Flaxolyn when he said just week, "I know of no remedy that can equal Herbal Flaxolyn as a corrective for 'self poisoning' due to constipation."

Dr. Benedict Lust, (M. D., N. D.), president of the American Naturopathic Association, says: "Flaxolyn is a natural food-laxative and priceless in all digestive ills."

That is the unique feature of Flaxolyn—it is a remarkable

Tonic-Laxative, Not a Drug

Hundreds of other doctors and health sanitariums all over the world have used Flaxolyn in the treatment of such symptoms as dizzy spells, liver disorders, indigestion, sleepless nights, kidney and bladder troubles and have already written in praise of Flaxolyn.

Don't wait. Start taking Flaxolyn today. Does not gripe, because it is a natural food. You will feel the tonic change at once. You will enjoy renewed vigor, a new grip on life.

Flaxolyn is sold in boxes containing many treatments at $1.00 postpaid, and may be obtained from all leading druggists. Flaxolyn is sold by all MAY DRUG CO. STORES all over Greater Pittsburgh, and your own neighborhood druggist.

The pleasant new Vitaminized Herbal

FLAXOLYN

Made after the open formula of Dr. Harris H. Luntz (M.D., D.O.) Your instinct tells you that the following herbs contained in liquid Flaxolyn, are good for you.

1. Baked Flaxseed — Relaxes constipation; acts as astringent.
2. Sarsaparilla Roots — The good old-fashioned system cleanser.
3. Buchu Leaves — Purify, stimulate kidneys and bladder.
4. African Ginger Roots—Quicken flow of vital digestive juices.
5. Aloes—A wonderful tonic.
6. Cardomom Seeds—Act on the stomach lining. Aromatic tonic.
7. Chinese Rhubarb — Invigorates stomach and liver.
8. Spanish Licorice Roots—Remove mucus that may clog and poison digestive organs.
9. Culver Roots — Stimulate natural bile-flow; so purify liver.
10. Gentian Roots — Create healthy, normal appetite.
11. Belgian Valerian Roots—Tone nerves and induce restful sleep of health.
12. California Bark — Cleanses colon and removes foreign matter from intestines.

Two Badly Hurt In Skid of Auto

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Miss Mary E. Boland, of Sharon, suffered lacerations of the head and body bruises, and her companion, Stuart Rankin, of Sharon, was painfully bruised in an automobile accident near here. The car, bearing the two students of Westminster College from Sharon to New Wilmington, skidded from the highway near West Middlesex and crashed into a concrete abutment.

Kin of Lincoln And Boone Dies In Texas

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—William Russell Lincoln, 65, third cousin of Abraham Lincoln, died at his home here recently, it became known. He was a great grandson of Capt. Hananiah Lincoln, of the revolutionary days, and a distant cousin of Daniel Boone.

Dainty House Dress

Pattern 1824

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS.

The square neck, the trimming of white jabot and banding, and the cleverly placed pockets, combine to create a house dress that is unusually good looking and becoming. Two pleats find their way from the pockets to give plenty of swing and grace to the skirt.

Design 1824 is fashioned of dotted cotton fabric-gingham, percale, broadcloth or dimity. White pique is used for the trimming. If one perfers a solid color to a print, we suggest making the trimming of a darker tone.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3⅛ yards of 36-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

The NEW WINTER FASHION BOOK is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

Needless Pain!

Nowadays, people take Bayer Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works!

And Bayer Aspirin tablets are utterly harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to Bayer Aspirin for relief.

Bayer Aspirin is always available, and it always helps. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a lot of needless suffering.

BAYER ASPIRIN

Coughs

ACTIVE, frisky little bodies—bubbling with stored-up energy—heedless of cold—indifferent to small discomforts—it seems incredible that they should ever tire—or lose zest for play—or become a prey to any kind of germ.

Yet how easily even these same healthy, resilient little bodies are exhausted by a cough! How quickly they lose weight—their rosy color leaves them.

That is why mothers are so fearful of a cough. For coughing uses up her youngsters' energy more quickly than almost any other bodily exertion.

And doctors advise: Check Coughs At The Start. Don't Let Them Weaken You. Pertussin brings quick relief because it gets at the immediate cause. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritation and quiets the cough, yet it is entirely harmless. That's why it is safer to use Pertussin.

Unlike many other cough remedies, it contains no dope or harmful drugs. Doctors have prescribed Pertussin more often than any other advertised cough remedy.

NEVER TOO TIRED!

REMEMBER: Don't let a cough hang on. Keep a bottle of Pertussin handy at all times. It will bring prompt and safe relief for the coughs of every member of the family. It will not disturb digestion or upset the stomach. Sold by all druggists.

THIRD DISEASED PARROT SOUGHT HERE

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

Dick Powell,
Mas. of C'monies,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Listen:

IT'S painful to say a good word for a master of ceremonies, but it's a relief at the same time. As organizer of the Association Opposed to the Existence of Masters of Ceremonies we've been panning them so long that we feel the day is incomplete if we can't inform somebody that Soandso should be playing the lumber camps.

You appear to be an exception. What amazes Sidewalks is that the men are all for you. Of course, the flappers are, but that's taken for granted. The master of ceremonies who doesn't win the flappers has two strikes against him before the overture starts.

The males are in your corner just as much for what you don't do. They say that you don't steal the spotlight, don't insist that all the acts get a great big hand, don't take 10 minutes to announce an act and don't have your name printed all over your car, if you drive a car.

Even Larry Jacob, who is a hard guy to please when he's not writing press blurbs, is one of your boosters. Larry said you realized you weren't the world's great showman and were satisfied to do only those things of which you were capable, you old crooner, you.

We're putting you on the immunity list, which means you're safe from prosecution by the Association Opposed to the Existence of Masters of Ceremonies. In fact, we may make you a member.

SIDEWALKS.

P. S.—Regards to the megaphone.

Modest and quiet, Mr. Galloway makes what is for him a lengthy speech on a postcard to his friend, Max Henrici: "Just back here (Havana, Cuba) after a 5,000-mile trip about the Carribbean single-handed in a little yawl. Hope everything is going well in Pittsburgh."

HE WAS a song and dance man, brought back to Pittsburgh by the police for an old bill. He was tossed into the

Nicholsons Attend Party After First Quarrel

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Happiness and love have remained steadfastly with Tom and Lovejoy Nicholson during their first year of married life. The arrival of Tom, Jr., brought more joy to the little green bungalow. Then comes Mrs. Aline Alderson, rich but childless neighbor, to sow the first seeds of discontent. When Tom refuses to go to the Aldersons' New Year's party, Lovejoy is incensed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VIII.

THE quarrel had been coming on for weeks.

It had been coming on like a gathering storm, ever since the first day that Mrs. Alderson had set foot in the little house . . . Mrs. Alderson, with her clothes and her diamonds. With her light-hearted freedom and her pity for poor stay-at-home Lovejoy.

And now—like a storm—the quarrel broke over them.

They had been having their early supper. Lovejoy had only a mouthful or two.

But she had all she wanted.

She pushed her plate violently away from her, upsetting her glass of water, and stood up.

"Yes, and you can sit there, trying to look surprised, all you want to!" she rapped out. "But you know perfectly well that I lead the dullest, roottenest, gloomiest life that anybody leads anywhere, Tom Nicholson."

Tom's face didn't change. It kept its look of amazement and hurt and helplessness—the helplessness that a man always feels when the woman he loves suddenly turns on him.

"Good lord, Lovejoy," he said, and there was no anger in his voice. "I'm giving you every nickel I make. I'm doing everything that I can do to make you happy—"

"The dickens you are," Lovejoy snapped him up. "The first thing I've asked you to do for me in months—to go to this party with me—you calmly refuse to do. You can't afford to give me any amusement yourself, and you won't let me have any when it's offered free. . . . You're away from the house all day, seeing people and having a good time . . . and you never think of me here with nobody to talk to but the baby and the grocer and the man who comes for the rubbish—"

She turned from the table, pulling the cloth with her, as she turned. A plate crashed to the floor.

At the sound of it, she jumped and then burst into a storm of sobbing. She stood against the wall, laid her face on it and cried like an angry child.

"Lovejoy, you know I don't have a good time all day. You know I work like a horse all day and every day," Tom's voice came to her through the noise she was making. "And you know things aren't always going to be this way with us, sweetheart."

He came from his side of the untidy little table that had been so pretty three minutes before, and put his arms around her.

"We aren't always going to be poor," he whispered into her hair, his lean, hard cheek against his wife's wet, quivering one. "In another six or seven years we'll be sitting pretty."

"Six or seven years," sobbed Lovejoy, pushing him away from her. "Six or seven years . . . What good will that do me? I'll be 30 in six or seven years. . . . I want some fun now. Now, now, now! Do you hear me?"

"I'd be deaf as a post if I didn't," Tom answered, angry now himself. "Do you realize that you're screaming like a fish-wife? Lovejoy, what's really the matter with you? You're not raving like this just because of one party. There must be some other reason."

She raised her wet, flaming face to him.

"Oh, I've told you I'm sick and tired of all this!" she told him, her sobs sinking lower and lower. "Look at this place! Look at these tiny rooms that other people have lived in . . . people as poor as we are, I suppose. Even the furniture isn't ours . . . Not even those dishes on the table . . . And here I'm stuck . . . in this hole."

She stopped crying and looked around the humble little place with eyes that seemed to see it for the first time . . . There was a grease spot on the dining room table that had been there before they took the house. The cretonne cover of one of the chairs was worn into a big hole. The cord was gone from one of the window shades.

"This is a fine place for me to wind up my career," she said bitterly. "I'd always imagined that when I got married I'd have a decent house and a car of my own and know some nice people. And now the very first chance we have to make some decent friends, you refuse to take it . . . Well, I'm going to that party tomorrow afternoon, with or without you . . ."

She broke off, all at once, her face working again and tears coming into her eyes.

"Oh, Tom, why are you so mean to me?" she wept, sinking to the floor.

"Mean to you?....Oh, my Aunt Maggie!" said Tom.

He leaned over her, pulled her to her feet and into his arms.

"Mean to you?" he repeated. "Why I'd lay my life down for you....I'll even go to the dogoned party with you tomorrow."

He held her close to him until her sobs stopped, her face buried in his neck and her arms around him.

And so they made up their first real quarrel.

Lovejoy, in her old black broadcloth suit and her year-old black velvet hat, felt very shabby when she and Tom rang the Aldersons' front door-bell that next afternoon.

It was a cold gray day with a sky that looked like steel plate, and a high wind that made the dead leaves and bits of paper dance like elves along the gutters.

Lights twinkled behind all the windows of the Aldersons' house. And the minute Lovejoy stepped into the big white-panelled hall the warmth and fragrance of summer seemed to fill her nostrils.

Through a doorway at the left of the hall she could see a wood fire burning in a big grate, and the room itself seemed to be filled with pink roses.

"Oh, there you are! Happy New Year!" Mrs. Alderson's voice greeted her, as she and Tom stood uncertainly in the door-way.

She was standing just inside the crowded room, slim and blond in a black velvet dress. Beside her, towering above her, was a very tall broad man with gray hair and humorous kind gray eyes.

"Mrs. Nicholson, my husband," said Mrs. Alderson, introducing him.

But her blue childlike gaze on Tom's face as she spoke.

"I feel as if I know you," she said to him. "I've seen you so

TRAFFIC AIDED BY CAB STRIKE

The absence of cruising cabs, due to the strike of taxicab company employes, has improved traffic conditions, Traffic Inspector Ben Marshall said today.

Some of the former taxi riders, Marshall said, are now using their own automobiles, but the number has not been sufficiently great to make any appreciable impression on conditions.

That most people who had used cabs are turning to the street cars and buses, was the statement of Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president of the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

Monday, according to railways figures, three additional buses were placed in service during the morning peak in the Wilkinsburg-East Liberty routes, and five during the evening rush hour.

A corresponding increase in street car and bus service was noted for Tuesday and yesterday, although, it was pointed out, all of the company schedules were followed out.

ASK NEW ROAD AT WEST VIEW

West View council, at its meeting this week, decided to ask the county to build a new road connecting Center avenue, West View, with the new Perry highway, a distance of 150 feet. The proposed link is in Ross Township.

A petition was presented by property owners for paving 600 feet of the north end of Lakewood avenue.

The Citizens Trust Company, of Bellevue, was selected as the depository of borough funds for 1930.

Falls on Store Floor, Asks $15,000

Asserting that she slipped on a soapy and greasy floor, while the store floor was being cleaned, Julia Johnston and her husband, David Johnston, have sued the Norman Jewelry Company, of 319 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, for $15,000 damages. It is alleged that she hurt her spine and back in the fall.

Daughters of Rich Man Sought as Rum Runners

STRAFFORD, Pa., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Police announced last night that they were searching for two young daughters of a well-to-do Lancaster County farmer on charges of rum running.

They were said to be Marie Duttner, 19, and her sister, Violet, 17. Police were reported to be guarding their home in Shoeneck, a small village near Ephrata, and authorities of Philadelphia, Norristown and Harrisburg have been asked to aid in the search.

Two Men Arrested For Hill Robberies

Police at the Center Avenue station today are holding Jerome Smallwood, 23 and Otis Nuisance, 22, Negroes of North Caroline, who they say are responsible for numerous robberies in the Hill district. The men were arrested early today at Wylie avenue and Fullerton street by Lieut. William J. Lavery.

According to Lieut. Lavery, the pair have admitted that they have staged several holdups recently. They also admit, police say, to smashing store windows and removing articles left on display.

RULING FAVORS ONE-MAN CARS

Members of the Legislature who led the fight against one-man cars at the last session expressed the opinion today that their campaign has received a setback by a recent decision in the United States Court for the Western District of Louisiana.

In that case the court enjoined the city of Shreveport from enforcing ordinances against the use of one-man cars. The decision was the latest move in a 23-year fight waged against one-man cars by Shreveport.

Representative George F. Howe, of Clairton, who presented an anti-one-man car bill at the last session, expressed the opinion that the Louisiana decision would act as a setback, although he declined to express any definite opinion until he has an opportunity to read the entire decision.

"As I understand the Shreveport case, the United States Court herely granted an injunction," he said. "It is possible that the city authorities there will appeal. If the decision stands, however, it will tend to act as a precedent in such cases. It is entirely possible that, by the time the entire Louisiana case is completed, it will have considerable effect on future legislation in Pennsylvania."

PET HUNTED IN FIGHT ON MALADY

Bird Bought at Same Shop As 2 Which Caused Death And Illness, Maits Believes

Belief that somewhere in Pittsburgh there is a third parrot suffering from psittacosis, or "parrot fever," was expressed today by Dr. C. B. Maits, city health director, investigating the strange malady which has caused one death and the serious illness of two other persons in this district.

This bird, Dr. Maits believes, was bought about Christmas time from the same pet shop that supplied the one believed to have been responsible for the death last Saturday of Mrs. William Shields, of Freeport. A second parrot has been traced to Zanesville, O., where Mrs. Elmer Gray who also became ill. Her ailment was diagnosed as influenza, however, and she has recovered.

Dr. Charles A. Rogers, of Freeport, who attended Mrs. Shields, said today that the condition of her daughter, Elaine, 18, was "not good," and that there was nothing alarming in the condition of Mary Walker, 9, who lives at the Shields home. They are both suffering of psittacosis, Dr. Rogers said.

Confirming the report of local physicians, Dr. J. Moore Campbell, chief of the Pennsylvania State Bureau of Communicable Diseases, today stated that "parrot fever" or psittacosis had caused the woman's death. When news of the case was first received at the state office in Harrisburg, F. E. Coughlin, an epidemologist of the State Health Department, was sent to Freeport.

Coughlin's report stated that the daughter and grandchild of Mrs. Shields are ill with the fever and that there is no doubt that the disease was transmitted by a parrot, which also died.

WOMAN HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Mrs. George Allenberg, of Millertown, sustained a possible fracture of the shoulder and her husband and daughter escaped injury when an automobile in which they were riding collided with that occupied by August Gereck and John Zadarasick, both of Natrona, at Sixth avenue and Lock street, Tarentum, late last night.

Zadarasick was arrested by Sergt. W. J. Hazlett of Tarentum police on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Gereck became argumentative at the borough police station, Sergeant Hazlett said, and was lodged in the lockup on a drunk and disorderly conduct charge.

Mrs. Allenberg's injuries were attended at the Tarentum Municipal Building by Dr. James Harriman. She was taken to her home later.

Insurance Company Holds Sales Meet

H. T. Burnett, manager of the Western Pennsylvania department of the Reliance Life Insurance Company, presided at the second annual sales congress of the Western Pennsylvania department of the company held yesterday in the William Penn Hotel. More than 200 Pittsburgh representatives were in attendance. A dozen speakers gave talks on insurance sales and the different phases of the insurance business.

Clairton Furnace Bridge Being Built

A 12-gross ton ore bridge is being constructed in the Clairton plant of the Carnegie Steel Company by the Dravo Contracting Company, it was announced today by company officials. When completed the bridge will cost approximately $300,000 and it will replace two 20-year-old structures in supplying three furnaces with raw materials.

Preaching Mission During Pentecost

The nineteen hundredth anniversary of the Pentecost will be observed by North Side Methodist Episcopal churches with a preaching mission which opens in the North Avenue Church Sunday. The principal speaker will be Dr. Francis E. Warne, of New York. Special music will be furnished by choirs of the various churches.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Today is the tenth anniversary of prohibition. What progress has it made in these 10 years?

ELEANOR HANSON, general secretary of the Family Welfare Association of Allegheny County: "The progress of prohibition is almost unmeasurable. I have been with the Family Welfare Association for 20 years and know that before prohibition more than 50 per cent of our work was caused by drunkenness. Today we find almost no poverty due to drinking intoxicating liquor. Enforcement and not modification is what we need."

Miss Hanson

JOHN DIMLING, business man: "I cannot see where or how prohibition has made any progress. It seems to me that there is as much drinking going on now as ever before. Almost everybody will agree that the stuff people are drinking today is an absolute menace to health. Much of our crime can be laid at the door of prohibition—even many murders. A difficult task confronts any government which attempts to enforce a law or code of laws that have proven unpopular. It is almost an impossible task when one considers that many of the individual states make little or no effort to aid in enforcement."

John Dimling

THE REV. D. E. CRUEA, Pittsburgh superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League: "In July, 1919, Western Pennsylvania has 36 distilleries. Today we have none. July, 1919, Western Pennsylvania had 36 warehouses where bonded whisky was stored. Today we have three. July, 1919, Western Pennsylvania had 42 breweries. Today you'll find 12 in operation producing cereal beverages by government permission. Would anybody in the face of these facts dare to claim we are not making progress? Ninety per cent of the people are neither drinking systematically nor trying to drink."

Rev. Cruea

VIOLET M. RANDALL, in charge of relief department in Allegheny County for Salvation Army: "Before prohibition the greater part of our work was dealing with habitual drunkards. Many of them were men who had families and, therefore, the families suffered. Now it is different. Only a very few cases of this character are brought to my attention. The heavy drinking today is being done by younger men who have no families to support and little responsibility to assume. Of course, there are many places that sell moonshine whisky, but that is no reflection on prohibition. It is on enforcement. Yes, progress is being made."

Miss Randall

LOUIS A. WALL, former bartender: "Before prohibition I tended bar for 37 years in the best houses. I served drinks to hundreds of men every day—good drinks, too. In those days we didn't sell intoxicants to 'kids,' but they buy them now—buy them in dives that the 'soaks' in those days would not enter. Youngsters are drinking poison and it's setting them crazy. What or who is to blame? Prohibition. Prohibition itself is advertising drinking. When there were open saloons drinking was confined to men who enjoyed their beer, wine or whisky. Now, after 10 years, everybody seems to think it something of a duty to get drunk. No progress has or ever will be made by prohibition."

L. A. Wall

R. V. BINGAY, president, Stove and Range Company of Pittsburgh: "In 10 years prohibition has proved itself unworthy of the vast sums spent in attempting to enforce it. No progress can be made when one class of the people force their dogmatic practices upon those of another class. Prohibition is no great problem. Let those who desire to drink do so and those who wish to refrain do so. We are making a dangerous national issue from something that deserves no attention, while real problems are going to the board."

'King of Newsboys' Dies; Thousands Here Mourn

William Rosenberg, 52, "king of the newsies" for a quarter of a century, died this morning in St. Francis Hospital.

A thousand newsboys started on their business careers under his direction.

A hundred thousand men and women, the rich and the humble, knew him by face and name.

Hundreds of cripples, beggars and city's poor knew his beneficences. He knew the physicians who would treat the sick patiently—and at his expense very often sent afflicted boys to them.

HEADED AGENCY

And the boys will tell of many kindnesses he performed quietly.

Starting as a newsboy, he displayed keen business ability and finally became head of the general agency for the seven Pittsburgh newspapers then in existence here. He directed the business until a few years ago, when he became identified with the Post-Gazette exclusively.

PNEUMONIA VICTIM

Becoming ill a week ago, he was taken to the hospital with pneumonia. He was a native of Pittsburgh and prominent in many fraternal organizations.

He leaves two brothers, Nathan, with the Pittsburgh Bureau of Highways and Sewers, and three sisters, Mrs. Sara Harris, Mrs. Tillie Westerman and Mrs. Lillie Costman.

Funeral services will be held from the residence of Mrs. Westerman, 6350 Walnut street, at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in the Beth Homedrish A Godol Cemetery, McKees Rocks.

CLARK TO ISSUE NEW ORDER AGAINST JAY-WALKING

CUTS IN BUDGET RESPONSIBLE FOR ACTION

Councilman Charges Former Plan Ignored; No Action on Appropriation

"We need a jay-walking city and corner policemen should be ordered to call pedestrians' attention to the traffic signal lights," Robert Garland declared today at a meeting of Council's Budget Committee.

Safety Director James M. Clark, who was present at the meeting, said a general order had been issued some time ago.

"Well, there's not a corner policeman in the city paying any attention to the order," Garland said.

Clark promised to issue another order and Garland said "Have it enforced."

The discussion was prompted during Council's consideration of a request from the Bureau of Traffic Planning for $17,500 to educate the public in safety measures. No action was taken on the requested appropriation.

Burton W. Marsh, traffic engineer, explained that the city had printed a few years ago about 15,000 cards containing suggestions to pedestrians for crossing busy intersections. The cards were given to policemen for distribution to pedestrians.

Marsh declared the bureau intended continuing the educational campaign, and Garland made his observation about jay-walkers.

Council increased the bureau's request for an appropriation for automobiles and trucks from $4,186 to 5,000.

MOTHER OF 24 WEDS AGAIN

When a woman has had 24 children, adopts two more and gets a divorce from the father of them, one would not blame her if she no longer wished to say "I do."

Mrs. Edward Yeager, of 325 Fourteenth street, Ambridge, is an exception.

She is the mother of 24 offspring, 11 living, to her first husband, Oliver White, whom she married 32 years ago and from whom she gained a divorce last October. She has just married Edward Yeager, also divorced.

Since her marriage to Yeager, an employe of Ambridge Borough, seven of their 11 children make their home with the bride mother and groom stepfather. The bridegroom was married and divorced 30 years ago but has no children living.

Even if Mrs. Yeager has had 17 boys, seven girls and two adopted children, she still looks young and can summon forth a blush when the new husband is the topic of conversation.

Bottle Falls From Truck, Hurts Girl

A pop bottle hurtling from a truck at South Fifteenth and Carson streets, struck Miss Betty Warman, of 2111 Pine street, on the knees, bruising them last night. She was treated by a nearby physician. The bottle fell as the truck hit a bump.

Blind Pair Saved From Jail by Friend

Anthony Davis, 50, and his wife, Louise Davis, 41, both blind, elected to spend 10 days in jail rather than pay fines of $10 each imposed in Morals Court today by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones when police testified they were begging without a city license.

"Here is my permit," Davis told the magistrate, as he pointed to his closed eyes.

M. A. Dunn, member of the legislature, and also blind, paid their fines.

EX-BURGESS OF CRAFTON DIES

James B. Safford, 87, former Burgess of Crafton, is dead today in his home at 95 Crafton avenue, that borough. He was a retired railroad official, having been superintendent of the Pittsburgh, Chartiers and Youghiogheny Railroad for many years. He was at one time president of the First National Bank of Crafton.

Mr. Safford was born in Watertown, N. Y., and moved to Crafton 36 years ago. He served two terms as burgess. He was a member of the borough council from 1895 to 1902.

He was a Civil War veteran. Mr. Safford was founder of Crafton Lodge No. 653, F. and A. M., and had been a thirty-second degree Mason since 1888.

AUTO CONTEST ENDS TODAY

Today is printed the last of the series of 10 puzzles in the Automobile Show Contest, sponsored by the Sun-Telegraph.

Contestants after finishing this last puzzle will place the list of their solutions, each day's solution being on a different page, in an envelope and mail them to the Sun-Telegraph, 612 Grant street, or bring them in person. They must be in the hands of the Auto Show Contest editor before midnight tomorrow.

Along with the solutions should be a sheet of paper with the contestant's name, address and slogan picked by him as most descriptive of the 1930 Automobile Show. The contestant's name should be on each of the 11 sheets.

If any of the earlier puzzles have been lost or mailed before the end of the contest, those issues may be obtained by calling at the Sun-Telegraph.

Names of the winners will be published as soon as possible, together with the prizes they were awarded.

Dope Ring Fugitives Lodged in Jail Here

William J. Burns, 24, and his wife, Pearl, 23, were lodged in the county jail today. Arrested in Uniontown, they were indicted last March in Erie as members of a dope ring charged with conspiracy to violate the Harrison anti-narcotic act, and have been fugitives since.

DR. LITCHFIELD BURIAL IN MASS.

Funeral services for Dr. Lawrence Litchfield, who for almost 50 years was a prominent practicing physician here, will be held tomorrow afternoon in Philadelphia. Dr. Litchfield died suddenly yesterday in the home of his brother-in-law, Ira Jewell Williams, in Philadelphia. He will be buried from the Williams home and interment will be in Marshfield Hills, Mass., on Saturday.

Dr. Litchfield was a leader in medical circles. He retired from practice here a month ago and went to live in Philadelphia. He had traveled extensively in Austria and Vienna and other European medical centers, and had written numerous articles on medicine. During the World War he was a commander major in the Red Cross and was chief of the medical service at Camp Lee, Va., and at Camp Grant, Illinois.

HARVARD GRADUTE

He was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., and was educated at Harvard University and the Harvard Medical School, from which he graduated in 1885. He also studied at the Bellevue Hospital Medical College of New York University. He began practicing in Pittsburgh in 1889. He was a staff physician at the West Penn Hospital, the Pittsburgh Hospital and the Pittsburgh Hospital for Children, and consultant at the Pittsburgh Eye and Ear Hospital, St. John's Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital.

LED STATE SOCIETY

He served as president of the Pennsylvania State Medical Society for several years, and was a member of the Association of American Physicians. He also was former president of the Pittsburgh Academy of Medicine, the Allegheny County Medical Society and the College of Physicians of Pittsburgh. He also was a member of the executive committee on the International Tuberculosis Congress in 1908, and the International Congress of Hygiene and Demography in 1910.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ethel Herr Jones; a son, Thomas Litchfield; two daughters, the Baroness Van Boetzelaer and Miss Margaret Litchfield; a brother, Lucius Carver Litchfield, of New York, and a sister, Mrs. Myra French, of Ripley, N. Y.

AUTO SHOW CONTEST

$300 PRIZES

Best slogans and finding of errors to be rewarded with cash in gold.

(The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph co-operating with the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, is donating these prizes for the best answers and slogans).

HERE is the Sun-Telegraph Automobile Puzzle Contest, based on passenger cars to be exhibited in the forthcoming annual Automobile Show to be held at Motor Square Garden, January 18 to 25, inclusive.

Three separate puzzle pictures, in each of which will be concealed the name of an automobile and in each of which the artist has made at least 10 errors will be published for 10 days in the daily and Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

Readers of the Sun-Telegraph are invited to find the names of the automobiles and five of the artists' 10 errors in each puzzle and send them to the Auto Show Contest Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, 612 Grant street, together with a good slogan, descriptive of the Automobile Show. YOU MUST SEND ALL YOUR ANSWERS AT THE SAME TIME IN ONE ENVELOPE AT THE COMPLETION OF THE CONTEST. ACCURACY, NEATNESS AND CLEVERNESS OF SLOGAN WILL BE CONSIDERED IN AWARDING THE PRIZES.

Prizes totaling $300 in gold and 200 show tickets are to be awarded the winners in the contest. Be sure to put your name and address with the slogan at the top of the first page. Your name should appear on each page you send in.

The final pictures will be published January 16. All answers must be in the hands of the Auto Show Contest Editor no later than midnight Friday, January 17. The winners will be announced at the Automobile Show, Monday evening, January 20 and in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph on January 21

Your slogan must accompany the answers. It may be either rhyme or prose and should be applicable to the Automobile Show. It must be short, snappy and clever. Remember it is an important factor in deciding the winners.

Any person is eligible to enter this contest, except employes of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph or members of their families.

CONTESTANTS ARE NOT TO SEND IN THEIR ANSWERS UNTIL THE COMPLETION OF THE CONTEST, AND THEN ALL PUZZLES MUST BE MAILED IN THE SAME ENVELOPE AT THE SAME TIME. ANSWERS SHOULD BE SUBMITTED IN THE FOLLOWING MANNER. ELEVEN SHEETS OF PAPER WILL BE NECESSARY. ON THE FIRST SHEET MUST APPEAR THE CONTESTANTS NAME, ADDRESS AND THE SLOGAN ON THE REMAINING SHEETS WILL APPEAR THE CONTESTANT'S NAME AND THREE SEPARATE PARAGRAPHS, EACH ONE DEVOTED TO ONE OF THE PUZZLES WHICH APPEARED ON EACH DAY. THE NAME OF THE CAR, FOUND IN THE PICTURE MUST BE LISTED AND UNDER IT THE FIVE MISTAKES MADE IN THE DRAWING. MAIL IT SO THAT THE AUTO SHOW CONTEST EDITOR WILL RECEIVE IT NO LATER THAN MIDNIGHT, JANUARY 17, AT 612 GRANT STREET.

LIST OF PRIZES

For the best list of correct auto names, discovered mistakes, and the cleverest slogan, the following prizes will be awarded:

First prize—$100 in gold.

Second prize—$50 in gold.

Third prize—$25 in gold.

Five prizes of $10 each, $50 in gold.

Fifteen prizes of $5 each, $75 in gold.

And 100 prizes of two tickets each, good any afternoon at the Auto Show.

In case of ties, equal prizes will be awarded tying contestants.

OWNER FLEES DURING RAID

The owner of a club at 4748 Liberty avenue was being sought by prohibition agents today, following a raid on the place last night.

Twelve patrons were ordered into the street by the agents, who reported seizing several bottles of gin and whisky and destroying two barrels of beer. The identity of the proprietor, who was believed to have escaped during the raid, was learned from bills found behind the bar, the raiders revealed.

A home-brew plant was uncovered, agents said, in a raid on a dwelling at 1808 Forbes street, where Edwin Smith, 34, was arrested. Confiscation of 1,344 pints of home brew was reported in the house. Smith was released on his own recognizance.

C. L. Saxton, Realtor, To Be Issued License

C. L. Saxton will be issued a real estate broker's license, according to a decision announced today by Robert W. Semenow, director of the state real estate broker's license law. The complaint of Frank A. Weinstein against Mr. Saxton was dismissed by reason of insufficient evidence.

HEARINGS HELD ON VOTE ZONE CHANGES

Sub-Committees Gather Data In Wards for Placing Of Election Machines

The Redistricting Commission appointed by the court to divide the 31 wards of Pittsburgh into voting districts in which voting machines may be used, heard suggestions from residents of three wards at meetings of sub-committees last night. The commission will study the reports of last night's meetings and will meet next Monday afternoon to arrange for other hearings.

Chairman N. R. Criss, William H. Ziefel and Charles Flinn heard approximately 100 First Ward residents at a meeting in the court house. Crairman Criss pointed out that the sub-committee was only gathering data and hearing recommendations of citizens.

Another sub-committee composed of David L. Lawrence, George E. Meyers and Mortimer B. Lesher met residents of the Eleventh Ward at a meeting in Peabody High School. In the Twenty-first Ward, Attorney Haward Neely and Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., held a meeting in the Manchester school.

$10,000 ASKED IN ARREST

Amelia Olbeter, 316 Melwood street, alleges that R. W. Watkins and two others she does not know, who recently had her taken to the Court House in a patrol wagon, has brought suit against Watkins for $10,000 damages.

She claims that the defendant carried out a box of goods from the second floor of the Melwood street address and when she objected two men took hold of her and shook her. She defended herself and was then arrested, she claims, but later allowed to go. She says she was humiliated and as a result of the nervous shock to her system, brings the suit through her counsel, Robert L. Barrish. The woman says the entire action was unwarranted.

Playground Name Studied in Council

Council has asked the Department of Public Works to submit a recommendation on the Chartiers Board of Trade's request to designate "Dunbar Field" as the name of a playground to be created on land recently bought from James C. Dunbar.

Another request from the Board of Trade for a sidewalk on Crafton boulevard, between Noblestown road and Stratmore avenue, also was sent to the department for a recommendation.

Matisse Agrees to Serve On Next Art Jury

By PENELOPE REDD.

Pittsburgh gave Henri Matisse, grand pooh-bah of modern cosmopolite art, his first official honor in 1927. Matisse returns the compliment by making Pittsburgh the mecca of his first American pilgrimage.

Penelope Redd

He has resisted flattering invitations from New York and elsewhere, but accepts that of Carnegie Institute to serve on the jury for the next international exhibition in September of 1930.

To the layman at large Matisse is only another conventional subject for the rotogravures. To the art amateur, his coming is as exciting as the personal appearance of Greta Garbo would prove to motion picture devotees.

Like Garbo, Matisse is the cat that walked alone; but in the most precious of the Parisian art worlds.

Rumor and counter rumor flew about when Matisse received the first Carnegie Prize in 1927. Paris was as surprised as Pittsburgh, only that Pittsburgh had little taste for the celebrated prize eels.

It was reported that the accolade of the Carnegie prize had reconverted Matisse to the academic point of view and that he had rejected modernism in a statement to his students.

Matisse refuted this talk:

"In the first place, I have no pupils. I live here alone (in France), not tutoring anybody. Secondly, though I am considered a modernist, I have never abandoned the traditions of painting. I believe the present rumor was started by persons who feared or resented the reaction on American art when my 'Still Life' was unanimously awarded the first prize in the Carnegie exposition. My belief in painting, my ideal, is unchanged."

Now 60 years old, as a youth Matisse studied with the academic French teachers, copied old masters in the Louvre, flirted with the impressionist method, and ultimately became the leader of "Les Fauves," or "wild beasts," who dealt traditional painting a body-blow with the incoming of the lusty twentieth century.

ART BODY ASKS REED TO DROP MEASURE

Landmark Too Important For Shaft to Explorer, Only Transient Visitor Here

The Pittsburgh Art Commission has asked Senator David A. Reed to withdraw his bill appropriating $25,000 for a monument at the Point in Pittsburgh to George Rogers Clark, explorer and Revolutionary patriot.

Declaring that a memorial to Clark would be out of place at such an important historic landmark, and that the sum provided to be entirely inadequate to the purpose, the commission called attention that the Federal government could not appropriate money for improvements on land belonging to the city of Pittsburgh without first consulting the municipal authorities.

Senator Reed's bill, which, it was stated, was introduced and referred to the Senate Military Affairs Committee without consultation with either the state or city authorities, was seen by the commission for the first time yesterday. It was declared to be indefinite, out of place and its provisions were wholly inadequate to the importance of the site.

"For 20 years various commissions from other cities as well as many distinguished artists and sculptors have studied the site at the Point and the conclusion reached is that the spot should be reserved for a great international monument," said E. B. Lee, president of the Art Commission. "These studies have resulted in the drawing of many elaborate plans, but as yet none of these has measured up to the standard which this commission believes that Pittsburgh deserves. Moreover, there are many other figures in American history, and especially those connected with Western Pennsylvania, who should be recognized before any attempt to commemorate the deeds of George Rogers Clark, who was only a transient visitor here, spending not more than a few weeks in this region."

FIVE INDICTED FOR MURDER

Five persons were indicted for murder in true bills returned by the grand jury today.

James M. Kelly is charged with the murder of Peter McGann, 33, auto mechanic, of 2330 Reed street, shot to death November 21 at 1334 Fifth avenue. Vester Reed is charged with shooting Henry M. Singletary at 2232 Tustin street September 14 and Robert Williams is charged with being an accessory to the murder.

John C. Cook is charged with the murder of Columbus Benjamin, 54, of 1523 Liberty avenue, shot to death November 22. Three others: Othello Caprios, Albert Kimball and James McCrory are named as accessories.

Ned Branch is charged with the murder of Roy Kelly, 30, of 1221 Washington avenue, November 23, and Elizabeth Heffner, Negress, is charged with the murder of James Forsyne, 551 Lowell street, who was stabbed to death in his home December 9.

News From Hollywood and Notes About Coming Theater Bills

THURSTON RECALLS A STORY OF ROBERT MANTELL'S ABOUT A CONJUROR

By GEORGE SEIBEL

THE last time Robert Mantell was in Pittsburgh, a few months before he died, he met Howard Thurston for the first time. It was in the William Penn Hotel, after a performance of "Hamlet," and Mantell told a capital story about a conjuror.

Some where in England a magician was giving a performance, and two profane sailor men were watching him from the top gallery. The house was crowded, and they had to sit in the open window, where a parrot's cage hung between them.

George Siebel

They did not mind sitting in the open window, as they could smoke their pipes and empty their ashes down into the street.

They should not have done that, because there was an arsenal with a powder magazine across the street.

Nor should they have used the language they did, for the parrot heard it all.

Every time the conjuror performed some very remarkable feat, one of the sailors would say, "That was a damn fine trick. I wonder what he'll do next?"

Then a spark from a pipe fell into a barrel of powder and half the theater was blown into the air.

When the fire department came to the scene of the explosion, they found the parrot, all his feathers singed off, sitting mournfully among the smoking ruins. And the parrot said:

"That was a damn fine trick. I wonder what he'll do next?"

When Robert Mantell told the story to Thurston, two years ago, it was fine comedy, for "Hamlet" was a capital story teller.

Whenever a millionaire crosses the Styx, a mob of relatives appear on the scene, hoping that some of the treasure he could not take with him may be diverted into their pockets.

Stephen C. Foster did not die a millionaire, but he left a lot of treasure behind, and now a relative has turned up.

"Miss Lorraine Foster, a member of the composer's family, and founder of the Stephen Foster Society, will sing a program of Foster's songs."

So says an item in a New York paper.

But the members of Foster's family in Pittsburgh have never heard of Miss Lorraine.

It reminds me of a lecture on Shakespeare which I gave in New York City a few years ago. In the first row sat an old lady with an ear trumpet, the most attentive person in the audience.

After the lecture she introduced herself as a direct descendant of William Shakespeare, thus accounting for her interest in my discourse.

It would have been unkind to tell her that the line of Shakespeare became extinct in the third generation.

It would have been like telling her she had been dead for 300 years. So with Miss Lorraine Foster. Who would be cruel enough to tell her she may be related to the essayist, the architect, the judge, or the astronomer, or even the dissenting clergyman, but not to Foster, the composer?

Call Him 'Warrick'

Robert Warwick comes to the Pitt Theater next week as the guest star with George Sharp's Players in "Her Friend the King." And of course everybody will pronounce his name as if the first syllable was made up of battles, and the second syllable was part of an old-fashioned lamp.

The right way to pronounce it is "Warrick." That is the way the name of the famous "King Maker" is pronounced, and they wouldn't admit you into Warwick Castle if you hadn't the orthodox orthoepy.

Robert Warwick hasn't put forth any claim to be related to Guy or Richard, Edward or Henry—but just the same it will be well to remember that Warwick is "Warrick," just as Beauchamp is "Beecham" and Cholmondeley is "Chumley."

COHAN PLAYS AND REVUE COMING

Seats for "Sporting Blood," a new George M. Cohan production that is to be given at the Tuesday, Thursday and Friday matinees next week in the Nixon, are on sale and indications point to wide interest in the novelty of having two Cohan attractions in the same theater for the same week. Mr. Cohan's play, "Gambling," will be the regular feature.

Fodi Brown, prominent in the cast of "A Night in Venice," which returns to Pittsburgh for a week's engagement in the Alvin Monday night, will be remembered as the Madam Godam in the travesty on "Shanghai Gesture" in "Great Temptations." So cleverly did she satirize the characterization of Florence Reed that she was offered the part in the London production.

"Her Friend the King," which the George Sharp Players will offer in the Pitt next week, is a romantic comedy about the ruler of an imaginary kingdom. Robert Warwick will appear as guest star.

A FIVE-POUND DRESS

A beaded evening gown weighing almost five pounds is worn by Norma Talmadge in "New York Nights," her first talking picture, which comes to the Penn Monday. The costume is of French design. The supporting cast includes Gilbert Roland, Lilyan Tashman and Roscoe Karns.

Tiffany Productions, Inc., will make its Pittsburgh debut Saturday in the renovated Olympic, with "The Lost Zeppelin," an all talking drama of adventure and romance, as its feature.

To be called one of the best dressed girls in Hollywood is quite a distinction, as the film capital has become one of the style centers of the world in recent years. Sharon Lynn, one of the principals in "Sunny Side Up," which will go into its second week in the Aldine Monday, has the reputation of being one of Hollywood's style creators. She designs most of her own clothes, and consequently is always a jump or two ahead of the mode.

GARY COOPER FILM

Gary Cooper comes to the Stanley tomorrow in his first starring picture, "Seven Days Leave," which is all-talkigg. On the stage Dick Powell's Warner-Publix stage presentation will be "Ingenue's Gambol."

"Southland" with Victor Graff, will be the stage presentation in the Harris, beginning Saturday. The screen will offer "Rio Rita."

Alice White comes to the Enright tomorrow in her latest all-talking film, "Playing Around." On the stage Jay Mills will present "Crimson Blues."

SIGNS NEW CONTRACT

Richard Dix, who portrays the role of an author in George M. Cohan's mystery melodrama "Seven Keys to Baldpate," current film in the Sheridan Square, has signed a long contract with R-K-O and will play opposite Lois Wilson in his next vehicle.

"Sally," Marlyn Miller's first moving picture production, is current in the Warner.

La Garbo Displays Delightful Stare

THE evening La Argentina, famous Spanish dancer, gave her final terpsichore program in L. A., the flickites turned out in large quantities. Greta Garbo was the innocent cause of sundry necks running the risk of becoming crooked for life. Greta wore a mink coat, a plain fitting toque, and a simple frock. She came to applaud La Argentina and not to vie with her. The Garbo's utter oblivion to stares was delightful. Also in the audience

In pursuit of a laugh, a drone (male bee, if you'll forgive my boasting) was recruited to play a scene with Charlie Mack in "The Two Black Crows in the A. E. F." Male bees are less than henpecked husbands. They are born to be useless, to lay around the hive and to eat prodigiously. They can't even select a mate and set up light housekeeping. The queen bee does all the choosing.

Be that as it fay, a drone bee was corraled for a scene with Charlie Mack. An invisible thread was wound around its anatomy. A property-man held on to the other end of the string and thus succeeded in making buzzo a good camera hog. After dodging the bee for a few cranks of the camera, Mack slaps his hat over him and drawls into the Mike: "Dar you is. Now think it out in the dark."

The drone died shortly after its stupendous debut as a movie actor. In which, of course, there's a moral. . . .

Pence, Pound, Shilling on Set

MARION SHILLING is a lil' brunette who hails from St. Louis, Mo. Marion is 19 and never nursed any movie hopes whatsoever. Between school vacations, she used to play in her father's stock kumpny in St. Louis. The family traipsed West some months ago. Still, Marion didn't aspire to the flicks. It was John Lancaster, M. G. M. exek and mutual friend, who presuaded her to come to the studio and take a test for the lead in a film with Elliott Nugent. Marion thought it a joke, but she consented, and to her surprise corraled the part. She made several more outlouds for M. G. M. but is now grease painting, under the Tiffany banner, in a talky yclept "Cyclone Hickey," with Johnny Walker the "title" and Jimmy Gleason, his manager. Jimmy refers to Johnny as Mr. Pence and to himself as Mr. Pound when Miss Shilling is in the vicinity. Jimmy (Director) Flood also contributes his share of the kidding. Marion make a swell audience.

Hallie Stiles to Sing Prize-Winning Song

Hans Kindler, young cellist, and Hallie Stiles, soprano, will give the fourth Art Society concert in Carnegie Music Hall tomorrow night. Miss Stiles sang leading roles at the Opera Comique in Paris for three years. In her program here she will include the song which won the Martin B. Leisser Art Society prize of $100. It is entitled "Star Call," and was written by Oscar Helfenbein, Pittsburgh composer.

J. Fred Lissfelt In Opera Talk Tomorrow

J. Fred Lissfelt, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph music critic, will give an interpretative talk with piano illustrations on two of Richard Wagner's operas, "Siegfried" and "Gotterdammerung," tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the auditorium of Kaufmann's department store. There is no charge for admission.

These two operas, "Siegfried" and Gotterdammerung," will be presented by the German Grand Opera Company at the Syria Mosque Wednesday and Thursday, January 22 and 23.

Mr. Lissfelt is a personal friend of Siegfried Wagner, son of the famous composer, whom he expects to visit next summer during the Obergammergau festival.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

ANY TIME—ANYWHERE—THIS DELIGHTFUL INHALANT GIVES INSTANT RELIEF

If you want to relieve your colds the simplest, most pleasant way imaginable, use Vapex. Carry it with you wherever you go. Then, at the first irritation, put a drop on your handkerchief and breathe the delightful vapor. Swiftly, surely your cold breaks up—your head clears—sniffling stops. ... The Vapex vapor kills the germs of common colds. Vapex was discovered in England during a terrible war-time epidemic of influenza. Then, it kept chemists in a prominent laboratory immune to infection. Today Vapex is the accepted relief for colds in both Europe and America. . . . Use Vapex at night, too, if you are troubled with sleeplessness from a cold. Simply put a drop at each end of your pillow. While you sleep, Vapex fights the infection. . . . A bottle of Vapex costs only $1 and contains fifty applications. Each one lasts all day or all night. . . . Always insist on V-A-P-E-X in the trim white box with the green triangle at your druggist's. Don't expect the same results with cheaper imitations. . . . Distributed by E. Fougera & Co., Inc., New York.

Triple Action ends coughs FAST

Home from school with a bad cough

—Back in school the next day

"Will I ever forget the fright I had when Jane came home from school coughing, coughing—one cough right after the other. I put her to bed immediately and gave her a teaspoonful of Smith Brothers Cough Syrup every hour. "That night my little Jane slept peacefully. In the morning she smiled again—well as ever. I will be grateful all my life to Smith Brothers Cough Syrup .."—Mrs. A. Robeson.

Smith Brothers Triple Action Cough Syrup works so efficiently because 1. It soothes. 2. Is mildly laxative. 3. Clears air passages. Children like the flavor.

Made by the makers of Smith Brothers' Cough Drops Famous since 1847.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pittsburghers Entertain For House Guests at Dinner in Florida

EVEN though there's an early spring tang in the air these days, folks are going to desert the city for several months anyway for they prefer the blaze of the Florida sun to the fickle light of northern winter days.

Down at Palm Beach the season is becoming gayer and gayer. Luncheons and teas and dinners are numerous as well as golf matches and yachting parties.

The Thomas R. Cowells, who are at Palm Beach for the winter, entertained with a dinner in the Embassy Club Tuesday evening. And their house guests, Mrs. Mary Hanna and Harry Dumbell, were honored.

SPEAKING of dinners reminds me that Mrs. David K. Estes Bruce, the former Ailsa Mellon, was hostess at the dinner her father, Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, gave Tuesday night in Washington in honor of President and Mrs. Hoover.

And among the guests were Mr. Bruce and the Richard Beatty Mellons and the Howard Heinzes, of Pittsburgh.

ALTHOUGH most Pittsburgh folks go to Florida for the winter, a few prefer Pinehurst, N. C. The Norwood Johnstons and their daughter, Frances, who made her bow this winter, are there. They are often seen on the golf course and the bridle paths. Mr. Johnston shoots frequently at the gun club.

Augusta, Ga., attracts a number, too. The S. E. Hacketts and their son, Spencer, have arrived there. And a number of folks have winter homes there.

The land of cherry blossoms is beckoning to some folks. Mrs. John B. Booth and her daughter Marguerite, have left for Japan. And they'll visit China before returning home. They are planning to go to Minneapolis, Minn., Saturday and will sail January 25 from Seattle.

And Helen R. Smith, of Sewickley, will sail with the Booths. She has been in Pasadena, Cal.

Leaving for California are the Frank R. Dravos, the Ralph M. Dravos and Mrs. Charles Layng Doyle. And Palm Spring is the resort they've chosen.

AND news, a bit belated, to be sure, has reached us of the wedding of a former Pittsburgh girl. The Tom Mercer Girdlers, of Cleveland Heights, Cleveland, who left Sewickley before the holiday season, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Jane Belknap Girdler, to Alfred Carr Dicks, son of the J. A. Dicks, of Oak Park, Ill. The wedding took place on December 19 with only the immediate families and a few friends there. They will live in Chicago.

MR. AND MRS. MORGAN B. MILLER, of Heberton avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Amelia Martha Miller, to Bertrand Hunter Smyers, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand H. Smyers, of Bellevue. Miss Miller is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and Mr. Smyers is a graduate of the same university and of the law school of Duquesne University. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

HARVEY S. GARRETT, chairman of the entertainment committee at the Keystone Athletic Club, announces several entertainments for club members during the next three weeks. On Friday there will be a stag party in the club gymnasium; Tuesday, January 21, a woman's luncheon and bridge party, and the next day, a lecture by Count Felix Von Luckner, at 8:15 o'clock in the gymnasium.

MISS NELLIE ALLEN is chairman of a card party to be held January 23 in the Pittsburgh Hospital, Frankstown avenue, for the benefit of the Nurses' Home memorial fund.

MEMBERS of the Ladies' Gymnasium Class of the Keystone Athletic Club were entertained Tuesday at a bridge luncheon in the club. Covers were laid for 32 guests.

THE Cyrus entertainment committee, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a dance and card party in Sherodd Temple, Corliss, on Friday, January 24.

A CARD PARTY for the benefit of the Missionary Confraternity of Christine Doctrine will be held this evening in the auditorium of the St. Mary of Mercy Church, Third avenue and Ferry street. Cards will start promptly at 9 o'clock.

COURT SOUTH HILLS, No. 623, Catholic Daughters of America, will hold a card party in the Masonic Hall, Dormont, tonight.

B., R. & P. HEADS MEET HERE

The Quarterly Traffic Department staff meeting of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railway will be held tomorrow and Saturday, an announcement today said. Freight and passenger representatives of the company from all parts of the country will be in attendance.

The meeting is held to discuss various problems arising in the solicitation and the handling of traffic, and suggestions for betterment of the service. Sessions are held at various points served by the railroad to enable the representatives to become familiar with local conditions.

CHILD WELFARE OFFICIAL TALKS

Dr. C. C. Carstens, of New York, secretary of the Child Welfare League of America, addressed local welfare workers at a meeting yesterday in the Downtown Y. M. C. A. Dr. Carstens said that "the best place for a child, other factors being equal, is in its own home."

J. Rogers Flannery, chairman of the committee now directing a study of child welfare here, presided. About 125 local men and women were present. It was announced at the conclusion of the meeting that Flannery had been elected president of the National Association of the Travelers' Aid Society.

Macartney Scores 'Popular' Preachers

Clergymen who try to popularize church services by book reviews, motion pictures and discussions of current events and politics, were criticized by the Rev. Dr. Clarence E. Macartney, of the First Presbyterian Church, at the installation of his brother, Dr. Albert J. McCartney, as pastor of the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant in Washington yesterday. The brothers spell their name differently.

Dr. C. E. Macartney, former moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, stated that the minister who stuck to the gospel would be a lasting power.

Commercial Leaders Meet at Harrisburg

A. V. Snell, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and Frank J. Lanahan, a vice president, will speak at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Commercial Secretaries Association in Harrisburg tomorrow. With Donald J. Howard, manager of the inter-community division, and Mark W. Egan, manager of the conventions and visitors division, they were to attend a session late today of the eleventh annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce in Harrisburg.

Davis to Dedicate Home of Etna Elks

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis will be the principal speaker Saturday afternoon at the dedication of the new Elks' home on Locust street, Etna. Music will be furnished by the Pittsburgh Male Chorus and the Elks' Double Quartet.

Grand lodge officers will attend the dedication, which is to be held under the direction of Clarence E. Thompson, exalted ruler of Lodge No. 932, which constructed the building.

Fortnightly Hears Peace Pact Talk

ONE of the most interesting meetings of the season for the Fortnightly Review of Mt. Lebanon was that of yesterday afternoon which was addressed by Miss Sara Soffel. In one of her characteristically informative and clear-cut talks, Miss Soffel traced the background of the coming arms limitation conference in London and gave the history of the various pace pacts of the last 10 years. Patti Ruud Baldridge added several delightful contralto solos to the program, Mrs. Sylvia Hibbs McBeth accompanying her.

Later there was tea with Mrs. H. M. Patton, chairman of the program committee, and Mrs. J. S. Huey, head of the social committee, pouring, at the attractively decorated tea table. Spring flowers were used throughout Mrs. W. E. McKnight's home in Gaylord avenue where the meeting was held. Mrs. W. M. Bailey was assistant hostess.

NOTED DESIGNER PRESENTS INTRIGUING EVENING WRAP

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—The evening wrap may go to any length to achieve smartness, or it may reach distinction through a short cut. Never has the mode allowed such latitude in the choice of clothes, thus permitting us to be the arbiters of our sartorial destiny, besides encouraging the cultivation of good taste and a real expression of individuality. A coat with long straight lines, which lend themselves to the accompanying frock, whatever its design, is a very important consideration when one is unable to indulge in many wraps or dresses. When the wardrobe has to be restricted in quantity, do not let quality suffer. Choose conservative garments of good line and fabric and avoid as much as possible the whims and conceits of the mode however attractive they may appear at the moment, for they are only of the moment, and completely divulge almost to the month the date of your purchase. Clothes must always appear up-to-date, but should avoid the time clock, and this can be achieved by careful planning and good taste.

THE evening coat depicted here today is sumptuous and lovely, and it is of a style that could be worn at any time and command attention and admiration. It was made by Worth for Mrs. Honore Palmer, who recently sailed for America. It is of heavy ivory satin and is lined with black velvet. A huge colar and the deep border pointed at the sides are formed of silver fox, while vertical points of the same fur adorn the wide, shirred sleeves.

THE afternoon frock of black satin or crepe is to be found in every representative collection, and has quite taken the place of the more elaborate frock. It is more practical, infinitely smarter and is in keeping with the demands of the modern woman, who prefers to be well-dressed rather than elaborately dressed during the day. The frock shown here is from the interesting collection of Philippe et Gaston. It is of heavy black crepe satin with a gilet and turn-down collar of white georgette.

THE bodice, fitted in at the waistline by means of darts, dips in a point at the back, a clever effect to slenderize the hip width. Over the straight foundation is poised a slashed overskirt following the dipping line of the bodice. The sleeves are fitted in at the wrist, by means of darts similar to those used at the waistline.

Should this woman pay for her husband's sin?

ON HER wedding night she discovered the truth. She had been tricked—tricked into marrying a man who had no right to be her husband!

In terror and despair she fled—hoping that in some distant city she could forget and bury the grim past and its stigma of shame.

And then, after many months, she met Jim. Kindly, honorable Jim who offered her love, protection, respect. She knew at once that here was real love. But was it too late? Dare she accept this man's love, or should she fearlessly tell him the truth and face the consequences? She felt that even Jim, with all his sympathy, all his unselfishness, could never forgive what had happened.

What did she do? Did she hide her past and take the happiness that life owed her—or did she lose all by her startling confession? Read "Betrayed!" by Cynthia de Vinne, a dramatic story of modern love complete in this week's Love Story Magazine.

Many other absorbing stories in January 18th Issue

"Not For Married Men," by H. Thompson Rich, is the delightful story of a girl who poses as a married woman—and the surprising outcome when she falls in love, and has to present her mythical husband.

"Amy's Doctor," by H. A. Resner, is the captivating story of two girls, close friends, in love with the same man. How does he decide? What is the test of true love?

You will enjoy reading: "His Guiding Star," "Happiness Ahead," "Cupid Prescribes," "Polly And Her Playtime Girls," and the two current serial novels, "Star of the Sea," and "The Unwanted Bride." Also many fine features and beautiful love lyrics. Be sure to read this great issue!

What is your love problem?

WHAT would you do if your husband should fall in love with another woman? Or if you are single what would you do if your sweetheart left you? What kind of men do girls like? What kind of women do men fall in love with?

These are the kind of questions that Laura Alston Brown answers every week for hundreds of men and women, in her helpful department—"The Friend in Need." Do you want information, help? Laura Alston Brown is ready to aid you at all times.

No More Oily Skin

Makes old-looking, poor-color skin youthfully clear—refines away enlarged pores—corrects oily skin, dissolves blackheads

Cremed Magnesia corrects oily skin in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach

Poor-color complexions, oily skin and blemishes are due to acid-skin impurities. And, everybody knows there is nothing like magnesia to neutralize acid. So, when the face is massaged with cremed magnesia the skin throws off even the most deep-set pore impurities. It corrects oily skin in the same easy way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach.

Cremed magnesia rejuvenates the complexion so quickly that any face looks years younger in five minutes. It changes old-looking, poor-color skin to youthful clearness and fades out freckles better than a bushel of lemons. It's astringent; it reduces enlarged pores to the finest texture and smooths out the tell-tale lines of age.

It removes make-up better than soap or cleansing cream. And, because it's so mild, it's a blessing for fine, sensitive skin that soap so easily irritates and coarsens. Doctors urge their wives, patients and nurses to use nothing but magnesia to cleanse and beautify the complexion.

To get genuine cremed magnesia, ask for Denton's Facial Magnesia. When you use it you will at once see why druggists find it hard to supply the tremendous demand.

GUARANTEE

It's impossible for Denton's Facial Magnesia not to improve your complexion. But, should it fail to delight you, even after the very first application, your dealer is requested to refund your money at once without question.

DENTON'S CREMED

Facial Magnesia

NOTE: To keep the system free of acid impurities it is equally important to cleanse from within. Milnesia Wafers—Milk of Magnesia in palatable convenient tablet form—will neutralize excess acids, keep the system sweet and clean, and build the foundation of a good complexion. Full sized tin will be sent FREE. Milnesia Laboratories, Inc., Haviland Bldg., New York.

TAKE YOUR VITAMINS STRAIGHT AND KEEP YOUNG--STRONG--VIGOROUS

Gain in Health
Increase Your Energy
Banish Nervousness
Improve Your Complexion

You can't depend on your food to get your daily supply of Vitamins—you can't be sure you are getting them at all.

The one sure way to put vigor and vim into your tired run-down body is to take your Vitamins straight—in sugar coated tablet form.

There's nothing but Vitamins in McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets—precious Vitamins extracted from pure Vitamin tested Norwegian Cod Liver Oil.

When you take two of these wonder working tablets you get the equal of one full teaspoon of pure cod liver oil—you dodge entirely the repulsive, useless, greasy oil.

What a blessing to adult humanity—what a godsend to puny, poorly developed children—and especially to those who have signs of rickets.

Put your faith in McCoy's—you are sure of getting Vitamins A and D when you take these health promoting tablets—your physician knows that.

For every ailment or rundown, anemic condition for which cod liver oil is prescribed, McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are equally as good—we could not make this statement if it were not true. At druggists America over—precious but inexpensive—60 tablets 60 cents.

LODGE SEEKING $12,000,000

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Suit to recover $12,000,000 said to have been illegally expended by the national officers of the Modern Woodmen of America was started in the Circuit Court here by A. E. Rouland, president, and John M. McKissick, secretary of the Modern Woodmen's Protective Association.

In the bill of complaint, the leaders of the protective association declared that in connection with the establishment of new insurance rates by the society, the national officers paid agents to solicit the membership in violation of the Illinois law.

Charges in the suit set forth that the officers of the organization entered into a commission arrangement with solicitors who canvassed the membership when the new rates were announced.

The Supreme Court at the December session held the rate change was illegal but will give the matter further consideration at the February term.

RADIO JAM QUIZ ENDED HERE

His investigation of radio interference in Pittsburgh completed, W. J. Clearman, investigator for the Federal Radio Commission, left last night for Chicago, to take up another radio problem. Clearman declined to comment on his investigation here. He will make his report to government radio engineers next Thursday. The engineers will then report to the commission.

Radio trade associations of this city sent a joint resolution for better reception conditions to the Federal Radio Commission today. The resolution asks for increased power and a wider separation in wavelengths.

Fans want WJAS moved to a higher wavelength, which will put that station between WCAE and KDKA. It is possible that a high wave length of a Philadelphia station will be given WJAS in exchange for its present assignment of 232.4 meters, it was learned.

Rothstein Slayer Unknown to Crain

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—The new district attorney, Thomas C. T. Crain, does not know who killed Arnold Rothstein, he admitted in his promised statement in which he outlined the work he had done on the case since he assumed office January 1. It was pointed out today, however, that District Attorney Crain encourages those who may know the facts to talk but suggests the shooting may not have been intentional. This policy conceivably might lead to a solution of the case.

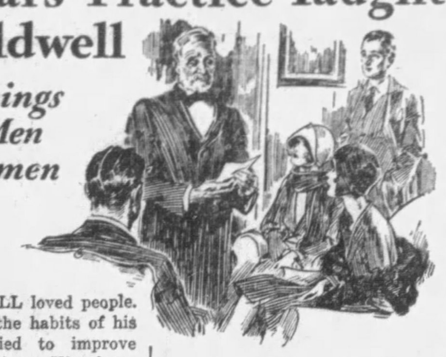
'Daughters' Hear Talk on Indians

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 16.—Meyers B. Horner, principal of the Washington High School, delivered an address on "Indian Trails in Washington and Greene Counties" at the January meeting of the Washington County chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution.

47 Years' Practice Taught Dr. Caldwell

Many things about Men and Women



DR. CALDWELL loved people. He studied the habits of his patients and tried to improve their ways of living. His observations over a long period of time convinced him many people were ruining their health by a careless choice of laxatives. Then he determined to write a prescription which would get at the cause of constipation and correct it quickly and safely.

How successful his efforts were is best shown by the fact that the prescription he wrote back in 1885 has become the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness, and lack of appetite, or energy showed him that the bowels of men, women or children were sluggish. It proved successful in the most obstinate cases. So men liked it. Old folks liked it because it never gripes. Children liked its pleasant taste. And everybody is pleased with the gentle way it accomplishes its purpose.

By 1888, the demand for this laxative was so great that the doctor permitted it to be bottled and sold by drugstores. Today you can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from any drugstore in the world.

"This is THE VERY PAINTING of your fear"

[Shakespeare, 1564—1616]

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

You men who would keep trim and fit . . . you women who covet the tantalizing curves of the truly modern figure—when tempted to do yourself too well, light a Lucky instead. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. When your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate! . . . Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form

Self Discipline Essential in Life's Big Battle, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

SELF-DISCIPLINE is very important for success.

Many talented persons fail in life only because they lack self-discipline.

They depend too much upon being relentlessly driven by a strict boss or manager.

A plodder with less talent and more self-discipline gets twice as far. He lets nothing interfere with his work.

It is unfortunate that so many with real ability are so lacking in this power to make themselves achieve what they surely are fitted to do.

But they have not the self-discipline to leave a merry crowd when there is a task to be done.

They will not make "work before pleasure" their motto. They will not give up bad habits which are destroying their chances for permanent fame and fortune.

Cultivate self-discipline.

The 'Royal Romancers' Show Signs of 'Breaking'

"UGLY" Osgood and "Deacon" Ranson had long been pals.

Back in the States they had made and lost little fortunes in various ventures.

In Alaska their luck had changed, and both were pretty well heeled.

They weren't very much of crooks. Mostly their ventures were legitimate. Nor did they work together. They simply roved about together and remained good pals.

"Ugly" was so called because, while he was a presentable, well set-up man, his voice was harsh and always sounded as if he were growling about something.

"Deacon" hadn't seen the inside of a church, to his knowledge. It was the sombre clothes he wore and the quiet way he had.

They liked a little session of poker now and then, but being good pals they had agreed not to play together. If one was in a game the other kept out.

Morgan, who owned "The Angler," a lively and flourishing dance hall and bar (the SOFT DRINKS ONLY sign didn't mean a thing), had some new dancing girls come on.

Kitty Connor was one of them.

Kitty was the nicest eyeful the boys had seen in those regions since away back in the gold-rush days.

For the first time in his life Ugly Osgood regarded a woman with matrimonial intentions.

Kitty was the woman.

Just to make things more interesting the Fates made Deacon Ranson feel the same way about a woman.

Kitty was the woman, again.

Ugly and Deacon watched her dance and listened to her sing night after night.

Kitty smiled on them. She smiled on all the men, for that matter.

"There's a woman for you," Ugly remarked after Kitty had been there for six weeks or so.

"You bet she's for me, if I can make her wear a ring," said Deacon.

"Yeah? I meant she was my idea of what would make a swell wife—for me," Ugly explained.

The pals looked hard at each other and then grinned.

"We'll play th' game straight and no hard feelin's whichever wins her," Deacon said, in his quiet drawl.

"Right," barked Ugly.

They shook hands on it.

Kitty danced twice with each of them that night. But she did the same with a number of other men.

As time went on only a fool could fail to see that both Ugly and Deacon were making a strong play for Kitty.

Kitty saw it—she was no fool.

A lot of other men would have liked to win Kitty.

And none of them ever wasted time trying to figure out how to win her without benefit of clergy. Kitty was the sort of a young woman who just looked at a chap when he made the first off-color overture, and he was wise to the fact that she wasn't that sort.

But after a little more time passed it seemed quite evident that there were only two men in the running, Ugly and Deacon.

One night Ugly and Kitty were at the bar between dances. Ugly was having straight Scotch out of a lemon soda bottle. Kitty also had a lemon soda bottle—but there was only lemon soda in it.

"Kitty," said Ugly, "time flies. Why should we wait? You know I'm strong for you—the right way."

"Uh-huh. I think you are, Ugly," Kitty admitted, "and I sure think you are just about the right sort of a nice big he-man." Kitty said.

"Then we'll be hitched?" he asked, eagerly, and at the same time feeling rather sorry for Deacon.

"Gosh—who knows—yet?"

Later Deacon and Kitty were at a table, between dances. Kitty was still drinking lemon soda. Deacon had a sarsaparilla bottle. The rye always came over the bar in those bottles.

"Time we quit stalling', Kitty," said Deacon, "and got married up together, all nice and legal."

"Those are important words, Deacon," Kitty answered, "and you strike me as just the right sort of a nice big he-man."

"Then right away—"

"Don't rush me—who can tell all in a minute?" Kitty stalled.

When Ugly and Deacon turned in at their shack both were grinning. Each eyed the other—that happy grin was suspicious.

"Guess I best put you out of your misery, Deacon," Ugly said.

"I ain't miserable none," he assured his pal.

"About Kitty—she told me tonight I was her idea of a nice big he-man."

"Come again with that, Ugly."

He repeated it. Deacon stared and saw the light of truth in his pal's eyes.

"Well, dog my cats — that's exactly the line she give me!"

"She don't give no line," Ugly insisted.

"Sure don't," Deacon agreed.

They thought it over in silence for a while.

"Know what?" Deacon finally asked.

"She can't make up her mind between us, I guess."

"Right, Ugly—that's it."

More thinking.

"If one of us was away from her, she'd sure grab th' other one," Deacon finally remarked.

"Right again—only neither of us ain't gonna lay down an' quit that easy," Ugly remarked.

"We might cut th' deck—high man stays, low man gets away and remains away, at least until after th' weddin'."

Ugly pondered Deacon's plan. It wasn't half bad. Both couldn't have Kitty Connor and they were too good pals to fight over it.

"I got an idea——"

"The idea is, which of us is to get Kitty," Ugly interrupted.

"That was my idea—which one gets her had ought to be well-heeled."

Ugly admitted it.

"How about one hand of poker—each one allowed up to three cards to draw? We'll put up a good stiff ante — winner gets th' pot and remains to marry Kitty—loser goes away and leaves th' coast clear. Kitty wouldn't take a day to decide to say yes to either one of us if she knew the other wasn't comin' back."

Ugly fairly beamed. He approved of Deacon's plan.

On the soap box shelf, along with tobacco and candles, were several decks of cards in their original seals. Ugly reached up and took down a deck. A couple smart raps split the seal. He shuffled. Deacon shuffled.

"Cut for deal," he said.

They cut. Ugly cut a nine. Deacon cut a four.

Ugly shuffled some more.

"Five cards, privilege of no more than three on the draw."

"Right," Deacon agreed.

"Winner stays and gets th' girl," Ugly rasped.

"Right," the Deacon agreed again, in his soft drawl.

The hands were dealt. Each man studied his hand with care.

"All right, I'm betting the eleven thousand in the bank back at Seattle," said Ugly.

Deacon pondered a moment.

"Will that little ranch of mine in Idaho cover it?" he asked.

"Sure will, and more."

"O. K."

"How many cards?" Ugly asked. Deacon took another look at his hand.

"Three," he said, tossing down his discards.

He studied his hand.

"Dealer takes two," informed Ugly.

Neither had any more expression than cud-chewing bovine at noon-time.

"I'll raise you my movie outfit," Ugly intoned. This "outfit" was a building, projector, screen and 150 seats (benches), which constituted the only movie "theater" in the place.

"Let's see—guess my trapping business—kit, furs and all—ought to cover that," Deacon mildly intoned.

"Suits me," Ugly agreed, "whichever one wins has plenty to support Kitty on. I'm callin'."

Deacon put down the two cards he had retained.

"Sorry, but I had all th' luck in Alaska—look here," he said, and beside the king and queen of hearts he places Jack of diamonds, ten and nine of clubs.

"A straight; try and beat it," he said in his calm, drawling voice.

"Don't hafter try—it's beat already. I drew two bullets an' I had two."

Ugly spread his hand, exposing the four aces.

"Good luck, Ugly—and be good to her, she's one fine little woman," Deacon said, earnestly.

"Aim to do just that—you got travelin' expenses an' enough for a good grub stake back in th' States, Deacon?"

"Plenty, thanks."

Deacon Ranson got down the pigskin Gladstone bag, swiped some of the dust from it and started packing.

"Th' Coast Queen was to dock down river this evenin'. Guess I'll mush down an' board her—no sense delayin'," he said.

He signed a few papers, the pals shook hands and Deacon started down river to board the steamer.

He was glad to learn they were to sail at noon next day.

It was around ten o'clock next forenoon when Ugly Osgood came aboard, bag and baggage.

"Was it me she wanted, after all?" Deacon demanded.

"Nope," Ugly replied, dejectedly, "th' winner come in on this very boat last evenin'."

"Winner? Hell, I'd run him out—"

Ugly shook his head.

"Kitty wouldn't 'a' liked that at all—this guy was her husband."

Household Hints

White kid or satin slippers may be sponged with gasoline and made fresh as new.

Cracked eggs can be boiled by adding one teaspoonful of salt to the water, and they will not lose any of the white or albumen.

A ripe tomato will remove ink stains from linen. Cut the tomato in half and rub on the stain; leave for a few minutes and then repeat until the stain disappears.

A Lesson in Fortitude

By WINIFRED BLACK

ARE you tired and sick, hungry and cold, mad and out-of-sorts, and discouraged and weary of living because you are too poor to go to the pictures more than once a week, and haven't even one fur coat to your name?

Every time you see a girl in one of those new long dresses and a gorgeous coat with a collar that comes up around her ears, and you just know she has three or four diamond rings under her gloves—would you like to snatch all her rich clothes and sparkling jewels away from her and be "right in the game," for once?

Well, I don't know as I blame you so very much—but here is a woman who feels differently about it.

She loves life and she loves fun, and she's having life, and she's having fun and you just sit right down this minute and read her letter and then tell me and your dearest friend what you'd give for a brain and a heart and a disposition like that.

TUJUNGA, Cal., Dec. 2, 1929.

Winifred Black,

Dear Friend:

Not long ago you had an article about the little girl on the Desert, "Little Home in Desert Filled with Happiness," and told how you lost this little lady's letter while riding in the wind. I have been wondering every day if you ever heard from her again. I do hope so, and I wonder if you would share her address with me, too. Oh, I'd just love to write to her—I have so much I could tell her. I too know what it is like to work hard and be alone, but I love it all just the same.

I live in the mountains—came here for my health—and cleared our little place, planted trees and helped build our little house out of material such as rocks—of which there are plenty—cement and wood. In fact out of anything we could get. We are comfortable, cozy and happy. We made most of our own furniture. Daddy and I just wanted to see what we could do without money. Best of all I have regained my health.

It was hard work, yes, but what a lot of fun I have had. And we are still making something out of nothing—as our friends all say. Everything isn't complete yet, it takes a lot of time. I am going to build my rock fireplace now and then I will be happy.

I know nothing about laying up a stone fireplace, but I am going to try it; I am nearly Jack-of-all-trades and pretty good at all.

We have a wonderful view of the Monte Vista Valley, can see 30 miles and more. Sincerely,

Mrs. Irwin Chatfield,
Box 162, Tujunga, Cal.

There now, how's that for good sense and good courage, and the right kind of a heart?

I'd rather have that woman for a friend than a whole regiment of nice pretty pussy cats dressed in fur from head to heels.

But the worst of it is, I haven't the address of the little girl "on the desert;" maybe she will see this story and write and send it to you. I'd like to pass it along to half a dozen people who are interested in her, and her bright, happy, intelligent, courageous way of living.

Don't you hope so, too?

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Seek Cause of Chronic Headache

ONE of the most common causes of headache, high blood pressure and many other ills is auto-intoxication. This term "auto-intoxication" means a self-poisoning by the waste products that are absorbed into the system instead of being properly thrown off by the body.

DR. COPELAND

How unthinking we are when we over-indulge in food, and at the same time, to make matters worse, we do not indulge at all in bodily exercise. Thousands there are who go on day and day in the same old way and they suffer immeasurably from all sorts of ills.

The places where poisons may develop are legion. It may be said in general that an accumulation of pus, no matter where, may cause symptoms of poisoning.

The teeth or tonsils may be abscessed. An accumulation of pus in the sinuses, a running ear, a chronic ulcer anywhere may be the seat of the poison which destroy the health. The intestinal tract is the most likely place for this trouble.

Constipation is often the first warning that the digestive organs are causing a slow poisoning in the system. There may be headache, dizziness, distress and heartburn, pains in the joints, and more or less mental depression.

Auto-intoxication is a very common cause of high blood-pressure and hardening of the arteries.

To get rid of these symptoms you must clear up the center of the trouble in the body, wherever it may be. The abscesses must be drained and healed. The constipation or other trouble must be overcome.

After all, you cannot be well if you are constantly bombarded by the poisons of self-contamination. The body has an almost unlimited capacity to adjust itself to new conditions, and there is an almost unlimited capacity for rebuilding and repairing a badly damaged constitution. You may overcome some of the effects of sins against the body, and can gather new health if you return to a natural way of living.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, January 17

THIS day's astrological figures point to much perplexity and a general complexion of intrigue, conspiracy or subtlety. While some long congested conditions may be broken up, and industry and determination may advance the interests, yet there will be need to be on guard against underhand connivance and treachery. With discretion and wariness some progress may be made, with new and protable contracts or agreements. This sinister situation may also prove a menace to personal affairs. Shun threats of scandal or malice.

Those whose birthday it is are warned of a year in which they may be subject to intrigue, misrepresentation, or malicious report, in both business and personal relations. Although there may be old obstacles to success removed, making way for progress through application and industry attended by a general wariness and alertness to menacing conditions, only prudence and discretion may save the day.

A child born on this day may have some peculiar qualities and be subject to mysterious attacks, despite industry and diligence.

Use Clips

Paper clips may be used in place of pinning or tacking for hems and seams when machining. They slip over the two edges of the material, make no holes in delicate fabric and are smooth and inexpensive. Also where children are about they are much safer to use pins being apt to fall on the floor, where small children play.

More About the Old I. C.

HAVE you an Inferiority Complex?

Perhaps you think you haven't. Perhaps you THINK that you think you're the canary's eyebrows! Perhaps you have a mink coat and a snappy imported car and a lot of autographed photographs of celebrities hanging around. And you KNOW you're "somebody."

* * *

But don't fool yourself. You've got a nice, full-grown inferiority complex—and any psychoanalyst can prove it! If not, why do you keep those autographed photographs so conspicuously displayed?

You keep them there, dear heart, in order to give you a sense of importance—to bolster up your ego! You like to look at them and say, "Well! Look who's here!" It reduces your I. C.

Why do you need an imported car and a mink coat, anyway? A taxicab would be far more convenient, and get you there just as quickly. A cheap muskrat coat would keep you just as warm.

But an imported car and a mink coat give you that delicious, luxurious feeling of superiority. You just love to whirl along, looking at people in cheap muskrat coats and battered old taxicabs. It helps a lot to reduce that high inferiority-pressure!

Why do you tip the waiter and the hat-check boy so magnificently? Is it because you are thinking of their wives and kiddies? Be yourself! It is because their smiles make you feel all aglow with self-righteousness, or, more likely, because a sneer would go right through you and button up the back, and send your I. C. scurrying up like the mercury on a cold morning. Hell hath no fury like a waiter's scorn!

* * *

You never know just how or where to find your inferiority complex. But LOOK for it. It may be back of your adenoids, or out in the garage or in the lower left-hand bureau drawer, where you left your old driving gloves last year. An Inferiority Complex, like a husband, is always where you least suspect it to be.

Most of us are just eaten alive with one kind of Inferiority Complex or another. And lots of the most brilliant and all of the most contemptible things we do are inspired by it.

It inspires us to beautify ourselves, polish our manners, pay our bills promptly, doll up our wives and brag about our husbands. It fills us with the urge to do Big Things, to make fortunes or write poems, or paint pictures; to build houses; plant gardens and smash records.

* * *

It also instigates us to high-hat our neighbors, spend more money than we can afford, lie about our golf score and keep up with the Jones's, if we have to rob a bank.

Don't ask me what to DO with your Inferiority Complex, when you've found it. Put it in the icebox or throw it away with your old Christmas cards, if you like. I'm not collecting Inferiority Complexes, myself. I've got one of MY OWN!

If you have a dark passage or corner, paint the sides of the floor white. If your staircase is dark, tack a piece of white oilcloth to the bottom stair. This will save many an unpleasant jar.

LOVEJOY

:: By BEATRICE BURTON

many times in your backyard . . . Why haven't you and your wife ever come over to play bridge with us. I've invited her time and time again."

Tom smiled his crooked boyish smile at her.

"Oh, we're stay-at-homes. We've a baby, you know, that keeps us tied down," Lovejoy heard him say as she shook hands with Mrs. Alderson's husband.

She found herself wondering how a girl as pretty and as young as she could have married this middle-aged man.

"For money, I suppose," she decided.

But what was money compared to the love of a man like Tom . . . a man who was young and good-looking and heaps of fun? Why, just living with him was an adventure in itself!

"I wouldn't exchange Tom for all the money in the world," she told herself, when she stood beside him at the table in the dining-room where a wonderful sea of sandwiches and cakes and punch was laid out.

She took in the gold-etched plates, the cut-glass tumblers with an "A" etched on them . . . the solid silver forks and the lace-edged napkins . . . and the well-dressed prosperous crowd of strange people who moved in and out of the luxurious rooms.

"Tom," she said solemnly, when the two of them were out in the twilight, on their way back to the little Stallings Lane house once more. "Tom, truly I'm not sorry we're poor. I'd rather have you and the baby and all the debts in the world than change places with Mrs. Alderson. She has everything—but that husband of hers looks so old. She couldn't be happy with him!"

"Why, she looks perfectly happy to me," Tom answered evenly. "And her husband's a fine fellow, I thought. I had quite a long talk with him, and I liked him. 'We'll go over there some night, and play them a hand of bridge or two, if you'd like to."

It was only a week later that Tom heard from Mrs. Alderson's husband.

He came home from the office early in the afternoon—an unheard of thing—and he instant Lovejoy saw him she knew that some good fortune had come to him.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Flowers Are Preferable

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you kindly advise whether it is in order for the bridesmaids at a wedding to carry wands instead of a bouquet? Or do they carry both? If wands or crooks are in order, should a white bow be tied around the wand?

A READER.

IT IS vastly better form for the bridal attendants to carry bouquets than it is for them to carry wands or shepherds' crooks. Sometimes they carry fans, if fans are especially appropriate with their costumes, and fans sometimes are; or muffs made of a fluffy design in tulle and usually with a bouquet of orchids on top. But these details usually give a bizarre and theatrical effect, suggesting the stage rather than a wedding sacrament. Wands and shepherd's crooks are even more theatrical, and are, therefore, avoided at the well-planned wedding. I strongly advise against using them. Why not plan to have flowers, since flowers are so beautifully consistent with a wedding?

A Casual Acknowledgment Sufficient

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When I go out with my husband and we happen to meet someone whom my husband knows, but whom he doesn't care to have me meet, should he speak to this person and what is correct for me to do?

Reader.

YOUR husband should, under the circumstances, only nod and raise his hat on acknowledgement of their acquaintanceship. It is bad form to "cut" the person, but also it is out of place and uncalled for to stop and talk with the person. This situation need not be a bit embarrassing for any one concerned, if your husband simply is casual about bowing and letting it go at that. Then, of course, you do not need to do anything. But if your husband forces a talk, then there is nothing for you to do but walk on slowly and wait for them to finish.

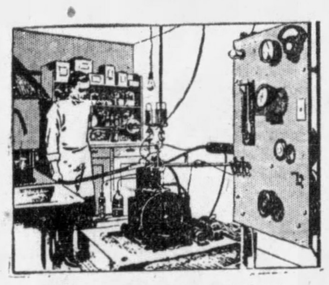
You don't have to "squeeze" this orange to get more power

THE power is there--waiting, ready, eager to set that motor of yours whirring with greater vim, vigor and velocity than any gasoline selling at regular gasoline prices would ever inspire!

And that's not half of it. ORANGE AMERICAN GAS has an exceptionally high anti-knock rating! Not on hearsay or say-so--but by scientific test! Proved first in a machine in a laboratory--and confirmed every day in thousands of machines rolling along city streets and country roads! And motorists who buy regular gas buy ORANGE AMERICAN GAS for its quick starting ability alone.



THIS MACHINE CAN'T LIE!
When we tell you that ORANGE AMERICAN GAS has an exceptionally high anti-knock rating—we're not making claims—we're stating a fact. This is the machine that proves it—the machine on which comparative tests of all gasolines are made every day—a machine which delivers cold, scientific facts—the machine that definitely establishes the pre-eminence of ORANGE AMERICAN GAS among all gases selling at the price of regular gasoline.

Already a great favorite here--and building a bigger following every day! Give ORANGE AMERICAN GAS one fair trial--and we'll leave the rest to your own good judgment!

BIG GRID BANQUET TONIGHT

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Problems at Shortstop.
Many Vacancies Seen.
Good Move by Pirates.
Malone After 25 Wins.
Rosenblums Stand Out.
Soft Start for Carnera.

SEVEN CLUBS HAVE SHORTFIELD OPEN

MORE uncertainty surrounds the shortstop job than any other position on the major league clubs for the season of 1930. Pittsburgh is by no means the only city on the big circuits in which doubt exists as to the identity of the player who will be found holding down that post when the pennant fighting begins three months hence. The action of the Detroit management in releasing Heinie Schuble to Beaumont in the Texas League adds one more to the doubtful list, and the shortfield place is now open on no fewer than seven of the 16 clubs. Two of the vacancies are in the National League and five in the American.

Dick Bartell

Though Dick Bartell is generally looked upon as having an edge in the running for the berth in the Pirate lineup, Manager Jewel Ens makes it clear that no definite selection will be made until near the close of the training period, and in the meantime Bartell will have to fight it out with Charley Engle, Ben Sankey and Stewie Clarke.

IN Brooklyn, all shortstop plans must remain "up in the air" until some definite line is obtainable on the condition of Glenn Wright's throwing arm. The job will go to the former Buccaneer, of course, if he recovers fully from the effects of his injury, but otherwise, with Dave Bancroft dropped, it will be necessary to develop a new man for the place.

Since the release of Jack Tavener, Cleveland, like Detroit, following the transfer of Schuble to the minors, is without a shortfield candidate who may be considered certain to come through. Hal Rhyne is not being counted upon for regular duty by the White Sox, the Yankees will present a fight among Lyn Lary, Leo Durocher and Mark Koenig, and on the world champion A's Joe Boley's troublesome arm may force him to give way to young Eric McNair.

BAN JOHNSON, former American League president, says he has not taken much interest in baseball since 1927, but makes some interesting remarks on the sport. He attributes the falling off in attendance largely to the radio and the automobile, and declares that the top-heaviness of American League races was another harmful factor.

"I have been informed that in 1928 the Yankies were the only American League club that made money," he says. "Six weeks before the end of that season the Athletics were $150,000 behind expenses, but they managed to pull out with money received from a number of important games played with the Yankees.

Ban Johnson

"CONNIE MACK would have won the pennant in 1928 if he had not engaged Cobb and Speaker. They were back-numbers when he signed them. As soon as he replaced them with young talent his team was vastly improved. In fact, the Athletics were stronger last year, in my opinion, than any other club that ever won the American League pennant. Several years ago I had a buyer for the St. Louis Browns, but my friend, Phil Ball, would not sell. Had he done so, I would have retired then, but he stuck it out and has suffered heavy losses. The Boston situation is hopeless. The Red Sox were ruined by Harry Frazee and there is no bright future for the team.

"THE fans of Boston have soured on baseball and I do not believe the old interest can be revived there. I do not think much of Bob Shawkey's chances to succeed as manager of the Yankees. His appointment was a great surprise to me. The legal troubles of the Giants, unless they are settled out of court, will deal a terrific blow to baseball."

Johnson is also quoted as denying very vigorously a rumor that he intended to organize a new major league. It was Ban who, as president of the old Western League, started the expansion movement that led to baseball's greatest war and the formation of the American League as a major circuit, but he is not thinking of a third loop. He says he is out of baseball for all time and isn't looking for trouble.

THE Pittsburgh club's move in scheduling another exhibition game for March 31 in Tucson, Ariz., with the Arizona State League team of that place, is more important than would appear on the surface. This for the reason that it breaks the long jump from Los Angeles to Houston.

Pat Malone

To be kept idle during a trip of that length would undo much of what the Pirates might have accomplished in a conditioning way on the coast. The pitchers would stiffen up and the batters would be given a setback through going several days without a chance to hit against any kind of hurling. Sticking in a game to interrupt the idleness is a smart step that cannot fail to help the whole outfit.

GABBY HARTNETT, Cub catcher, isn't the only member of the Bruins in winter training. Pitcher Pat Malone, after spending a couple of months at his home in Milan, O., has gone to Chicago and started a course of off-season conditioning work in the same gymnasium where Hartnett is trying to bring his pegging arm back to form. Malone is carrying 12 surplus pounds and means to take off the excess before the spring training trip. He has set a goal of 25 slab victories for himself in 1930 and says it will not be due to any lack of preparation if he fails to reach it. He led the National League hurlers in wins last year with 22. The only pitcher in either loop to excel him was George Earnshaw, of the A's, with 24.

AS the second half of the American League's professional basketball season gets under way, the Cleveland Rosenblums stand out more prominently than ever. They repeated their performance of a year ago by winning the first half, and in doing so they established a league record—that of having captured at least one of the split-schedule championships in four out of five seasons.

This season will mark the fourth time the Rosenblums have entered the world series in the professional floor game. In the league's first year they fought it out with the Brooklyns. The following year the Celtics and Ft. Wayne were the contenders. In 1928 the fight was between the Rosenblums and the Celtics, and last year the Rosies took four straight from Ft. Wayne for their second world title.

THAT'S a remarkable achievement to the credit of the Cleveland team and its able leader, Dave Kerr. The latter modestly says it's

FREDERICKSON REBUILDS ICE TEAM

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The Pittsburgh Hockey Club is to be rebuilt and Manager Frank Frederickson does not propose to waste any time in starting his rebuilding activities.

Upon returning yesterday from a trip to Detroit and Chicago, where they lost two games and practically eliminated themselves as contenders for a play-off berth in the present campaign, the Pirates were greeted by an announcement by officials of the local club that National League hockey was to be a fixture in Pittsburgh.

Andy Spooner.

Frederickson reasons that if big league hockey is to be kept here for many years, it behooves him to rebuild the Bucs into a future championship contender, and that if the Pirates are out of the 1929-30 title chase that he might as well do his revamping at once.

In rebuilding, Frank proposes to bring to Pittsburgh many young players of promise, and to give rookies now on the Pirate roster more frequent and greater opportunities to show their wares and gain experience.

SPOONER GETS CHANCE

The first move in this direction will be made Saturday night when Andy Spooner, 19-year-old phenom obtained from Port William, will be started at goal in the fight with the New York Rangers. Joe Miller, veteran net guardian obtained from the New York Americans in exchange for Roy Worters early last season, has turned in some fine exhibitions in recent frays, but Frederickson feels that Spooner merits an opportunity to show his stuff in fast company.

Andy has shown to advantage in the practice sessions, and the Bucco skipper is confident that he will make the grade. He will be afforded every opportunity to "groom his eye" in drills to be held at Duquesne Garden today and tomorrow.

JARVIS TO BE STARTER

Bud Jarvis, young forward, regarded as the "find of the season," is another rookie who will be benefitted by the new policy. Jarvis is a rookie when measured by the standards of years and experience, but he is a veteran of the first rank in the matter of ability, and he will be advanced to left wing on the starting front line in the Saturday duel with the Rangers. On the starting line he will be teamed with Hib Milks and Harold Darragh, established stars who are eager to help Bud in his attempted climb to the top. This shift will result in the moving of Jerry Lowrey to center in the spare line.

With Herb Drury, center-ice idol for many years, again available, Frederickson has an abundance of pivot men, and he has farmed Ren Manners, up-and-coming young center, to the London (Ontario) Club, of the International League. Frank wants Manners to play regularly, for he regards him as a coming star. He realizes that Drury's return would mean much idleness for Ren were he to remain here.

DEALS PENDING

Yank Boyd, star right wing of the Boston Tigers, champions of the Canadian-American League, is on the Pirate list, but he may not be called here until next season. Frederickson expects to give certain Pirate vets in exchange for Daly, of the Detroit Olympics, and Larochelle, of Les Canadiens, in the near future. Each is 22 years of age. Daly is an 180-pound defense man, and Larochelle is a speedy wing.

Frederickson refused to divulge the identity of the Bucs he plans to give up to put through these deals.

YESTERDAY'S EXPLANATION—COIN THE SIZE OF A NICKEL MADE OF STAR MATTER WOULD WEIGH 200 POUNDS. From the calculations taken from tables and information found in Jean's "Astronomy and Cosnogony." it is concluded that a nickel made from matter in one of the faint stars in the constellation Eridenus would weigh more than 200 pounds.

PITT, SCHENLEY TEAMS TO BE HONORED

By JESS CARVER

The third football hullabaloo of the week, the Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet to the championship football teams of the city, will be tendered the squads of the University of Pittsburgh and Schenley High School in the Chamber's dining room tonight.

Banqueting of the Pitt team, which returned from the Coast last week, started Monday night, when the Oakland Board of Trade put on a wow of an affair at the Schenley. Tuesday night the Sto-Rox Testimonial Association feted Toby Uansa, Charley Winosky and Frank Rogers and members of the Pitt varsity at Chartiers Heights Country Club. And now comes the annual roast beef guzzling of the C. of C.

BURKE TOASTMASTER

The Hon. James Francis Burke, counsel of the C. of C., will be in charge of the affair, serving in the capacity of toastmaster. Speakers on the program will include Mayor Charles Kline, the Pitt and Schenley coaches, William S. Haddock, president of the A. M. A., A. A. U., and other notable figures.

Mayor Kline will present to Chancellor John G. Bowman, of the university, a $1,500 trophy emblematic of Pitt's victory over Carnegie in the city football championship game last October.

Burke will present to the Pitt team the silver trophy which, unlike the city's cup, will become the permanent possession of Jock Sutherland's proteges in the event of a victory in the 1930 city championship game.

Edward Sauvain, principal of Schenley High School, will receive from Toastmaster Burke, the chamber's trophy, emblematic of the school's supremacy in the scholastic field last season. Schenley's victory kept the trophy from becoming the permanent possession of the George Westinghouse High School.

E. T. Whiter, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and chairman of the committee in charge of the banquet, will make a brief address.

FOUR TILTS TONIGHT

The basketball card for the evening includes four games, none of which will be presented on Pittsburgh floors. The Dukes continue their invasion of the East, meeting Catholic University in Washington D. C. Michigan State opens a swing through this district, which will bring it here tomorrow night for a game with Tech, by meeting Bethany's fast traveling Bisons at Bethany.

Marshall and the Fairmont Teachers tangle at Clarksburg and St. Vincent plays the Johnstown Junior College five at Latrobe.

HYATT ANSWERS CALL, CHEERS DYING LAD

By J. S. ALBRIGHT,
Special Correspondent.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 16.—Charley Hyatt, star of the Pitt quintet has played many basketball games and has discussed the sport thousands of times, but last Saturday night he underwent the most terrible ordeal of his young life when he was led into the room, where Richard D. Wall, aged 13, son of Edward A. Wall, well-known sports official of Scottdale, lay dying.

Charley Hyatt

The little fellow, in a state of delirium, had played forward with Hyatt all day in a phantom game against the University of Montana.

He had asked many times for Charley Hyatt and oftentimes would attempt to rise in his bed as he exclaimed, "How did you like that pass, Charley. You shoot 'em and I'll pass 'em. Atta boy, Charley, now we've got them on the run. They can't beat us, big boy."

RUSHED TO BED-SIDE

All of his talk indicated that he and Charley were playing a star role as forwards against Montana.

Dick had read every word of the account of Hyatt's sensational work against Montana when he caged an even dozen field goals.

As Dick was rapidly growing worse and his requests for Charley were constantly on his lips, Alex Pisula, well-known resident of Scottdale, dashed to Pittsburgh in his automobile and at the close of the game against Georgetown he was hurried to the waiting car and whizzed back to Scottdale. He was steeled for the ordeal which he knew was in prospect.

As Charley quietly entered the

Yanks Mail Babe 2-Year, $75,000, Contract

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—The New York Yankees yesterday mailed contracts to Babe Ruth and 30 other players. The document sent to the home run hitter is for a term of two years and calls for a salary of $75,000 a year. Recently the Babe declined those terms and left for Florida a holdout for $85,000.

Four players in good standing will not receive contracts. Lou Gehrig, first baseman; Henry Johnson and George Pipgras, pitchers, will serve under holdover contracts in 1930, and Ben Chapman, third baseman, signed when he was in New York for a Christmas holiday appendicitis operation.

ENS, FAMILY HERE

Manager Jewel Ens, of the Pirates, his wife and two children, are back in Pittsburgh today. Upon his arrival from his St. Louis home, Ens went into conference with Owner Dreyfuss on a number of important issues. Later the owner and pilot agreed that the 1930 Buccos would cut some "punkins" in the coming flag chase.

"Our infield may be a bit uncertain," said Ens, "but we're about set on first, second and third. I am convinced that Suhr will do at first and I like Grantham at second. Everybody knows how well we're fixed at third and I think that one of the four shortstops will do. Bartell looks like the most likely of the lot at this writing, but Clarke is promising and I have heard a lot of good stuff about Engle and Finney."

Ens also thinks the pitching and catching staffs will come through.

"Fellows like Swetonic, French and Petty are due to show better stuff." Ens declared. "And don't overlook this fellow Stoner, from Fort Worth.

GORMAN BOXES M'FOWLER TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Bud Gorman, clever veteran heavyweight, of Kenosha, Wis., with a win over and a draw with Ike McFowler, Negro heavyweight, of Johnstown, already to his credit, goes to the post with Ike again in the 10-round main bout at McKeesport tonight, and Promoter Jim McGirr looks for his biggest house of the season.

Bud Gorman.

Gorman is a boxer of international reputation. He has triumphed in European as well as American rings, and the brightest mark in his record is a victory in 10 rounds over Jack Sharkey, now the outstanding heavyweight of the world.

The first two McFowler-Gorman bouts were staged in Johnstown.

Tommy Heilman, of Donora, and Johnny Smackey, of Canonsburg, lightweights, will box the six-round semi-final; Bobby Madison, of Wheeling and Louis Stosito, of Pittsburgh, a welterweight protege of Red Mason, are in the second bout, and Paul Balint, of the North Side, and Young Judy, of Charleroi, featherweights, open the show.

Red Coffman, of Altoona, will make his debut in this district as an announcer.

FOUL PENALTIES CUT

The punishment meted out by the Boxing Commission to Eddie Brannon, Negro, of the Hill, for "fouling" Chet Smallwood, of Akron, in the sixth round of their semi-final bout at Motor Square Garden last Monday night and to Smallwood has been ameliorated. Each will be permitted to go through with pending bouts before their suspensions will become effec-

JEWEL ENS SONNY MRS. ENS

Jewel Ens, manager of the Pirates, arrived in Pittsburgh today to take over his duties for the 1930 season and was greeted by his family, which preceded him a few days to make their home in Oakland. Mrs. Ens resided in Pittsburgh before her marriage, so that her return is in the nature of a "homecoming."

CUB CONTRACTS OUT

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Contracts for the 1930 playing season were mailed by the Chicago Cubs yesterday. Bob Lewis, road secretary, said that while there were no holdout signs among the players, that none would be taken on the training trip to Catalina Island, who failed to sign by January 18. Guy Bush, pitching ace, is the only player known to be signed.

GERMAN SPORT, CELTICS BATTLE SATURDAY

WEST PENN CUP TILT INTEREST RUNS HIGH

By TOM BIRKS

The semi-final replay of the West Penn cup will be staged Saturday at the Westinghouse High School field. German Sport and the Pittsburgh Cetlies will provide the fireworks, and if the teams play up to their previous form, there is little doubt but that the game should be one of the hardest fought battles of the season.

There will be no excuse that the playing field hampered the teams. The stadium at the end of Murtland avenue has the best soccer field in the Pittsburgh district and should help the fast, speedy work of the contestants.

GOOD FIELD IN PROSPECT

The winner will meet Gallatin in the grand final, and it is an open question as to which club will face Sickles and his mates.

The Sport Club outplayed the Celtics in their last game, but the muddy field did not help either the Germans or the Celtics. The Westinghouse field never gets muddy, so any kind of weather can come along except, of course, a heavy snowfall.

While nothing has been announced, the Pierpoint Motors club expects to make the trip to Detroit on Sunday in its first round game of the National challenge cup.

FREE TO WOMEN

The West Penn Football Association has announced that women and children will be given free admittance to the cup tie game on Saturday, with the statement that the treasury has lots of coin this season. This might be all right, but it might be a wise matter to further build up the treasury to fight any trouble that may be experienced in the future. It has not been so long since delegates paid their own way to conventions, and this state of affairs may come again. But educating the feminine sex and the youngsters to the game of soccer is worth while.

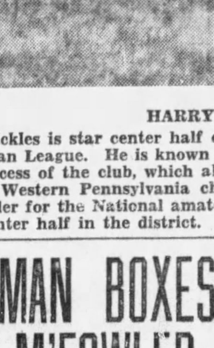
all due to the players themselves and to Owner Max Rosenblum, whom he terms the greatest promoter basketball ever knew.

Roy Steele, the former Homestead and South Side Central League star, has been another factor in Kerr's success. Steele took his Wilmerding team, of the old West Penn League, into the Eastern League, picked up Kerr and Rich Deighan and won a few championships in the circuit that was then rated as the country's best. That gave Kerr his start and he has continued steadily to advance until today he is one of the foremost figures in the floor sport.



Big Boy Peterson

FIGHT fans were not wrong in their conclusions that the interests behind Primo Carnera's ring campaign in this country would see to it that the man mountain was not knocked off in a hurry—that they would take care to steer him clear of dangerous opponents at the start and keep him safe as a gate attraction for more than one fight. That early opinion is borne out by the selection of Big Boy Peterson to meet Carnera in the latter's first American appearance at Madison Square Garden in New York one week from tomorrow night.

IN approving this hand-picked match the New York Boxing Commission appears to have forgotten its promise not to permit the building up of Carnera in a series of bouts with pushovers. He would have to meet real fighters, was the assurance given.

Peterson does not measure up to requirements in any respect. He can neither hit nor take it, and aside from being made to look like a joke by Tommy Loughran he has been beaten by such obscure heavyweights as Roberto Roberti, Tony Fuente, Ernie Schaaf, Babe Hunt, Jimmy Byrne, Tiny Roebuck and others. They surely picked a soft one to start the Carnera smoke-up.

Sickles is star center half of the Gallatin soccer team, of the American League. He is known as Big Six and is quite a factor in the success of the club, which already has reached the final round of the Western Pennsylvania championship competition and is a contender for the National amateur title. Sickles, a veteran, is the best center half in the district.

tive. This means that Smallwood will be allowed to box Battling Gizzy in the 10-round windup at New Brighton on the night of January 23 before he is set down for 60 days to "recover" from the blow on the hip, the assumption being, perhaps, that he needs no "recovery" to face Gizzy, and Brannon will be permitted to box a windup at McKeesport next week. Incidentally, Brannon, instead of losing his purse, was paid on a basis of six rounds fought, and received $62.50, minus a takeout of $10 for his license. This seemingly comes under the head of a foul all the way around, although no real foul was committed in the bout.

Incidentally, no mention is made in the weekly bulletin of the commission, which contains the suspension of Brannon, of the disposition of Bobby Burns' case for his conduct in his bout with Johnny Haggerty on the same card Monday night. He must have fought a clean fight that merely seemed to be unclean.

Between Rounds

Jackie Rodgers, local knockout bantamweight star, plans to do his training in the mountains at St. Michaels, Pa., for his 10-round windup with Gene Huat, the French star, at Motor Square Garden, February 10. He will leave within a few days, accompanied by his manager, Johnny Deutsch, and a couple of sparring partners. Incidentally, he denies that he fears to meet Johnny Dunn again, but, on the other hand, would welcome a third bout with the classy New Kensington featherweight, who holds two decisions over him. He thinks he can knock out Dunn in his present form. Here is a good match for one of the local clubs.

Rodgers believes he is destined for big things in the ring. He has discarded his boxing style entirely and boasts a string of six straight victories by the knockout route. "I find I do not get marked up as much slugging as I did boxing," he said today. Jackie resumed training yesterday with his game ankle, twisted in his bout with Pete Zivic on New Year's Day, still taped.

AMATEUR BOUTS TONIGHT

An amateur boxing card is scheduled under the auspices of the Pastorious A. C., in Lithuanian Hall, McKees Rocks, tonight. Sparky Ewalt and Pete Landini will box in the main bout. Other bouts follow: Dick Prichard vs. John Montabana, Joe Paznick vs. Chuck Mullins, Stanley Vilter vs. John Birk and Al Van Gera vs. Stanley Deel.

Another boxing show will be held by the Keystone Club of Franklin, Pa., on February 7. The card has not yet been arranged.

Phil Goldstein, local lightweight boxer, is back in New York, training for bouts.

Cooney Martin, Johnstown promoter, has leased the Vigilant Fire Company gymnasium in the Flood City and will change the name to the Martin gymnasium. It will be open to the public, including boxers and business men seeking exercise.

BOOST FOR GIZZY BOUT

Ray Foutts, East Liverpool promoter and former matchmaker of the Junction Park open-air arena at New Brighton, kicks in with a boost for the Battling Gizzy-Chet Smallwood bout carded at Junction Park, January 23. He had this pair on at his opening indoor show at Wellsville, O., and it was a thriller.

Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, boxes Johnny Popoic at Wheeling next Monday night.

Jack (Kid) Berg plans to return to England following his bout with Tony Canzoneri in Madison Square Garden, New York, tomorrow night. Harry Carlton boxes Sammy Dorfman in the semi-final and the Perlick twins, of Kalamazoo, are on in preliminaries, Herman boxing Jake Zeramby, of Boston, in a 10-rounder, and Henry meeting Edouardo Corti for six rounds. The winner of the Berg-Canzoneri tilt will meet Al Singer next month.

Vidal Gregorio boxes Sammy Tisch in a 10-round semi-final to the Harry Smith-Jimmy Francis bout in New York Saturday night.

A sellout looms for the opening show at the new Coliseum tomorrow night, with Tom Malco, rugged local welterweight, meeting Vincent Hardbright, of Cincinnati, in the 10-round main bout, Mickey Duris, of Johnstown, boxing Ken Hargraves, of New Kensington, in the semi-final. Harry Spencer, new addition to the local fistic colony, facing Georgie Chambers, of the East End, in the second bout, and Roy Minteer, New Castle blond, opposing Jimmy Thomas, Negro, of the Hill, in the opener.

George Trafton, conqueror of Art Shires, meets Rudy Hoffman in Chicago tonight. Billy Jones and Don Petria clash in Philadelphia.

SIMMONS BEST AT DRIVING IN RUNS

Al Simmons, brilliant outfielder of the titular Athletics, finished a bit ahead of Babe Ruth in a fine race for the honor of driving in the most runs during the 1929 season. The Polish star sent 157 counters over the plate, Ruth piling up a card of 154.

Al Simmons.

In giving out the figures today, the Howe News Bureau picks out other outstanding feats as follows:

Max Bishop became so particular about what he swung at, opposing pitchers grew weary of seeing him around the plate and passed him to first 128 times in 129 games. Blue was second with 126 bases on balls in 151 games, while Gehrig with 122 and Foxx with 103 were the others who were awarded more than 100 free tickets. Babe Ruth, who has been honored for years with more than 100 bases on balls per season and holds the record with 170, accepted only 72 in 135 games.

Joe Sewell tied his own world record of four strikeouts in 152 games, while Cochrane whiffed only eight times in 135 games and Sam Rice nine in 150. Young Jimmy Foxx struck out 70 times trying for home runs, two more than Gehrig, who had 68 and 10 more than Ruth, who this year fanned only 60 times.

By JULIUS LEVIN

The Goldensons, of the South Side, will attempt to strengthen their position in the Allegheny County League tonight when they invade Elizabeth to meet the Independents in the only league contest on the program. The Siano-Charleroi battle, originally scheduled at Duquesne University tonight, has been canceled.

The South Siders have shown a lot of improvement in recent contests and are expected to make a strong bid for the second-half championship of the County League.

TITLE AT STAKE

Tomorrow night the Homestead Ackermans invade Allentown Turner Hall to meet Dad Rogers' Allentown passers.

The championship of the Central Pittsburgh League may be settled at Forresters' Hall tonight when the Irene Kaufmann Settlement House passers engage the Forresters. The I. K. S. needs one victory to clinch the first-half title.

The Young Men's Hebrew Association renews acquaintances with an old rival tonight when it meets East Liberty Y. M. C. A. on the Y. M. H. A. floor.

Rubinstein and Leisenring showed superb form last night, as the Goldensons administered a 38-33 drubbing to the Fintex quint in their County League battle in the South Side Market House.

KINGSLEY BEATEN

North Side Community set down Kingsley House, 37 to 21, in the West Penn League and Manchester Community tripped Hornes, 37 to 21, in the Central. St. Joseph's defeated C. M. C., 24-20, in the Lyceum loop. In an independent tilt, Kiski tripped East Liberty Y, 35 to 30. The lineups:

HYATT CHEERS DYING LAD

room of the dying lad, Dick attempted to rise in his bed as he whispered, "Hello, Charley."

CHEERS DYING LAD

With his eyes filled with tears, Charley tried to be cheerful as he saw within the shadow of death the lad who had idolized him since they first met in pre-high school days.

"Hello, Richard, how are you?" replied the visitor.

"Oh, not so bad, I guess. That sure was a great game you played against Montana. It sure was great. We did well, didn't we?"

Following a few minutes' basketball gossip, the ill boy fell asleep for the first time in three days. He never again mentioned Hyatt's name or basketball.

Hyatt tiptoed from the room on the verge of a breakdown. He knew that he had seen his little friend alive for the last time. Richard died last night, a victim of an affliction of the brain.

SPEARS LEAVES TO SIGN AT OREGON

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 16.—(AP)—With the University of Minnesota making last-minute efforts to keep him as head football coach, Dr. Clarence W. Spears started today for the west with the ofefr of an $11,500 annual salary as gridiron coach at the University of Oregon awaiting him.

Dr. Spears was elected coach at a meeting of the institution's executive council at Eugene last night, and he will meet Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the Oregon university, at Missoula, Mont., tomorrow to discuss final acceptance.

Coach Spears has been dissatisfied with management of athletic affairs at Minnesota, especially over financial matters relating to assistant coaches and their salaries. The Gohper mentor recieves $7,500 a year at Minnesota and devotes all his time to football. At Oregon, in addition to the salary increase, he would be permitted to practice medicine in the off-football season.

The senate athletic committee, governing body of sports at the Gopher institution, held a hastily-called meeting late yesterday to discuss the situation with Dr. Spears. While the meeting was behind closed doors, it is understood that Spears aired his grievances fully and presented conditions under which he might remain here.

Whatever decision the committee reached, if any, was not made public, but probably was referred to Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, president of the university, who is in Washington, D. C., and who is expected to return Sunday. Dr. Coffman said at Washington last night he had wired Dr. Spears to withhold his final decision until the president could confer with him. Whether Dr. Spears will accede to this was not learned here.

Dr. Spears came to Minnesota five years ago from West Virginia University. During his tenure as coach at Minnesota, the Gophers have won 28 games, lost 9 and tied 3.

LEAVES FOR MEETING

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University of Oregon, prepared to leave here today for Missoula, Mont., to meet Dr. Clarence W. Spears, University of Minnesota football coach, and discuss terms of the Gopher mentor's contract as head football coach of the local institution.

En route to Missoula, Dr. Hall will stop off at Portland to call a meeting of the executive committee of the State Board of Higher Education for final approval of Dr. Spears' selection, which was made at a meeting of the Oregon executive council here last night.

Tom Stoddard, president of the student body and chairman of the executive council, announced Dr. Spears would receive an annual salary of $11,500. This is $3,000 more than Capt. John J. McEwan, former coach, was paid.

Shaughnessy Ends Career as Ice Pilot

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Tom Shaughnessy will complete his abbreviated career as manager of the Chicago Blackhawks tonight as soon as the siren ends the battle between the Blackhawks and the speedy Boston Bruins, pace-setters in the National Hockey League.

BUDDY OVEREND IS RE-ELECTED AT FIELD CLUB

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Clarence (Buddy) Overend, graduate manager of athletics at Carnegie Tech, has been re-elected president of the Pittsburgh Field Club, the board of directors of the Aspinwall institution announced today. Clarence W. Close was re-elected vice president, and John W. Carr, veteran popular official of the club, again was given the secretary-treasurer's chair.

The board of directors of the Field Club also announced the re-election of the following members of the board: F. G. Bannerot, A. J. Diebold, J. A. Ellen, J. G. Farquhar, H. F. Gleason, C. L. Hagan, Frank A. Johnston, J. F. Newman, George W. Ratcliffe, C. K. Robinson, J. N. Succop and William T. Todd, Jr.

The Pittsburgh Field Club is looking forward to another progressive year following a most satisfactory 1929. Dave McKay will be back as professional, and it is expected young Jack McNamara will carry on in his late father's place as greenkeeper. Jack is thoroughly drilled in greenkeeping, thanks to his father, and undoubtedly will be a big asset to the club.

COUNTY LINKS PROGRESS

Director of County Parks Paul B. Riis was reported to have said yesterday that the new South Park golf links would be ready for play in mid-June, weather conditions being favorable, and that the North Park layout may be opened, at least in part, at about the same time. The North Park course was started after the South Park links were well under way.

City Office Manager of County Parks John Jay Burke was reported to have said there is a real possibility of the National amateur public links championship being awarded and played upon one of the county courses within two years. The opening of the county courses will mark the first time suitable public courses here have been available for such a tournament.

Miami Jockey Club Meeting Opens Today

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Some 800 horses were in the stables today for the opening of the Miami Jockey Club's 45-day meet at the Hialeah track.

The opening, which inaugurates the social season for wealthy winter residents of the Miami area, takes on added significance this year because of the recent purchase of the club by northern capitalists and sportsmen, led by J. C. Carstairs, Barclay H. Warburton and George Widener.

Six races, one of them the $2,000 added Inaugural Handicap, have been arranged for today.

W. & J. SURPRISES TECH, WINS BY 33-24 SCORE

DUKES DEFEAT AMERICAN U., 27 TO 14

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 16.—With Stew Wilson playing brilliantly in his first appearance in a collegiate floor struggle, Washington and Jefferson College defeated Carnegie Tech, 33 to 24, here last night. The outcome was considerable of a surprise, as on the basis of their play in earlier games the Plaid quintet was expected to win. Wilson negotiated five baskets for the Presidents and was the spark plug seemingly needed to speed up the W. & J. attack, which had failed to function against Allegheny and Bethany.

STIRRING BATTLE

It was a stirring struggle from start to finish, featured by rallies and counter-attacks on the part of the members of the two teams. The crowd was kept in a frenzy as the tide changed from one team to the other.

W. & J. led by a point at the half, increased its lead to eight in the third period, only to find themselves pressed again as the Tartans braced and tied the score at 18. It was nip and tuck for a few minutes, but in the final stages of the struggle Wilson did most of his scoring and put the Presidents well out in front. The lineup:

Wash-Jeff.—33.		Carnegie—24.
Lewis	F	Nease
Umberger	F	Webster
Martin	C	Fox
McNeill	G	Traa
Butler	G	Leonard

Substitutions—Joy for Umberger, Wilson for Martin; Carnegie, Weiss for Webster, Merton for Fox, High for Leonard, Eyth for High, Schimacher for Eyth. Score at half—W. & J. 10, Tech 9. Field goals—Lewis 3, Wilson 5, McNeil 3, Butler; Carnegie, Nease 2, Webster 3, Merton 2, High 2. Foul goals—W. & J., Lewis, 2 out of 6, Umberger, none out of 1; Martin, none out of 1; Wilson, none out of one; McNeil, 1 out of 1; Carnegie, Nease, 1 out of 2; Webster, 1 out of 2; Fox, 1 out of 1; Merton, 2 out of 2; Traa, 1 out of 1; Leonard, none out of 3. Referee—Red Brickley, Pittsburgh. Umpire—Al Slack.

The Carnegie Tech Plebes defeated the Wash-Jeff Freshmen, 26 to 21 in a preliminary contest. The lineup:

Tech Frosh—26.		Wash-Jeff—21.
DeBrayne	F	Furjanic
Smith	F	Snowden
Stentz	C	Barkell
Fergus	G	Zagray
Macey	G	Schaeffer

Substitutes—Tech: Walenta, Burns, Seegel. Wash-Jeff: Thompson, Johnson, M. Bartell. Field goals—Tech: Debrayne, Walenta, Smith 3, Burns 2, Fergus, Seegel 2. Wash-Jeff: Snowden 2, Johnson, Bartell 3, Zagray. Foul goals—Tech, 6 out of 11; Wash-Jeff, 7 out of 14. Referee—Red Brickley. Umpire—Al Slack.

DUKES TOP AMERICAN U.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Duquesne University opened its Eastern invasion with a 27-14 victory over American University here last night, the flashy visitors stepping off to an early lead and never being in any real danger. At halftime the local lads were trailing by 11-4.

Brud Stephens, acting captain of the Red and Blue, took command of things at the very outset. He rolled in four field baskets during the encounter as well as playing a sensational floor game, directing his club's maneuvers both on the attack and defense.

Shabs Parry, his mate, also was hitting the hoop consistently, totaling four field goals, while Ben Lubic got the other three twoplyers for the visitors.

The Bluffites showed fine form at the foul line, accounting for five penalty flings in six attempts. The locals only made good four shots out of 10 tries. Tonight the Dukes play Catholic U. in the second game of their tour. The lineup:

Duquesne—27.		American U.—14.
Abele	F	Olson
Lubic	F	Woods
McGeever	C	Sells
Stephens	G	Olsen
Parry	G	Targee

Score by halves—

Duquesne	11	16—27
American U.	4	10—14

Field goals—Lubic 3, Stephens 4, Parry 4, Colison 1, Woods 2, Sells 1, Tarree 1. Fouls—Duquesne, 5 out of 6; American U., 4 out of 10. Substitutes—Vernon for McGeever; Fuchs for Targee. Referee—Faber. Umpire—Dean.

There's a fellow that knows what he is doing all the time."

The new pilot is anxious to see Catcher Al Bool in action. With the Baltimore sensation and Rolly Hemsley riding high in esteem of all experts, the Pirate chieftain has little worries about the catching end of the team.

Ens thinks his outfield is a corker.

"Comorosky is one of those kids that may break out and have a fine year in every way," mused the pilot. "That fellow is capable of big things. American Association men will tell you they never saw the outfield played like Adam played it. And what could be sweeter than the Waner boys. Moreover, Mosolf looks like such a natural hitter that he should be heard from."

Owner Dreyfuss listened to his manager and then remarked:

"I haven't said much about the club, but I think it will fool a lot of people. We had a much better team last year than was generally felt, and the club of this year should be quite a bit better."

George Long, Noted Turfman, Dies

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—George J. Long, 77, prominent turfman, whose horses twice won the Kentucky Derby, dropped dead while in a business conference in his office here yesterday. Doctors said his death was due to a heart attack.

Long, known as "The Master of Bashford Manor," captured his first Kentucky Derby with Azra in 1892. In 1906 he repeated with Sir Huon. His filly, Kathleen, won the Kentucky Oaks. For many years he was a member of the State Racing Commission, to which he was appointed by governors of both political parties. The Bashford Manor stakes, one of the feature events of the Churchill Downs race meeting, was named after Long's estate.

Pitt Dissension Rumors False, Jock Says

Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, Pitt football coach, today is busy denying rumors that a feeling of jealousy and enmity among his Panthers contributed to their overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Southern California Trojans on New Year's Day.

The rumors were brought to Sutherland's attention as a result of the publication in a New York newspaper of an article in which it was reported that ticket scalping, a fist fight and jealousy over all-America recognition all were contributing factors in the Pitt defeat.

Sutherland branded all such reports as false.

SCHULTZ MADE TEXAS PILOT

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Joe Schultz, one of the many names that make the baseball welkin ring in the South Hills, is on the way up the managerial ladder. Joe has been named to pilot the Houston club of the Texas League.

Joe Schultz.

The Houston franchise is controlled by the St. Louis Cardinals' owners, in whose employ the Pittsburgher has been for many seasons. During the past two years Joe handled the reins of leadership at Danville, Ill., the town having a Three-I League entry.

Schultz's promotion to the job in Houston is the result of his admirable qualities. As a player, Joe was extremely popular among the men of the diamond and when given a chance to lead others he quickly showed marked ability. Schultz was a Pirate infielder for a short time at the start of his career.

Another game was added to the Pirates' spring exhibition tour today when the home office completed negotiations for a contest at Tucson, Ariz., with the Arizona State League club of that city. The contest will be played March 31.

The Pittsburgh management has been working for some time on the new barnstorming dates. After the Buccos finish with the Cubs in Los Angeles, they are due for three nights on sleepers before reaching Houston, Tex. The game at Tucson, it is felt, will help to keep the condition edge which the players hope to have when they leave California.

MOORE, LOCAL STAR, VICTOR

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Ray Conger, Illinois A. C., fell as he went into a sprint finish in the Myles McHugh Memorial 1,500-meter run over the board track of the One Hundred Second Engineers' Armory last night and was able only to take third place. Gus Moore, Pittsburgh, won the event, with Gus Venzke, Swedish-American Club, second. There were only three participants.

The race, scheduled as the feature of the Pastime Athletic Club games, lost its international color through the withdrawal of Eino Purje, of Finland, on account of illness. Daniel J. Ferris, secretary of the A. A. U., said he would investigate the Finnish runner's failure to compete.

With Moore leading by a scant 10 yards, Conger attempted to pass Venzke. In doing so, he touched the foot of Venzke and fell sprawling on th board track. Moore won easily in 4:04 2-5.

Willie Ritola was defeated by Joe McClusky, Fordham's freshman cross-country champion, who was spotted 75 yards in the two-mile event.

Squash League Tilts Carded Saturday

The second round of play in the Inter-club Invitation Squash Racquets League tournament gets under way Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the Keystone Athletic Club courts, when the Pittsburgh Golf Club five-men teams meet the K. A. C. team.

The golf club team will be composed of McClintic, Wolfe, Ebbert, Gould and Herron. The K. A. C. team will be selected from the following: Stocking, Fagan, Cocken, White, McCutcheon, Bailey, Bickel, Smith, Manos and Woods.

The Allegheny Country Club also plays the P. A. A. team on the latter's courts.

JOHNNY BOWEN HURT

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 16.—Johnny Bowen, former local boxer, was seriously injured in an automobile accident near Daytona Beach, Fla., recently. He was on his way from Washington, D. C., to Miami to seek a place on the preliminary card of the Sharkey-Scott battle when the car in which he was riding overturned. Bowen is a brother of Andy and Eddie Bowen, who fought in this district five years ago.

CARDS GET CATCHER

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Robert Morrow, a catcher, has been obtained from the Rochester club of the International League, in exchange for Catcher Gus Mancuso, Clarence Lloyd, secretary of the St. Louis Cardinals, announced today. Morrow is favored to land a third-string catching job with the Cards this year.

KNOCKOUTS MARK SHOW

Four knockouts marked the amateur boxing show staged under the auspices of the Homewood-Brushton Baseball Club, in the Twenty-eighth Signal Corps Armory, East Liberty, last night. The summary:

126-pound class—John Montabano, Braddock Library A. C., knocked out Marty Mehalik, Duke O'Hara Club, 1 round. Time—50 seconds. Joe Hollis, Duke O'Hara Club, won from Sam Filner, Irene Kaufmann Settlement A. C., 3 rounds. Paul Monar, Homestead Library A. C., knocked out Jack McGann, Willow Club, 1 round. Time—49 seconds. Joe Bazone, Duke O'Hara Club, won from Jack Comfort, Hogan A. C., technical knockout, 1 round. Time—35 seconds.

A large crowd witnessed the amateur-professional boxing smoker and entertainment held under the auspices of the Ninth Ward Republican Club in Forrester Hall, Lawrenceville, last night. Lively fighting marked the bouts.

Tony Herrera, Mexican lightweight star, boxed a three-round feature exhibition, and in other bouts, Jack Burke met Harry Williams, Jackie Rodgers boxed Sammy Paris, K. O. Riley battled Hugh Haggerty, and Red Riley and Johnny Fundy put on an old-timers' bout. A series of amateur bouts also was staged. George Bulger and his trio, the Elliott family and others entertained. James (Red) Mason and Johnny Deutsch were the announcers, and Skipper Manning refereed.

M'Larnin, Mandell Go Date Changed

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—The third match between Jimmy McLarnin and Sammy Mandell, scheduled for the Chicago Stadium February 4, probably will not be held until February 28, owing to a conflict of dates on the pugilistic calendar, it was revealed today.

PRINCETON BEATEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Columbia defeated Princeton 38 to 25, in the Lions' opening Eastern Intercollegiate League basketball game and went into a tie with Pennsylvania for the league leadership.

JACK DELANEY QUITS RING

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Jack Delaney, retired light-heavyweight champion of the world, has fought his last fight.

Dr. George W. Hawley, bone specialist, wrote "finis" to Delaney's ring career today when he declared that an injury to the right arm which has bothered the former champion for two years threatened to cripple the arm permanently unless Delaney abandons boxing.

Delaney, with tears in his eyes, heard the doctor's dictum after an X-ray examination.

Delaney retired from the light-heavyweight title to enter heavyweight ranks. He was planning a comeback campaign. His first bout was to have been against Tom Kirby, of Boston, at the Providence arena on January 24.

The injury is causing the bone to chip off within his right elbow and the chipped bone is falling into a cavity which forces the elbow muscles to lock, Dr. Hawley said.

'UP TO JUDGE,' SHIRES SAYS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—"I'll tell it to the 'Judge.' He'll advise me what to do and I'll do it."

Thus Arthur (The Great) Shires lamented his announced retirement from the ring today upon receipt of offers totaling $47,000 for four more bouts. A Chicago promoter offered $35,000 for two bouts, a Los Angeles promoter $7,500 for another one and a Philadelphia promoter $5,000 for a single appearance.

Shires has been invited to visit Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, at noon on Saturday. He will place his troubles before the judge for advice.

"The judge is a good friend of mine," the talkative Chi Sox player said, "and I know he won't advise me wrong.

"I look to him and E. S. Barnard, president of the American League, to tell me what to do. I want to do whatever is best for baseball and I know they'll tell me.

"I'm just a poor boy and these offers look mighty good to me," he added.

hours depend entirely on what time you happen to read this.

One year ago, Bethany's basketball team came to Pittsburgh, and, by scoring five or six points in less than a minute and a half, beat the Dukes. This same team will be back again next Tuesday. Figure out for yourself how you are going to get into the ball park.

If Tom Leib leaves Notre Dame to coach at Alabama Poly (Auburn), the word is out that Adam Walsh will desert Yale and return to South Bend as Rock's chief aid.

A well known eastern college is dickering for the services of Ray Montgomery as assistant football coach. If you care to make a guessing contest out of this, I'll give you this hint—the school in question had an all-America end two years ago.

Charley Paddock is coming East in March and may attempt a comeback this spring on Eastern tracks.

MANDELL HELD TO DRAW

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, and Manuel Quintero, the Cuban cavalier, battled through 10 torrid rounds to a draw decision in their non-title bout at the Miami Beach Kennel Club's arena last night. A late rally by the Cuban enabled him to reach even terms with the champion.

Promoter G. R. K. Carter reported a $32,000 gate. Mandell's contract called for $10.000 of the receipts, while Quintero worked on a 12½ per centage basis with a small guarantee.

In the semi-final bout, delayed in favor of the main go, Sam Crosby, 146, Columbus, Ga., and Tommy Jones, 145, Macon, Ga., presented a rough and tumble draw in 10 rounds.

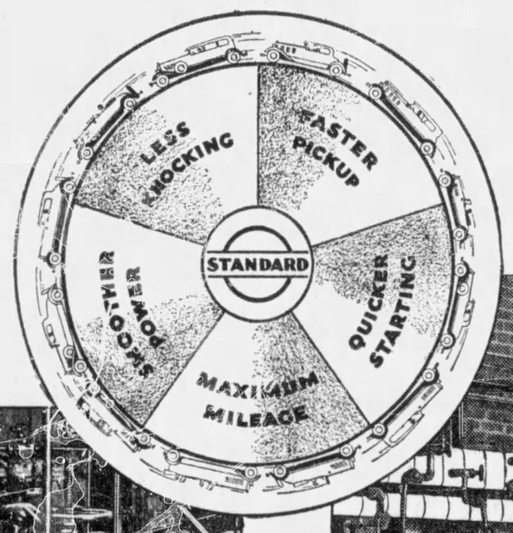
ANOTHER TRIUMPH OF LEADERSHIP

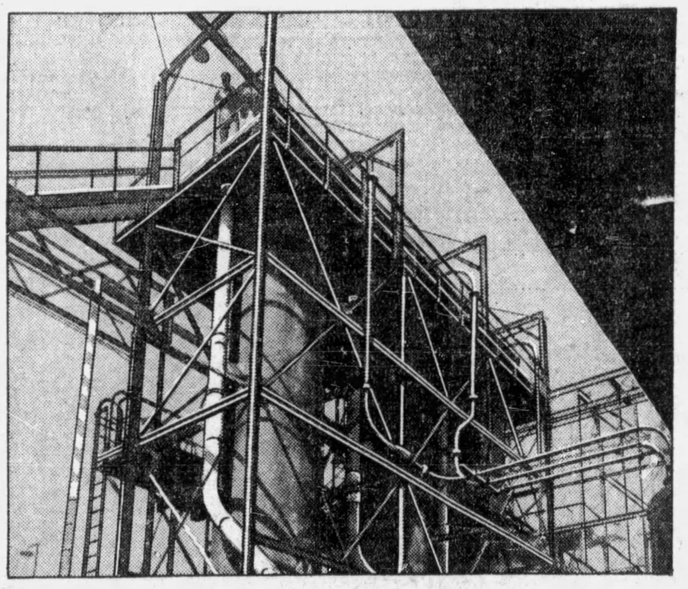
the new-processed "STANDARD" Gasoline made by latest and best refining methods . . . but read for yourself the story of this wonderful high-test gasoline



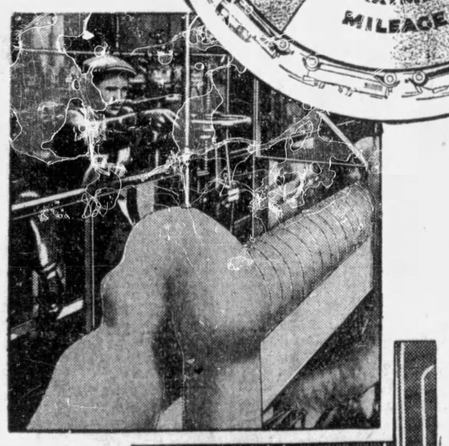
FROM THE ROARING INFERNO the distillates pass into the huge separating drums where heavy fractions and impurities are removed. Nothing reaches your motor except pure, rich, new-processed "Standard" Gasoline.

BUILT TO PLEASE THE PUBLIC. Huge are the giant cracking stills erected to produce a popular-priced gasoline better than any now sold to motorists.

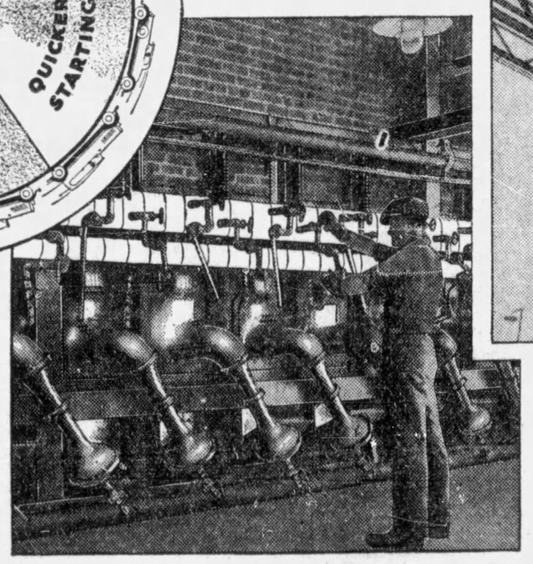
Hotter than the fabled Vulcan's furnace is the searing heat that literally "tears" the pure, rich gasoline from the heavy oil. No wonder this new-processed "Standard" Gasoline is smoother-powered.



Skyscrapers of poured cement—in which the pure, crystal, new-processed "Standard" Gasoline is literally "cracked out" of super-heated and compressed heavy oils. Night and day, these huge separators turn out high-test "Standard" gasoline to fill the ever-growing popular demand.



NO HOLIDAYS Day and night the refinery is alive with industry. The monster fire boxes never cool. The giant cracking coils are on twenty-four hour duty to care for the tremendous increase in new-processed "Standard" Gasoline consumption.



NO GUESSWORK in this "Standard" control room. Trained experts constantly watch the big-faced meters. Heat and pressure can deviate no more than a point or two before corrected. Checks and rechecks, tests and retests are continuously made to insure a constant supply of uniform new-processed "Standard" Gasoline at no extra cost.

AFTER months of patient experimentation and the installation of entirely new refining equipment, we offer the motoring public a truly balanced gasoline—a gasoline with no one quality sacrificed at the expense of any other.

The new-processed "Standard" is not better merely on one or two points. It possesses in a balanced combination ALL those qualities which experts agree go to make up an all 'round superior motor fuel. Quicker starting. Quicker pickup. Smoother power. Less knocking. You can judge the new-processed "Standard" on any one of these specifications, or in combination. However you test it, it sets a new record in motor performance. And yet you pay no more for it than for ordinary or inferior gasolines. Sold everywhere at all "Standard" pumps. Test it today.

BUYERS SHOULD KNOW ABOUT MARGINS

Ruling Needed to Require Interview Before Name Is Put on Firms' Books

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The opposition expressed in this column to proposed patent medicine political remedies for regulating the speculative behavior of the public springs from no belief on my part that the machinery of Wall street functions perfectly.

As a matter of fact, though I believe that the methods which solons on Capitol Hill have proposed are fallacious, I am in sympathy with their larger objective of seeking to protect the public.

Unlike those politicians at Washington who would introduce the spirit of Volsteadism into the financial world, I do not favor abolishing marginal trade or short selling by law. The consequences of such efforts at financial prohibition would be greater than the present evils, and the experience of Germany with the exchange act of 1896 demonstrates clearly that such prohibitions lead only to financial bootlegging.

But, if outside political regulation is of questionable value, it by no means follows that the governors of the New York Stock Exchange should smugly take refuge behind things as they are. The stock exchange represents an outstanding experiment in the capacity of business to regulate itself. It has made marked progress since 1920. It should not stop progressing. The next step should be to require member brokers to acquaint customers with the hazards of marginal speculation before accepting new accounts. No prospects should be beckoned into such dangerous waters without knowing what they are subjecting themselves to.

SHOULD EXPLAIN MARGINS

The stock exchange ought to put through a ruling immediately that no new marginal customer be added to the books unless he has had a preliminary personal interview, or at least an individual letter from a partner in the firm. In such an interview, verbal or written, the partner ought to be required by the stock exchange to explain that marginal buying entails risks which outright purchases do not involve. He ought to explain that in effect the customer is making a demand loan, subject to call at any time, for the entire difference between the purchase price of securities and the amount of margin or part payment, which the customer puts up. At such an interview, the broker should learn the status of his customer as a credit risk.

The stock exchange ought to require a partner in connection with the interview with new customers to send to each new marginal customer a little sheet, which the stock exchange could prepare, explaining in A B C language the essential character of marginal trading—its uses and abuses, its opportunities and its hazards. To do less is to tend to support the charge of critics, responsible and otherwise, that the brokerage business inevitably feeds on crops of suckers. At present, brokers ask new customers to sign consent agreements, which are hedged in legalistic phrases, which fail to serve the educational purpose of the popular version which is here suggested.

PROSPECTS IMPAIRED

The life prospects of many thousands of individuals were seriously impaired during the late October early November debacle in Wall street. Those who knew what they were doing are not to be pitied. But many amateurs entered into the hazardous realm of marginal trading without any real acquaintance with the hazards and the true nature of the operation. Customers' men, eager to make commissions for their firms, lured numerous prospects who lacked either the capital or the specialized intelligence to make a success of marginal trading.

If my proposal for putting the brokerage business on a more civilized, socially useful basis would curtail the volume of activity on the Big Board, what of it? The welfare of the nation hardly hinges on sessions of record-breaking proportions, in which hopes are exchanged among multitudes who are somewhat bewildered by the great whirlpool into which they have been drawn.

Marginal speculation, like tight rope walking, serves an economic function, and should not be abolished by law. But, like tight rope walking, it is safe only for the small minority with the necessary skill and training. It would be brutal to lead blind folded infants to a tight rope, and ask them to walk across. In the bull market days, unscrupulous customers' men, hungry for gain, did virtually that. In London, members brokers may take business only from those to whom they have been personally introduced.

Cost of Living Is Lowest in Recent Years.

By B. C. FORBES

IT NOW costs less than at any other time in recent years to live in the United States. You may not have found it so, but that is what all authoritative figures show.

The outlook is that the downward trend will continue—but perhaps so slightly that you and I will not be aware of it except when we read about it.

COMMODITY prices in this country are today lower than at the opening of any year since we entered the war, with the exception of 1922 and 1923.

British prices are the lowest since the government began compiling statistics 10 years ago.

Italy reports a similar movement and claims that, "measured in gold values," prices there are "lower than in any other country."

The price trend in Germany also has been downward lately.

France, and more especially Paris, on the other hand, are up in arms against the rise in the cost of living there.

ONE American professor—who proclaimed just before the panic that stock prices could not possibly decline drastically—is now issuing alarmist predictions that the world is facing a terrible scarcity of gold and that all kinds of commodity prices will crumble. In view of our more enlightened methods of doing business, including the wider use of instruments of credit, we need not lose sleep over this dangled specter.

Most economists agree, however, that the cost of living is likely to creep downwards in all civilized lands during coming years. Prices are still far above pre-war levels here and elsewhere.

SENSATIONAL declines have been occurring in several commodities. Silver the other day touched the lowest quotation in more than a century. Coffee is the cheapest in 20 years—bringing retail cuts of as much as 10 cents a pound within recent weeks. The collapse in coffee has been long predicted because Brazil, by strong-arm methods, involving the borrowing of scores of millions, kept the price at a wholly artificial level. Rubber, which the British tried to peg, is also now extraordinarily cheap, far below the cost of producing. Abnormal stimulation of sugar production to meet war needs has been followed by ruinously low prices for growers.

VALIANT efforts are being made in this country to avoid price-demoralization. Some industries have achieved greater results than others. The oil people, although they have made progress, are still considerably at sixes and sevens. The steel industry has maintained stability. The lumber industry has long suffered from overproduction and cut-throat competition. Conditions in the rubber manufacturing industry are far from satisfactory. Zinc is the lowest in years.

Our copper leaders thus far have held the fort against all attacks upon the 18 cents per pound level, thanks to a greater degree of co-operation than has been rounded up in most industries. Statistics published this week reveal that copper production can be kept in tune with consumption.

Most automobile manufacturers, outside the lowest-priced field, have raised, not lowered, prices in recent weeks, an experiment which will be followed with keen interest, not only throughout the industry, but by all interested in the stock market.

YESTERDAY this extremely interesting dispatch from Minneapolis appeared in the newspapers:

"The Farmers' National Grain Corporation entered the Minneapolis grain market for the first time when the corporation bought its first carload of spring wheat here. The action followed earlier announcements that it was ready to buy grain at the low price of $1.25 a bushel fixed by the Farm Board. After the one purchase and announcement that an agent had been named to buy wheat here, prices went back above the loan price level, and no additional purchases were made."

What the United States government, through its Farm Board, is now doing constitutes one of the most momentous price-fixing experiments in economic history. Whether such courage will win ultimate success remains to be seen.

FORMERLY, it was accepted that rising prices stimulated prosperity, and vice versa. Yet the United States has had prosperity during recent years when the price level was not rising. So, let us take hope.

New Cross-Country Route Is Planned

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. — Dow, Jones & Co. reported that the creation of a new trans-continental route, for years the subject of controversy, was nearing realization.

The new route, it was said, would be the outcome of an agreement between the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad with the controlling interests of the Denver and Salt Lake, a Moffat road.

Construction of the cut-off would permit use of the Moffat tunnel and effect a reduction of about 12 hours in running time on through business. The Denver and Rio Grande Western is controlled jointly by the Missouri Pacific and the Western Pacific.

Am. Radiator Profit to Equal 1928

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation is expected to report earnings for 1929 about equal to the combined profits of the individual companies in 1928. Last March the present corporation was formed to act as a holding company to control the American Radiator Company and the Standard Manufacturing Company.

In 1928 American Radiator earned $12,413,742 after all charges, while Standard Sanitary earned $8,894,585. The combined net profit was $21,308,327. This would be equivalent to $2.06 a share on the common stock of the new company on the basis of about 10,158,823 shares outstanding at present.

The common stock is on a $1.50 annual dividend basis. The issues senior to the common are small in consideration of the extent of the organization's operations. The 7 per cent preferred stock outstanding amounts to $4,786,400 and the only funded debt consists of $10,000,000 of American Radiator 4½s. The last consolidated balance sheet showed total assets of $187,596,889. This did not include three new subsidiaries.

Radiator Sales Ahead

THE organization's business was affected by two distinct trends last year. As a result of these the annual report is expected to show that the profits of the radiator division gained while those of the sanitary division declined.

Construction of industrial plants and office buildings was active last year. This helped the sales of radiators and heating plants. Residential construction, on the other hand, was slow and accounted for a less satisfactory demand for bath room fittings and other plumbing supplies. While business and residential construction both require products of each division of the company, business buildings necessitate a larger proportion of investment in heating plants while the reverse is true of residences.

Keen competitive conditions and price cutting tactics contributed to the smaller profits of Standard Sanitary last year.

Leader in Supply Field

PREVIOUS to their consolidation, American Radiator was the leading manufacturer of heating apparatus and Standard Sanitary was the largest maker of plumbing supplies. The merger gave the new organization an undisputed position in these two fields which are totally different from a manufacturing standpoint but which serve the same customers. The arrangement is proving advantageous to both organizations. They are mutually helpful, although each maintains its separate identity.

The ability of the new company to supply the requirements of the building trade has been increased since the original consolidation by the acquisition of three new subsidiaries. On July 12 the Campbell Metal Window Corporation was purchased. This company makes a patented type of double hung metal window which is used in office buildings, hotels and apartments.

This was followed by the purchase of the Thomas Maddock's Sons Company and the C. F. Church Manufacturing Company. These organizations add to the sanitary equipment line.

In 1928 the three new subsidiaries reported combined net profit of $915,009. Payment for each company was made in common stock of American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Corporation. At the time of its formation the new corporation had 8,937,460 shares of common stock outstanding. This was increased to the present amount of about 10,158,823 shares through the purchase of the new properties and the offering of rights to buy one additional share at $25 a share for every 10 shares on May 2.

Westinghouse, G-E May Sell Own Radios

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The General Electric Company and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company are understood to be considering the sale through their own organizations of radio receiving sets to bear their own names. In the case of General Electric, sales probably would be handled through its merchandising department at Bridgeport, Conn. Neither of the companies previously has sold radio sets directly, such sales being through Radio Corporation of America, for whom General Electric and Westinghouse were manufacturers.

Plans are understood to be sufficiently well advanced so that sale of sets will begin in the fall, when the heavy radio buying season begins.

Employment Off 2% in December

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Employment was reported today by the Department of Labor to have decreased 2 per cent in December as compared with November, and payrolls showed a decline of eight-tenths per cent.

Figures compiled by the Bureau of Labor also showed that employment in manufacturing industries was 3.8 per cent below the corresponding month of last year, while payrolls were 5.8 per cent lower. For the entire 12 months, however, the index of employment for all industries combined was 3.9 per cent above the level for 1928 and 1.1 per cent higher than the average of 1927. Earnings of employes averaged 6.2 per cent higher than the preceding year and 4 per cent above the level for 1927.

Stocks Close Heavy — Dairy Shares Rally

STOCKS CLOSE HEAVY AFTER SEE-SAWING

Early Gains in Market Are Followed by Declines Near Close of Session

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Persistent demand for utility and several of the leading industrial shares lifted the stock market irregularly higher today, despite another bear onslaught against isolated shares. Trading expanded notably. Sales during the first two hours of trading totalled nearly 1,500,000, exceeding the turnover for the full five-hour session on Monday.

Failure of the heavy selling of Montgomery Ward to unsettle the market yesterday was reasuring to operators for the rise and a vigorous bear drive against Radio today was viewed nonchalantly in most quarters, although several of the motors and oils were inclined to sag.

BANK RATE STANDS

The Bank of England made no change in its discount rate of 5 per cent and hopes of a decrease in the New York Federal Reserve Bank rate late today vanished. Credit conditions continued easy, however, and the belief persisted in banking quarters that money rates are definitely headed lower. Call loans again renewed at 4½ per cent, but funds were soon available at 4.

Business and industrial news was for the most part not of a character to influence the market. Announcement that General Electric and Westinghouse Electric planned to enter the radio field, however, caused vigorous buying of these shares, and was used as a basis of bearish operations against the stocks of companies now in the field. The Interstate Commerce Commission's order to the Baltimore and Ohio to divest itself of its holdings of Western Maryland was apparently without influence, B. & O. actually selling a little higher. Likewise, indications that Congress will shortly consider the bill to investigate railway holding companies was without notable influence on Alleghany Corporation. Announcement of further cuts in crude oil prices, however, while obviously a constructive measure designed to curtail pproduction, caused considerable sagging of the oil shares.

CROSLEY HITS LOW

Radio Corporation was driven down more than three points in heavy selling, and Crosley dropped to a new low. Auburn Auto lost more than 5 points. Magma Copper lost nearly 3, reflecting unfavorable December statistics. Other shares losing a point or so, included Standard of N. J., Texas Company, Chrysler, Studebaker, General Motors, Warner Bros., and Sears, Roebuck. Montgomery Ward, yesterday's soft spot, rallied a couple of points, then reacted.

Allied Chemical, General Electric, Worthington Pump, Standard Gas, and American Zinc mounted 3 to 5 points, and International Silver, 7. Stocks selling up 2 points or more included Consolidated Gas, United Gas Improvement, American Water Works, Western Union, Westinghouse Electric, Eastman Kodak, A. M. Byers, Allis Chalmers, United Carbon, U. S. Freight, and Associated Dry Goods.

Offerings of various low priced shares, particularly the motors, eventually weakened the rising trend and the list turned downward in the late dealings. U. S. Steel sold 1 point under the Wednesday close, and much of the gain in the electrical and utility issues was erased. The close was heavy. Sales approximated 2,900,000 shares.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Cotton opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points today with active months showing net gains of 4 to 7 points during the early trading on covering and some trade or commission house buying, promoted by reports of rather a better demand for cotton goods and talk of a campaign to reduce acreage in the South.

March sold up to 17.42c and July to 17.75c but the advance seemed to meet some southern selling and realizing and the market was comparatively quiet at the end of the first half hour with prices showing reactions of 2 or 3 points.

Private cables said that hedging and liquidation had been offset by trade calling and a good spot demand in the Liverpool market. Spot sales there amounted to 10,000 bales but included only 4,000 bales of American cotton.

Manchester reports indicated further cloth sales to India and said results of the Shanghai auctions were more encouraging.

The market was quiet later in the morning, but held generally steady. The early realizing made very little impression on prices, apparently, and the market worked up to 17.44c for March and 17.78c for July, or about 7 to 9 points net higher. The market was within a point or two of these figures at midday.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 16.—Cotton — Spot, good business done; prices lower; American strict good middling, 10.35d; good middling, 9.90d; strict middling, 9.75d; middling, 9.50d; strict low middling, 9.20d; low middling, 8.70d; strict good ordinary, 8.35d; good ordinary, 7.95d. Sales, 10,000 bales, including 3,900 American. Receipts, 15,000 bales, American 14,600. Futures closed steady; January, 9.21d; March, 9.27d; May, 9.36d; July, 9.40d; October, 9.37d; January (1931), 9.40d.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Raw sugar was quiet and unchanged at 3.77c for spots, duty paid, with no sales reported.

Raw futures opened irregular at 3 points advance to 1 point decline. Near months were relatively steady on covering and some trade buying, while later deliveries were a little easier under liquidation and selling by houses with European connections. Subsequently the near months weakened sharply under increased liquidation, promoted by Washington advices that the Senate had voted to retain present sugar tariff rates, with the March position selling off to 1.85c, or 4 points below the previous close. While July declined 2 points to 1.97c, the rest of the list remained around opening levels or 1 point below the previous close.

Refined was unchanged with refiners listing at 5.20c for fine granulated, while second hands are obtainable at 5.07½c with little business reported.

Bank of England.

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows these changes, in pounds: Total reserve increased 12,418,000; circulation decreased 10,979,000; bullion increased 1,439,000; other securities decreased 6,661,000; public deposits increased 7,600,000; other deposits decreased 10,498,000; notes reserve increased 12,354,000; government securities decreased 8,635,000.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 46.74 per cent, compared with 36.02 last week. Rate of discount, 5 per cent.

Trading Public Is Getting Chance to Adjust Its Market Outlook.

AMONG the larger element adhering to the long side of the market in anticipation of a reasonably early turn for the better the recurrent checks encountered by dribbling liquidation on the slightest bulge is not making for discouragement. On the contrary, it is contended that this condition must ultimately make for greater strength, inasmuch as there is sufficient quiet investment buying going on to absorb such liquidation as it develops. In the meantime, it is pointed out, the trading public is being given ample opportunity to adjust itself to the new order of things, and to get acquainted with a market wherein more normal conditions are likely to prevail for some months.

Constructive forces likewise are taking heart from the steady clearing away of the weak spots that have cropped out as an aftermath of the October-November break. It is pointed out that as each week passes fewer stocks are found to be vulnerable to bear pressure. The action of the general market in face of the disappointing run of outside news is similarly looked upon as encouraging, and as an indication that the market has gone a long way toward discounting whatever bad news may be ahead. The generally accepted theory is that while no spectacular bull movement can be expected until the outlook for business is more clearly discernible, the market should proceed to do considerably better once the corporation reports for the final quarter of last year are out of the way.

CHICAGO interests who have often been active in International Harvester are of the opinion that the company's business this year will be gratifying. They point out that the deflation which occurred in the stock market did not have any adverse influence on the farmer and as the latter have discovered that production costs have been materially reduced by the more extensive use of machinery, they are expected to continue as active buyers in the future.

Now that the rights on Pennsylvania Railroad are out of the way this stock is expected to grow in favor. In anticipation of a better market there was a good underlying demand for the stock from important rail interests recently and the subsequent advance in the issue did not attract any selling from these holders. Conservative market interests have contended for some time that Pennsylvania is one of the most attractive of the rail group.

SEVERAL times in the past few days there has been evidence of better buying in Superior Steel. The stock has been well taken and liquidation has encountered support which has enabled the disposal of rather large blocks of stocks near prevailing prices, whereas, up to a short time ago, only a few hundred shares were traded in daily at lowering levels.

Although Advance - Rumely Company was unable to operate at profit during 1929, present indications are that better things are in store for company during current year, according to F. P. Mount, president. When asked, however, if he knew of any reason for recent strength and activity in shares of his company, he replied in the negative, pointing out that it is obviously impossible to forecast 1930 earnings so early in the year. An encouraging element in situation is the fact that the company's distributors have been placing orders for tillage implements, tractors and allied equipment. This not only means that distributors' inventories are low but that farmers are in market for such accessories.

MID-CONTINENT CRUDE CUT

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 16.—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey through the Carter Oil Company has reduced crude oil in Oklahoma and Kansas from 19 cents to 41 cents a barrel, depending on gravity. The minimum price under the new schedule is 66 cents a barrel for crude of 25.9 degrees, a reduction of 19 cents. Maximum price for 44 gravity and above is $1.40, a reduction of 41 cents.

This is the first change scheduled since May 20, 1929, and follows closely the new price schedules for Texas and Gulf Coast crudes put into effect by Humble Oil.

Copper Production Touches Low Mark

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The world output of copper for 1929 amounted to 2,136,021 short tons, a monthly average of 178,002 tons, as against 1,916,471 in 1928, or an average of 159,706 a month, according to the American Bureau of Metal Statistics. Production in December was 165,334 tons, the smallest since September, 1928, and compares with 170,585 in November and 179,240 tons in December, 1928.

Corns

Stop Hurting Instantly

then Lift Right Off!

Drop "Freezone" on that aching corn. Instantly it stops hurting; then shortly you lift the corn right off with your fingers. You'll laugh, really! It is so easy and doesn't hurt one bit! Works like a charm, every time.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs only a few cents at any drug store, and is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, and callouses. Try it!

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To end a stubborn cough quickly, it is important to soothe and heal the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The largest volume of new bond financing ever floated in a single week during peace-time was attained today with the appearance of loans totaling $20,800,000, bringing the figure for the week to date to $304,558,000. The previous high level was the $297,380,000 total recorded early in February, 1927. Half of the current volume, of course, is in the American Telephone Company's $150,000,000 issue, offered on Monday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows; 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Walter Winchell
On Broadway

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.

Why I Think I Ought to Go to Heaven

I ASK for fewer theater passes than any scribe in New York.

I have never worn button shoes, stock ties, sideburns, white sox, stickpins, a silk hat or a signet ring in my life.

I have never abused the privilege of my profession and instructed the waiter to take my card over to a strange woman.

People who take hours getting to the point of a joke, anecdote, gag or story have been told that they were bores.

I have never become irritated with people who said they didn't like me, because people who don't have a darn good reason not to.

I have never wasted my time telling others not to waste theirs.

I have never tuned in on a radio for the early morning exercises, on the ground that it might disturb other slumbers.

I have never encouraged a woman with an ordinary ankle.

I have warned the Broadway restaurateurs that if ever my name was used to christen a sandwich I would flay the place in print.

ONE YOU MISSED

EVEN when I was a smalltime song-and-dance man (hoofer to you), I never forced the second bow or insisted on making any of those absurd speeches ending with: "You've made me so happee!"

I have never done anything for a commercial film, such as making a radio talk or preparing an article for a magazine, without receiving some form of remuneration, because to do so would keep another from a job.

I have followed the Broadway code to the letter and have never fooled around the other feller's gal.

I have never professed knowing the meaning of "constructive" criticism and have never attempted it nor have I ever met a critic, manager, actor or anyone who could explain it to my satisfaction.

GAG IS APPLIED

ONLY once in my professional career did I sell my soul to a manager. He refused to help another manager bar me from his attraction and even went to the police for protection to see that I got in safely. Then, handcuffed in that manner, I said the show was good, which it wasn't. I hope I choke if ever I do such a foolish thing again.

However, I bathed myself clean from the stain a few months later when the same manager with a show in his own house said: "You can be yourself here. Don't worry and say what you like." Which I did and I haven't been allowed in his theater since

I have never lost a friend that I wanted to keep.

I have never retracted a thing in my life because an aggrieved person threatened me in any way, nor have I ever made a boner that I picked myself up, albeit I have blundered now and then on the tips of the misinformed. But ever rags with staffs have done that.

EGOTIST? POOH, POOH!

I HAVE never been disturbed by being called an egotist be-because as Ambrose Bierce puts it: "An egotist is a person of very low taste who thinks more of himself than he does of me."

I have never been considerate of any woman who abused me in a public place; just because she was a woman. And once when a woman came down to my level and gave me a fierce kick, I kicked her right back.

I have never willingly autographed anything.

I have never "yessed" a man to curry favor with him, and the only person in the world I take into my confidence, and who has never failed me with sane counsel, is the editor of a certain theatrical weekly, who abhors people who toast him in print.

I have never carried a pocket comb!!!

HA! GRATITUDE!

I HAVE never failed to remember the man who made it possible for me to get this so-called "break" to make a living, and every time the interviewers came, they were told it was Glenn Condon, now of the Skelly Oil Company, in Tulsa, Okla., who is a most patient man.

I have never debased my column with what is called "log-rolling." A boost for another newspaperman was sincere.

I have never arrived late at a theater, and I never use a lighter to read my program in the dark, because it would detract attention from the stage; but certain critics I know enjoy making themselves conspicuous.

I have never permitted a person to fawn over me, nor have I accepted any gratuity, because I believe that any person who pampers a newspaperman does it for some ulterior motive and my racket is putting things in the paper.

IT IS REPEATER

I HAVE never forgiven a man who double-crossed me, on the theory that "whatever happens—must happen again."

I am probably the only man on Broadway who never kissed Texas Guinan.

I have started a collection among First-Nighters to buy the girl usher of the center aisle at the Vanderbilt Theater a pair of rubber heels.

And I've never gone out of my way to write a line in my column that would break up a home or a heart—except on Mondays.

UNSCRAMBLE ANAGRAMBLES
DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

This is the Tenth Birthday of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution.

The following program has been arranged—

1. Chorus, "Volstead Forever," sung by the Ginger Ale Manufacturers' Chorus.

2. Address, "Ten Years of Prosperity," by Hon. Lemuel McGoofus, president of the Label Printers' Association.

3. Cheering section, composed of bootleggers, in their official yell, "Hic! Hic! Hooray!"

4. Song and dance by ensemble of the Happy Morticians.

MEN OF THE HOUR

This is Timothy Doakes, who will make this a memorable Prohibition Birthday by a speech, in which he will point out that it takes two to make a bootlegger and that the crime and graft laid at the door of prohibition is financed by the otherwise law-abiding citizen who bribes a criminal bootlegger to violate the law.

ON THE MEND

When I am deep in needful sleep
I mutter things I'd rather keep Unto myself.
My wife sits upright, wide awake,
With pencil posed, alert to take Down hasty notes.

So now I merely close my eyes
And mumble lovely, tender lies
Addressed to her.
And soon her notebook ought to be
A tribute of fidelity—
An inspiration!

After a disheartening survey of people who wait in line to get to see motion pictures, I have discovered that many of them are chinless. Instead of hawking taffy, why not induce the butchers to sell putty chins to the boys and girls?

Professor Skidmore.

Note—While Prof. Skidmore's suggestion is constructive, the fact remains that these people need not buy putty to make chins for themselves. They can just as well use part of the gum they are chewing.

BULLETIN

(News Item)

Biscailuz, now head of the Highway Patrol, in an address before the Breakfast Club, said that about 99 per cent of all the people were right and did right at all times, including people who drive automobiles and those who had respect for the various criminal laws of the country.

It's most peculiar that you can't drive 200 feet on any boulevard without meeting at least three of them.

Union Railroad Terminals Merit and Will Have Public Approval

Everyone has experienced the inconvenience of separate railroad passenger stations in American cities.

Everyone has experienced the convenience of a union passenger station.

Hence there will be general agreement with the Interstate Commerce Commission's recommendations that, in the coming railroad consolidations, JOINT TERMINAL FACILITIES for all railroads in each large city shall be established.

Consider the case of New York, with which all are familiar.

All the railroads terminating on the west bank of the Hudson River could and should have been brought to Manhattan Island by tunnel to a JOINT passenger station.

Instead, the Pennsylvania Railroad was allowed to tunnel to Manhattan alone, leaving the five other roads standing, each with a separate passenger terminal, on the New Jersey shore: the Baltimore and Ohio, the Lehigh Valley, the Lackawanna, the Erie and the West Shore. The Baltimore and Ohio is now planning to enter Manhattan by a tremendously expensive bridge over the Hudson.

It takes a memory expert to recite the locations of New York passenger stations, and consider Chicago!

Freight cannot, like passengers, complain of separate railroad terminals, but it is just as much inconvenienced as passengers are. A merchant shipping a case of goods this afternoon by each of five railroads must send his dray to five different freight stations. If as in some cities the stations are inadequate and crowded, he must send five separate drays to be sure his shipments can be received before the stations are closed this evening and the freight trains made up.

What a convenience is a union freight station which receives all his shipments to all railroads! This convenience has resulted in the formation of scores of PRIVATE union freight terminals from Boston to Los Angeles.

The union terminal recommendation of the commission is the one that will meet universal approval. Prof. W. Z. Ripley, of Harvard, the leading railroad economist of the country, says:

"There are many admirable features of the plan, notably the proposal for open terminals—terminals, that is to say, not tied up to individual systems, but existing for the use of all. Nothing will promote the public interest more than such a plan carefully worked out for the separation of the main stems of the railways from the pick-up-and-delivery systems in and about the greater centers of population."

This is the fourth of a series of editorials on the proposed merger of American railroads. The fifth will appear tomorrow

Arizona Sheriff Shows 'Blonde' How to Fight

An outstanding incident in the daily news that has local significance is the swiftness with which the "trigger woman" and her companions were captured when they ran afoul of the law in the West. Out there they are more accustomed to shooting it out with fugitives, and the surrender of the "blonde" and the men with her appears to have been an act of discretion. These three who must answer for killing a Pennsylvania policeman, did not fight to the death. They hid behind rocks and sniped their pursuers.

Of course, that is what you or any ordinary person, in the same position, would do, but there is a certain halo of "heroism" that crowns desperadoes which calls for them to keep in character. The incident just proves how untrue this halo is. Most killers are cowards—not heroes. The shooting of Brady Paul, unprepared for such an attack, required no courage—only resolution to kill a man in cold blood. When the chance came to engage in a real battle with armed men, courage was lacking.

A gun makes the arm longer, but usually, except when it is held in legal defense, it is in the hand of a coward.

Public commendation of Pennsylvania authorities should go to the Arizona sheriff and his deputies who made such short work of ending the career of would-be terrorists from the East.

Champions of Gridiron Will Receive Honors

The football teams of the University of Pittsburgh and its neighboring institution of learning, Schenley High School, collegiate and scholastic gridiron champions of Pittsburgh, will be honored tonight in the Chamber of Commerce. Each will receive a trophy emblematic of its prowess, that to Pitt being a competitive cup, donated by the City of Pittsburgh, won in the preceding year by Carnegie Tech.

Pitt is our collegiate champion and we are glad to do its warriors honor. The team had a great record in its regular season, a record with no defeat in it. We refuse to count anything else as of importance, whatever the Pacific Coast may think.

Setting-Up Exercises Discredited.

Determined tiger-men, who leap from bed each morning to tune in on the radio for setting-up exercises, should not read these lines. It is better not to break their hearts. But for the benefit of less energetic souls, who think it is nicer to stay in bed, we take pleasure in communicating the result of two years' research by the committee on curriculum, which reported, a few days ago, to the Society of Directors of Physical Education in Colleges.

"Setting-up exercises," says the report, "contribute very little to the physical development of their adherents."

Twittering Doves

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

THE naval parley on battleboats will probably wind up in an argument over what color to paint 'em.

"Bugs" Baer

As an old Army man we would like to know what Gen. Pipe Dawes cares what they do to the Navy.

It is a terrible episode when they put a fighting man like Ambassador Shortpants Dawes on a peace commish. This is the first time the general has ever been anchor man on a daisy chain.

The epaulets on Charley's shoulders are chips and not picnic plates. Whenever a fight started he didn't get famous as the coatholder.

In his capacity as an ambassador Charley will be for peace in habit forming quantities.

But as a general he will vote for smaller boats and bigger turrets, more admirals and less gold braid, quicker conferences and louder talking, more soldiers and fewer governors' staffs.

As a peace delegate he will get out that old field pipe and lay down the smoke screen.

Gen. Dawes is already famous for his refusal to juvenilize ambassadorial prerogatives by wearing short pants. When Charley gets two pairs of trousers with his suit both pairs are the same length.

But he doesn't call a spade a dessert spoon and if there is any indelible sincerity at the naval parley it will be furnished by Ambassador Dawes, nee general.

Prospects for another installment of international amity are brighter than gold bridgework.

But we will never believe the naval reduction conference is on the level unless our delegates are forced to swim back.

The world is for peace, tooth and nail. President Hoover has already constricted our naval supremacy by giving up the Mayflower. Our Navy yards will soon be thrown open to the homesteaders and the last big marine skirmish of history will occur in 1934 when a farmhand will fall off a raft in a frog pond.

We have exported 92 representatives to the London Oratorical Olympics with instructions not to disagree until they reach Europe.

Our Secretary of Navy is chief of staff. And if he talks away his own job he is a bit nuttsy.

The boys have taken along their dinner coats, their bibs and appetites. There will be plenty of banquets, lunches and suppers, for no diplomat has ever forgotten that the original armistice was signed in a dining car.

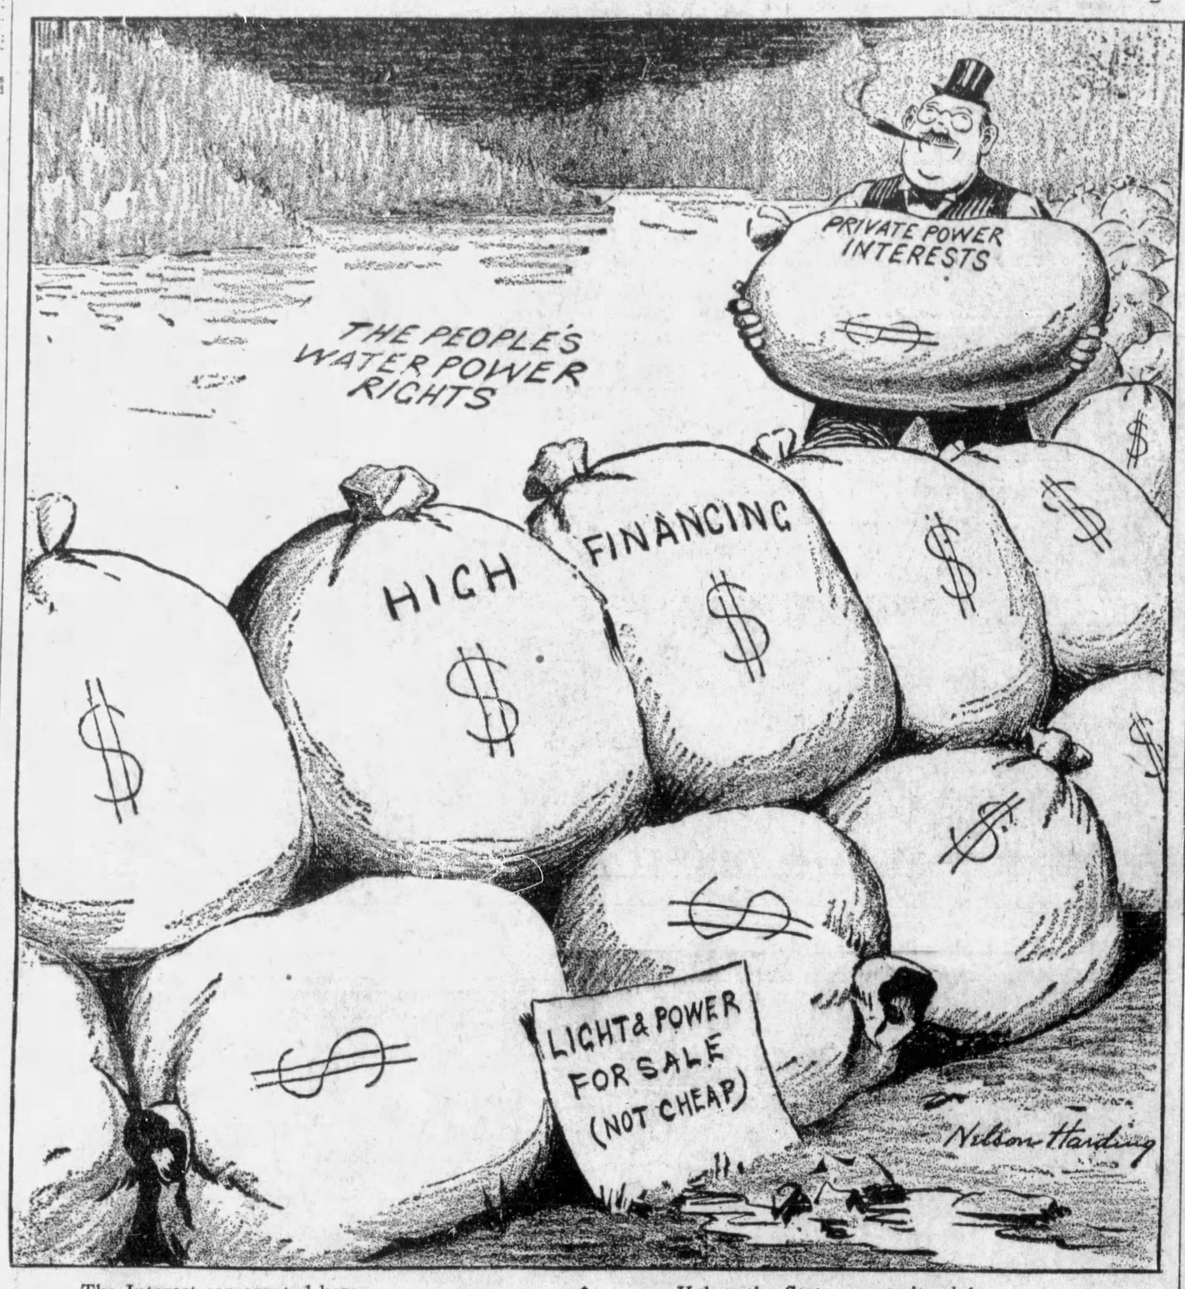
"I GIVE A DAM"

Drawn by Nelson Harding



The Interest represented here
Is obviously quite sincere
In saying, "I DO give a dam,
And if the State's not keen, I am."

Unless the State asserts its right
The water will be damned up tight,
And if control is not the State's
We'll pay high light and power rates. —N. H.

Declaration of Love

LONG, long he waited for her answer,
She held him between hope and fear,
Half dreading lest the truth he fathom,
The truth that he was wholly dear.

But when at last he importuned her:
"Speak, Love, for all my being waits
And I can bear suspense no longer,
Grown faint and weak at doubt's dark gates."

Long had he waited for her answer
While fear and hope kept warring there,
Through dawns when he was thrilled with rapture,
Through twilights when he drained despair.

She spoke, her voice was muted music:
"Love, I have waited long to tell
The thing for which your heart was pleading
Lest it might be I love too well!

"Your arms hold all my hopes of heaven,
In dreams I come to nestle there
Through dawns when I am thrilled with rapture,
Through twilights when I drain despair!"

Isn't It So?

Wise men are less charitable to their own faults than to the faults of others.

At the age of three score and ten a man begins to realize that it's up to him to be his own best friend.

ANOTHER HAIRCLOTH SHIRT

By Herbert Kaufman

MR. WICKERSHAM'S committee has delivered a report, not a VERDICT, on the Volstead Act.

His law and order commission studiously avoids all expression of opinion on the controversial aspects of that measure.

And if Senator Jones speaks with authority, Mr. Wickersham's group has concluded to sidestep its moot points.

Incidentally, no one has yet explained how it comes that Senator Jones is privileged to participate in the deliberations of a council presumed to hold itself aloof from partisan influence—wet OR dry.

The country was led to expect that the distinguished members of bar and bench, whom the President had gathered dispassionately to weigh such matters as prohibition enforcement, would exclude from the jury room every special pleader—would be protected from political pressure and encouraged to criticise, as well as approve, the respective weaknesses and merits in federal interpretations of the Eighteenth Amendment.

THE fact that the committee HAS yielded to congressional impatience, must tend to destroy previous confidence in its INDEPENDENCE.

The fact that the committee meticulously disregards all enforcement illegalities, tends to confirm Senator Jones' prophecy and, for the time being, places the committee in the position of holding the Volstead Act as infallible.

The fact that the committee proffers so many recommendations reputedly based upon the advice of government officials and reference to government data, severely displeases millions of citizens who might have enthusiastically concurred in these same recommendations, had they been inspired by PUBLIC hearings as well.

UNDER the circumstances, the President cannot look for the unqualified community support he requests for the report, which bears all the earmarks of haste and inconclusiveness.

The vague and illusive recognition of democracy's franchise of protest against sumptuary legislation and interference with personal rights, contained in Mr. Wickersham's preamble, MAY indicate that the committee is more sympathetic with protestant attitudes than its present declarations evince.

But its DEFINITE PROPOSALS CERTAINLY REFLECT nothing of that spirit, and the absence of a minority report lends credence to insinuations that the committee is a packed body.

Meanwhile, an overwhelmingly dry Congress may derive comfort and encouragement from the committee's lock-stock-and-barrel consent to the Volstead and Jones acts, the exponents of which, however, are likely to encounter supreme court jurisdiction before they proceed far with any project to deprive minor prohibition offenders of recourse to jury trial.

"THE ferocious battle," that the Cleveland Plain Dealer predicts will be waged in Congress against this assault upon magna charta, has ALREADY broken, and promises to embarrass STILL further the relations between Capitol and White House.

Mr. Hoover complains that the presidential wardrobe is filled with haircloth shirts, and if signs and portents signify anything, he has just added ANOTHER one to the collection.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

ABOVE, at the antipodes, so to speak, are the anus, the madreporite, and the openings of the testes or ovaries.

The fourth class includes the cotton-spinners (so-called because they exude sticky, white threads from the anus when disturbed, in order to entangle and confuse their enemies), sea-puddings, sea-cucumbers, sea-gherkins, and beches-demer, besides a number of curious burrowing, pelagic and deep-sea forms.

They are like sea-urchins that have been softened and pulled out into long sausages, and in the process they have acquired bilateral symmetry, for they creep on one particular side of the body with the mouth in front and the anus behind.

H. G. Wells

Many of them feed like sea-urchins, shoveling mud into themselves by means of a ring of spade-like tentacles round the mouth.

Others consume minute organisms that float in the sea water; they wave their sticky tree-like tentacles, entangling the organisms, and then suck them one by one like a small boy sucking jammy fingers.

The fifth class, the feather-stars and sea-lilies, are somewhat different from the rest. They have long, branched arms radiating out from a central disc. The feather-stars swim by sinuous movements of their arms, occasionally anchoring themselves for a shorter or longer period by means of a cluster of claw-like roots.

The sea-lilies are permanently fixed, living at the end of long, jointed stalks.

In addition to these five classes there are curious fossil groups that have become extinct.

In the majority of cases the symmetry of an echinoderm is radial—instead of having two symmetrical sides to his body as we have, he consists of a number of symmetrical structures radiating out from a central disc. This is only true of the adult. A baby echinoderm is typically a minute delicate, transparent creature swimming through the water by means of one or more fringes of cilia that run round its body. Moreover, it is bilaterally symmetrical; it has front and back ends, right and left sides. But presently a set of rudimentary organs appears on its left side, rudiments that grow at its expense like a tumor and finally absorb the whole of the larva, becoming the radially symmetrical adult.

4. SEGMENTED WORMS.

THE next invertebrate phylum, the Annelida, includes such animals as the earthworms, the leeches and the lugworms—a series of animals which are distinctly like the anthropods in their organization.

They have, however, no rigid armoring; and their blood does not fill their body-cavities, but is confined within definite vessels; it may be red as ours is, or it may be green, but it is never colored pale blue by haemocyanin.

In these respects they differ from arthropods. But they have a central nervous system running along their bellies, and a long, rhythmically contracting artery that plays the part of a heart running along their backs; in these matters, and in the way the nervous system forms a loop round the mouth, they are like arthropods.

Moreover, they are segmented. We noted that the body of any arthropod may be regarded as a modified chain of segments, each of which bears one pair of appendages.

Moreover, in all annelids except the earthworms and leeches, each segment bears a pair of appendages, not jointed, but bearing tufts of bristles and used in most species as primitive limbs, which strengthens their resemblance to the segments of arthropods.

There are three main groups of annelids. The first includes the burrowing earthworms and one or two similar aquatic forms; one species, from Tasmania, attains a length of six feet.

Charles Darwin's book on "Vegetable Moulds and Earthworms" has shown what a vitally important part is played by earthworms in loosening and turning over the soil.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Wilson Mizner called it "New Yorkitis"—a delusion that one can live only on Manhattan Island. He was himself forced to shake it off by joining an Alaskan gold rush and mushing through snows. And New York has seen little of him since.

There are thousands so hypnotized by the Gotham glitter. They prefer to be the proverbial lamp posts on Broadway rather than go to any other city and be somebody of importance. They are remindful of punch-drunk fighters refusing to take the count.

Nowhere do people take so many clips on the chin—and smile. New York, no matter the vicissitudes, is the top of the world to them and any place else is merely camping out. Strangely enough, once they get away for awhile they rarely come back to town.

Yet the majority cannot make the break. The White Way has a vast army of familiars whose lives are spent marking time. They are perpetually buoyed by the bromide of super optimists: "Something is bound to turn up." The fact it doesn't never dampens their ardor.

They manage somehow to live for months and often years while chasing the elusive rainbow. The flimsiest promise of a job around the corner is all they need to carry on. Anyone of them can paint a rosy picture of the future without a sou in his pocket.

It is from such drifters that Broadway recruits its harmless cadgers. Bachelor friends have spare rooms and they park there and make themselves useful by serving as "Fridays." There are so many lonely bachelors that many welcome such companionship.

In the same fashion they acquire cast off clothes. Around the speakeasies and chop houses they are so engagingly amiable they can pick up "coffee, cakes and cigarets." And with a few drinks always begin bragging—the pitiful braggadocio of a hopeless inferiority.

In each room of a new hotel is a warning card printed in red hanging where it will be seen when the patron turns off the night lamp. It reads: "Be certain your cigaret or cigar end is extinguished." Three deaths in the past four months have resulted from such negligence.

In another inn push buttons by the bedside illuminate the wall clocks in all the rooms.

The beautiful mannikins of the dressmaking establishments are picking up extra change by piloting gentleman friends into luncheon places in the Fashionable Fifties. They receive 15 per cent of the check.

Such beauties are also able to profit by satisfying the ache of withering Romeos to appear in public with their types of well-dressed and vibrant femininity. It is a strictly business arrangement. They will act as luncheon companions for a fee of $10—and, of course, have luncheon gratis.

For those fed up with the single names of Emil, Antoine, Louis and Pierre as hair cutters, there are two welcome reliefs on lower Sixth avenue. One bobbing parlor is conducted by Ike Cohen and another by Patrick McLaughlin.

Al Woods always greets Sammy Shipman with "Hello Cecil" and is in return greeted with "Hello Rolfe."

And one of the most irritating fellows I know calls me "Mr. Ashworth." A half dozen others address me as "Art." Nothing makes a fellow feel so inconspicuous as to be called by a wrong name.

* * *

"You are on the lookout for strange names," writes one signing himself Ichabod Iiif Awk. "What do you think of mine?"

—He's probably kin to the Awks in the comic strips.

Telegraph offices fill after midnight with people who occupy desks to write letters—bringing along their own stationery and posting the missives at the nearest corner. All of which adds a touch of irony to the slogans: "Don't Write—Telegraph!"
